NAZIS KEEP UP JEW BOYCOTT IN SEVERAL CITIES

Hitlerites Ready to Renew Drive.

BERLIN, April 2.—(AP)—Chancellor Hitler's Nazis, who yesterday invoked a boycott against Jews throughout Germany, continued the restrictions today in several towns in lower Silesia. For the most part, however, the reich experienced one of the quietest Sundays in years.

In Goerlitz, a city of 92,000 in southeastern Germany, Nazi leaders ordered the boycott committee to picket Jewish stores from 11 a. m. until 5 p. m. despite assurances of the government that the boycott action would be limited to one day.

There were no untoward incidents, however, as the restrictions continued. The stores in the Silesian towns were open as is the custom before Easter.

Ban on Chain Stores.

Meanwhile, the state government of Bavaria today banned for an indefinite period the opening of any new chain stores and dry goods stores in the state.

[The Nazi party has expressed opposition to chain stores on the ground that they deprive small mercantile establishments of business.]

Although Nazi leaders say the boycott will be renewed Wednesday if the attitude abroad regarding reports of anti-Jewish activities does not improve, yesterday's embargo appeared likely to be the last widespread, organized affair of that kind, at least for the present.

The boycott committee has ordered the organization which carried out yesterday's movement to remain intact preparatory to a resumption at 10 a. m. next Wednesday, but doubts were expressed that even its leaders harbored thoughts of resuming it unless untoward incidents occurred.

Signs Are Restricted.

The committee further ordered that signs used in any subsequent demonstration be restricted to reading "Jews."

[Some of the signs posted Saturday on Jewish business places carried the words: "Danger—Jew Store" and "Attention—Beware of the Jew." In addition, quarantine signs outlined in black and yellow were put up.]

Police at Ruebeland today arrested 33 persons, claiming they were Socialists and communists who were seeking to form their own unit of the steel helmet war veterans' organization.

Nazis Make New Threats.

[Copyright: 1933. By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, April 2.—The Nazi press which now means the great majority of German newspapers, today published new threats of what will happen to the Jews of Germany unless the rest of the world clicks its heels and obeys the Nazi command to change its opinion about National Socialism.

Meanwhile the official telescopes are now searching the horizon for evidence of world recantation. There is every reason to believe they will discern something that they can present as such by Wednesday, when the anti-Jewish boycott is scheduled to be renewed.

If they fail, there is every reason to believe that the boycott will be called off anyway.

Boycott Opposed in Cabinet.

For one thing, it is now quite well established that the controversy in cabinet circles Friday night over the boycott's expediency from the viewpoint of Germany's foreign interests reached white heat and that at least two resignations were threatened.

From industrial, financial and shipping authorities frantic appeals were coming to call off the boycott at all costs. Discussion showed an actual majority of the cabinet strongly opposed to proceeding with the plan.

Berlin began to present a normal appearance again today. The coffee shops and restaurants which closed yesterday reopened and were thronged as usual. The other shops will reopen tomorrow. Nazi headquarters in Munich permitted the removal of the offensive signs with which Jewish shops were placarded yesterday. Great activity in window washing followed.

But the Jewish school teachers, professors, lawyers and doctors—not to mention the judges and other public servants—outlawed by Nazi rescripts remain unemployed and under the ban. All they can do when their cash savings have been exhausted will be to join the bread lines. They cannot draw out their bank deposits, nor can they leave Germany without passports.

BREWERS MEET WITH COURTNEY TODAY ON PLOT

Scheme Revealed to Force Sales.

State's Attorney Courtney received information last night that gangsters, posing as brewery agents, were forcing beer orders on retailers. Aroused by the reports, the prosecutor took immediate action, announcing that the entire power of his office would be used to keep legal beer business free from any hoodlum taint.

"I have called all the licensed brewers to my office for a conference at 11 o'clock tomorrow [Monday] morning," he said last night. "I intend to tell them they must coöperate with the law enforcement authorities and refuse to do any business with hoodlums. If they insist on dealing with gangsters I'll recommend that their licenses be revoked.

Asks Retailers' Aid.

"I invite every retailer to notify me when approached by any one who says he must take beer from any certain brewery. I invite the public to give me the names of any who solicit orders under threats of violence. I ask that they give me the name of the brewery for whom such persons represent themselves as agents.

"We will drive the gangsters out if they attempt to enter this new legitimate industry. They must not and shall not be permitted to make sales by spreading fear. No reputable brewery will tolerate such salesmanship tactics and only reputable brewers are going to do business. They have asked me to join with them in driving out the gangster element.

"I intend to assure the men now licensed to manufacture and sell beer at wholesale in this county that the hoodlums are not to be tolerated in this new industry. When the beer bill was signed by President Roosevelt I sent notices to the owners of the seven breweries in Chicago for which permits have been granted.

Issues Temporary Permits.

"Since then temporary permits have been issued and I intend to call in representatives of these breweries. I have the assurance of city officials and federal authorities that they will coöperate to put beer on a legitimate basis the same as any other commodity offered for sale here or elsewhere. Wholesale or retail, the business is going to be legitimate and that means that only legitimate persons may engage in it."

The reports of gang activity in the 3.2 beer trade reached the prosecutor from representatives of district business organizations, neighborhood groups, hotels, and restaurant associations.

The plan of the hoodlum beer syndicates, it was said, is to force themselves on breweries. In the bootleg beer era it has been known that the beer gangs divided the city into districts with their lines as closely drawn as police districts.

One such syndicate which may or may not have been a part of a larger syndicate in control of beer sales in the three divisions of the city—north side, west side, and south side—would control all beer sales in as many as 200 or 300 beer dispensaries in a police district, according to persons familiar with the gang setup.

Call Selves Brewery Agents.

These same syndicates are now telling their customers they must continue to buy from them. At the same time they are visiting places which have not sold bootleg beer but intend to sell 3.2 beer, Mr. Courtney was informed. They even declare themselves as duly accredited agents of reputable breweries.

Retailers have reported that tough looking men have come into their places and announced:

"You'll take beer from us or your place will be blown up."

Several hotel managers have reported such incidents. So have owners of well known restaurants. In some instances arrangements had been made to buy beer from one brewery or another.

"Buy our beer or get pineapples," they were told.

Visit Brewer Next.

After they have lined up customers by means of these threats, Mr. Courtney has been informed, these gangsters plan to go to a brewer with this proposition:

"We control 200 or 300 dealers. To sell any of them you must do so through our outfit. We'll charge only a fair commission."

The brewers have said they have no desire to deal with the gangsters. They point out they would soon be at the mercy of organized outlaws be-

BEWARE OF INTEMPERANCE

Bomb Church While Pastor Says Farewell

Taylorville, Ill., April 2.—[Special.]—A dynamite bomb was exploded tonight against the wall of the Baptist church here as the Rev. J. R. Hastings was preaching a farewell sermon to some 350 members of the congregation.

The preacher kept on with his sermon as the blast shattered several stained glass windows behind him, and his listeners, with the exception of a few men who left quietly to investigate the damage, kept their seats. The damage was confined to broken windows in the church and a few neighboring homes. The bomb, apparently made of a single stick of dynamite, tore a large hole in the ground at the rear of the church.

Laid to Mining Trouble.

Authorities laid the bombing to the mining trouble which has kept Christian county in a turmoil since last summer, when the members of the United Mine Workers returned to the mines under the so-called $5 a day scale and insurgent miners organized the Progressive Mine union and attempted to picket mines in this area.

The Rev. Mr. Hastings preached several sermons during the winter on the general subject of law and order, in which he defended the right of members of the regular mine union to work if they wished. His sermons caused a schism in the congregation. About half its members, sympathizing with the Progressive union, stopped coming to church.

Called to Moline Church.

Because of the division in his flock the Rev. Mr. Hastings, it is reported, told lay leaders in the church that he believed it better that he seek a charge elsewhere, in the hope that his successor could reunite the congregation. Recently he was called to a church in Moline, Ill., and his sermon this evening was his final appearance in the pulpit here.

The explosion of the bomb was heard all over town. Members of the National Guard, who have been on duty here intermittently for several months, immediately were posted about the church, but there were no further disturbances.

Officials of the Peabody Coal company, which owns most of the mines in Taylorville and Christian county, said that the mines will open tomorrow as usual.

Washington, D. C., April 2.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, former representative from Florida and daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, is "acceptable" to the Danish government as American minister to Denmark.

These reports tonight informally confirmed capital gossip that Mrs. Owen has been chosen by President Roosevelt for the diplomatic post. As minister she would be the first woman in history to represent the United States in a foreign diplomatic post.

Neither Mrs. Owen nor officials of the Danish legation would comment upon her reported appointment, but in certain administrative quarters it was disclosed that she had been "accepted" at Copenhagen.

Bomb South Side Bar; Owner Quizzed on Beer

Anton Powalski, owner of a soft drink parlor at 8301 Burley avenue, and two patrons were shaken up this morning when a black powder bomb was exploded at the side entrance of his place. His family, residing upstairs, also was jarred. Damage was estimated at $1,000. Police questioned Powalski to learn if beer racketeers have tried to force him to purchase their products in preference to the legal beer starting April 7. Powalski denied he had any beer trouble.

Loop Prayers to Mark Last Lenten Weeks

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Today ushers in the most devout period of Lent, Passion week and Holy week. The two weeks, which mark the close of the Lenten season, will be observed with increased reverence by Chicago Catholics and Protestants alike. Noonday Lenten services under the joint auspices of the Chicago Church federation and the First Methodist Episcopal church will begin today at the Chicago Temple.

The Temple services and the Episcopal noonday services at the Grand Opera house are primarily designed to meet spiritual needs of loop workers. Bishop H. P. Almon Abbott of Lexington, Ky., former rector of St. Chrysostom's Episcopal church, will b the Grand Opera house preacher this week. At the Chicago Temple the Rev. Dr. Oscar Thomas Olson of Wilmette will be today's preacher His subject will be "Religion as Experience." Dr. Olson is the successor to the Rev. Dr. Horace G. Smith, former pastor of the Wilmette Methodist Episcopal church.

850 Churches Coöperate.

The Temple services represent the coöperation through the church federation of 19 denominations and 850 churches. Walter R. Mee, executive secretary of the federation predicts the largest attendance at the temple services in their history. The services will be led by the Rev. Dr. Ralph Wakefield, chairman of the federation's commission on evangelism; Dr Robert Clements, president of the federation, and George W. Dixon, chairman of A Century of Progress committee on religious exhibits. The schedule calls for fifteen minute organ recitals by Arthur Dunham before and after the main service.

Other noonday preachers at the Temple this week are the Rev. Dr. J. W. G. Ward, the Rev. Dr. F. W. Otterbein, the Rev. Dr. Rolland W. Schloerb and President Albert W. Palmer. During Holy week Dr. John Thompson, Prof. Herbert W. Willett, Dr. D. W. Kurts, and Dean Charles W. Gilkey will be the preachers.

Services on Good Friday.

The Lenten services will come to a climax on Good Friday, April 14. From noon until 3 o'clock, commemorating the hours of Christ on the Cross, a series of meditations on the seven last words of Christ will be given.

The speakers at that service will be Bishop E. L. Waldorf, the Rev Dr. Albert Buchner Coe, the Rev. Dr. Ernest G. Guthrie, the Rev. Dr. John C. Evans, the Rev. Dr. Harrison R. Anderson, the Rev. Dr. B. F. Smith, and the Rev. Dr. Asa J. Ferry. It is expected that 5,000 persons will attend.

Charge Fraud in Evanston Mayoral Fight

The turbulent mayoralty campaign in Evanston reached another climax last night when Samuel Harrison, 80 year old justice of the peace and supporter of Mayor Charles H. Bartlett, got a warrant for the maker of an affidavit on Evanston vice conditions.

Supporters of Henry Penfield, Mayor Bartlett's opponent for reëlection at the polls tomorrow, published the affidavit which was supposed to have been notarized by Harrison, but which Harrison claims he never saw. The affidavit was part of a document issued as an exposé of alleged vice conditions in the suburb.

The Penfield supporters not only upheld the validity of the affidavit but issued a new one last night containing a further exposé couched in lurid language.

Harrison Charges Forgery.

The warrant obtained by the Bartlett forces calls for the arrest of H. B. Weber, said to be a former operative of the defunct Secret Six, the maker of the affidavit which Harrison denies notarizing. When this affidavit was circulated in Evanston last week by the Penfield forces, Justice Harrison said he had never seen Weber, that he didn't believe such a person existed.

The warrant he swore out last night before Justice of the Peace Max Borchardt charges Weber with conspiring with unnamed persons to commit an illegal act through forging his signature. The warrant was placed in the hands of a constable for service and Chief William O. Freeman of the Evanston police department, Mayor Bartlett's campaign manager, said the man whose arrest is asked would be brought in by morning. His name is not Weber, but Welsh, said the chief.

Second Affidavit Hits Chief.

The Penfield supporters in their second affidavit described an "obscene" party at "Pauline's Place" in Tessville, which Chief Freeman was alleged to have attended. This affidavit also bore the purported seal and signature of Justice Harrison and was signed by Walter Treloar, former state highway policeman.

These affidavits and reports of private investigators, giving accounts of vice, bootlegging and gambling in Evanston, which Chief Freeman calls "the cleanest city in the United States," make one of the issues in the sizzling campaign that has drawn the suburb's leading citizens into warring camps.

The Penfield supporters have circulated 500 pamphlets, containing the investigator's reports and Weber's affidavit, among churchmen and other leaders. Today, it was stated, Justice Harrison will distribute handbills offering a $500 reward for the arrest and conviction of the man who committed "the forgery."

He is safe in making this offer, say the Penfield supporters, for they declare there was no forgery.

Origin of Pamphlet War.

The pamphlet battle had its origin, it is said, in a friendly discussion between William A. Dyche, business manager of Northwestern university, one of Mayor Bartlett's backers, and George B. Dryden, wealthy rubber manufacturer and big game hunter. Mr. Dryden asked Mr. Dyche why he did not withdraw his support from Mayor Bartlett. Mr. Dyche replied that the mayor's support of the Citizens' committee in its campaign to reduce public expenditures should be rewarded.

"What about the speakeasies in Evanston?" asked Mr. Dryden. Whereupon Mr. Dyche, the Penfield supporters declare, offered to renounce Mayor Bartlett and Chief Freeman if evidence of such conditions could be produced.

A private investigator was em-

ROOSEVELT ASKS U. S. TO TAKE UP LOANS ON FARMS

Plans a Bond Issue of Billions.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 2.—[Special.]—A gigantic flotation of government bonds to refinance the mortgage indebtedness of the farmers will be proposed by President Roosevelt in a special message he will transmit to congress tomorrow.

Between two and three billions of dollars, possibly more, will be required for this undertaking.

As in the case of each of his previous requests for emergency legislation, the President will send to congress with his message the draft of the bill he desires passed. The farm mortgage bill is to be attached to the farm relief bill as a rider, in order to improve the chances of expeditious passage of the latter measure, which is to be reported to the senate by the committee on agriculture tomorrow.

Will Take Up Farm Mortgages.

The farm mortgage refinancing bill was drafted under the supervision of Henry Morgenthau Jr., governor of the new farm credit administration; Lewis W. Douglas, director of the budget, and Paul Bestor, farm loan commissioner, who will supervise the undertaking. It was given final approval yesterday by Secretary of the Treasury William H. Woodin.

Under the plan for which the President seeks enabling legislation the government will issue 4 per cent bonds, which will be exchanged for farm mortgages under terms involving a refinancing of the farmers' obligations on a basis of reduced principal, a lower interest rate, and a more distant maturity date.

The interest rate to be paid by the farmer on his refinanced borrowing is not to exceed 4½ per cent. The original proposal was 5 per cent, but the President insisted on a lower rate, possibly as low as 3 per cent. After a restudy of the plan the treasury advised the President that it would not be practicable to fix a maximum rate of less than 4½ per cent.

9 Billions Outstanding.

There are outstanding, it is estimated, about 9 billion dollars' worth of farm mortgages, a large proportion of which is frozen. Farmers are unable to pay interest, the farm property constituting the security is in most cases worth less than the face of the note, and foreclosure is a futile proceeding for recovery of the principal.

How much of this vast volume of private obligations would be refinanced with the aid of the government none can say with any certainty. Mr. Roosevelt's own guess is that possibly 2 billions, perhaps 3 billions, would be required to carry out the refinancing program.

Whether it be 2 billions or 3 billions or more, the money is to be raised by the government on its credit. The bonds will be issued from time to time as needed. Not only will they be exchanged for farm mortgages but they will be sold to the public.

Details Now Disclosed.

Whether the bonds will be the direct or the indirect obligations of the government was not made clear tonight because of the unwillingness of the White House and the President's advisers to disclose details of the plan in advance of its submission to congress. According to the President's original conception of the scheme the bonds would be issued by the federal land banks and therefore would not be treated as an addition to the public debt.

The government, however, would guarantee the interest. Whether issued by the federal land banks or directly by the government, however, would make little difference. The government would not be responsible for the obligations.

Mr. Roosevelt believes that vast undertaking for scaling down the mortgage load of agriculture can be carried out without substantial loss to the government and that whatever the loss, it will profit the country to the extent that it promotes the restoration of the purchasing power of the farmers.

Defines His Position.

The President defined his position on this question when he said that "much work was done in the last congress to extend and liquefy and pass on to the federal government a portion of the debt of railroads, of banks, of utilities, and industry in general. Something in the nature of a gesture was made in the financing of urban and suburban homes. But practically nothing was done toward

Mr. Roosevelt could see no reason why the farmers should not be succored in the same manner as bankers and industrialists.

"It is my purpose," he said, "to direct all the energies of which I am capable to definite projects to relieve that distress and specifically I am prepared to insist that federal credit be extended to banks, insurance companies, loan companies or corporations that hold farm mortgages among their assets; but that, these credits be made on the condition that every reasonable assistance be given to the mortgagors where the loans are sound, for the purpose of preventing foreclosure. And those conditions must be enforced.

"Lower interest rates and an extension of principal payments will save thousands of farms for their owners. And hand in hand with that we must give those who have lost the title to their farms—titles now held by institutions now seeking credit from government agencies—the preferred opportunity of getting their property back."

Pressure on Washington.

Pressure for legislation providing for the exchange of government bonds for farm mortgages has been brought to bear on Washington of late particularly by the insurance companies and savings banks.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, who also assisted in the preparation of the farm mortgage bill gave the following information on farm indebtedness:

"The farm mortgage debt in the United States increased from about 3 billion 320 million dollars in 1910, to 9 billion 468 million dollars in 1928. Since 1928, the debt has shown a marked decrease. The amount outstanding in 1933 may be estimated atabout 8 billion 500 million dollars. Much of the recent decrease has been brought about by foreclosures and other forced sales.

"In addition to the mortgage debt, American farmers have outstanding personal or short term debts of various kinds amounting, perhaps, to more than 3 bilion 500 million dollars.

"The total farm indebtedness of all kinds probably amounts to over 12 billion dollars.

Nearly Half of Farms Mortgaged.

"The farm mortgage debt rests upon somewhat more than 40 per cent of the farms in the country. With the decrease in land values that has taken place this new debt now represents, on the average, not far from half the value of all the mortgaged farms.

"Such debt, however, is very unevenly distributed over the group of farms that are incumbered, varying from very moderate amounts to amounts that exceed the present value of the farms.

"About 30 per cent of the volume of outstanding farm mortgages is held by individuals, 23 per cent by insurance companies, 19 per cent by the federal and joint stock land banks, 11 per cent by commercial banks, 10 per cent by mortgage companies and 7 per cent by other firms or agencies."

COUGHLIN HITS AT BANKERS IN DETROIT SPEECH

Detroit, Mich., April 2.—(AP)—The Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin today renewed his attack on bankers whom he accused of responsibility for Detroit's financial plight, referring only briefly to charges made against him last week and making no mention of the explosion of a small bomb in the basement of his home last Thursday morning.

While Father Coughlin spoke in the Shrine of the Little Flower, his church in Royal Oak, an overflow crowd stood outside the building.

Much of his address today was a criticism of the Detroit Free Press and of E. D. Stair, its publisher, who was president of the Detroit Bankers company, holding company for the inoperative First National Bank-Detroit.

The Free Press last week announced it had proof of stock market transactions by Father Coughlin in which funds contributed by his listeners were used.

VETERANS' AID HERE SLASHED BY $10,000,000

16,784 to Lose Their Disability Funds.

Col. Hugh Scott, managing officer of the Edward Hines Jr. Memorial hospital, the largest field unit operated by the United States veterans' bureau, explained yesterday what the new economy regulations initiated by President Roosevelt will mean to the institution and to the veterans of this area.

COL. HUGH SCOTT.

He estimated that the annual saving through the reductions in payments and services to veterans of all wars will be approximately $10,000,000 in the Hines administration area of the veterans' bureau, which embraces Illinois and the three northern counties of Indiana. Of this saving $6,000,000 will be cut from payments to world war veterans.

$47,000,000 Spent Here.

At present the government expends $47,000,000 a year in this area, of which the world war veterans receive $24,000,000. Under the new regulations the annual total for all classes of veterans will be about $37,000,000.

Compliance with the new regulation by July 1, the date fixed in the order formally issued Saturday by President Roosevelt, will result in the cutting off of disability allowance payments to 16,784 world war veterans of the area in the nonservice connected disability class, that is disabilities not arising from war service. The reduction in allowances for service connected cases, disabilities incurred in the line of duty in active service, will affect 17,645 veterans of the world war in this area.

Curtailment of Service.

To meet the new conditions, said Dr. Scott, there will be a drastic curtailment of services at the Hines hospital, necessitating a decrease in the number of salaried personnel by approximately 458 employés, including a number of staff physicians.

Dr. Scott said that from his observation the patients at Hines hospital and ex-servicemen generally have accepted the economy regulations in a spirit of patriotic cheerfulness.

"When the economy bill was before congress there was a noticeable feeling of bitterness among the patients here at the proposed slash in veterans' bureau costs," he said, "but when the law was passed this feeling disappeared and the men adopted a philosophic attitude.

Sees No Hardship.

"I have foreseen a drastic deflation of veterans' bureau activities coming for a long time. The new rules may seem harsh and unwarranted to many, but in my experience the loudest complaints always come from the least deserving. I do not believe the new rules will work hardship on the men who are really deserving of government assistance."

The men who will feel the sharp edge of the economy knife immediately are the 16,784 world war veterans who have been drawing disability allowances for non-service connected disability. The total amount paid to these men has been $272,216 per month. These payments will cease completely and the saving represented will amount to $3,266,592 a year.

$2,400,000 Annual Saving.

There are in this area 17,645 cases of service connected disability receiving monthly allowances totalling $1,000,000. The reductions ordered in the new regulations will decrease this total monthly payment by $200,000 for an annual saving of $2,400,000.

Since March 20, the day on which President Roosevelt signed the economy bill, only cases classified as of an emergency nature have been admitted to Hines hospital unless service connected. For that reason the total number of patients registered has been already greatly decreased, Dr. Scott said.

On April 1, there were 1,343 bed patients, of which 808 were of the nonservice connected class. The hospital has a bed capacity of 1,750. It is likely, Dr. Scott believes, that the number of nonservice connected cases in the hospital will be greatly reduced by discharges before July 1, and that number of incoming patients of the same class will decrease in proportion.

Smaller Medical Staff.

This will make possible and necessary an immediate decrease in the number of physicians, nurses, and orderlies required, especially in the medical and surgical departments, it was pointed out. In the opinion of Dr. Hall Brown, chief surgeon, the new regulations will result in cutting down the activities of the surgical department from 50 to 75 per cent.

The number of employés at Hines hospital and branch offices of the administration in Chicago and East St. Louis totals 1,525, including staff physicians. The average annual pay roll has been $1,344,000. Effective April 1 a salary cut of 15 per cent was applied to employés of all classes. The resulting annual saving in salaries amounts to $201,600 on the number of employés now enrolled.

By July 1, however, this number will have been decreased approximately 30 per cent, or 458 employés, of which number Dr. Scott estimates 50 will be staff physicians no longer needed. This large reduction in personnel is expected to add materially to the annual saving on salaries.

Basic Salary Is $3,200.

Dr. Scott stated definitely, however, that it will not be necessary to drop any of the chiefs of staff. The base salary rate for staff physicians is $3,200 per year, now reduced to $2,720. Assuming that the fifty doctors to be dropped draw this amount, the annual saving on their salaries would be $136,000.

Because of the numerous wage scales for different employé classifications and the uncertainty at present as to how many and which ones will be eliminated, Dr. Scott was unable to predict the amount which will be saved on the total salary expenditure, but was certain that it would be substantial.

Added to the total slash in money disbursements will be the expected savings in cost of services and maintenance, a figure which Dr. Scott was unable to estimate, even approximately, in advance.

"It is only reasonable to assume," he said, "that this item will be a major one when one considers that we will no longer expend any amount for traveling and incidental expenses of nonservice connected cases, and that the average cost of hospitalization will be decreased in proportion to the decrease in number of patients.

Need Less Attendants.

"The saving in hospitalization cost will be considerable principally for the reason that the class of patients eliminated and decreased are those requiring the greatest number of physicians and nurses in attendance. The classifications undisturbed by the new regulations, such as tubercular and neuropsychiatric cases, require the least number of attendants."

Dr. Scott believes, however, that in spite of strict curtailment under the new regulations, the magnificent institution which has been built up at Hines will continue to function effectively.

"There is no need for any fear," he said, "that the enforcement of economy will in any way be reflected in lowered standards of this administration."

Develops Cancer Clinic.

In the last few years Hines hospital has developed a cancer clinic which has come to be recognized by the medical profession as the finest in the country. The services of this clinic, as well as of every other department of the hospital will be maintained in the future on the present high plane of efficiency, he asserted.

"The economy régime will affect every one associated with the veterans' bureau administration in varying degrees, but it will have the universal effect of giving each one of us, doctors, patients and employés a greater appreciation of the value of money," Dr. Scott concluded.

Policeman John McDonough of the Brighton Park station, opened fire last night on five men in the soft drink parlor at 3622 South Marshfield avenue. Three of the men were wounded, one of them seriously, while the other two escaped.

McDonough, who was off duty and in civilian clothes, was in the place with Chester Wapniarski, son of the owner, when the five men arrived. McDonough said they recognized him as a policeman and began insulting him. One of them moved as if about to draw a gun, McDonough declared, and he opened fire, convinced that they were robbers.

REPORT REVOLT PLOT IN URUGUAY ON DICTATORSHIP

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, April 2.—(AP)—Rumors circulated here today that groups of soldiers, aviators, and students were plotting a revolt against the dictatorship which President Gabriel Terra established last Friday.

It was learned that Brazilian forces along the frontier have been ordered to be on the alert for any eventuality in view of the Uruguayan situation.

The government meanwhile was understood to be sounding out foreign governments as to whether the new régime would have to be recognized. Three former members of the council who were arrested Friday were released from jail today.

CRIPPLE KILLED BY AUTO.

Jerseyville, Ill., April 2.—(AP)—Eugene Hill, 56, a cripple, who had filed as an independent candidate for township clerk, died today of a fractured skull suffered yesterday when he was struck by an automobile.

GUNMEN SEIZE CHARITY FUND; BATTLE POLICE

Kansas City, Kas., April 2.—(AP)—Three gunmen today terrorized 500 men and women at a Catholic charity society meeting, robbed five secretaries of approximately $2,500 and escaped after a revolver fight with pursuing police.

The robbers made the rounds of five secretaries about the room at desks, collecting money which had been paid as dues.

Leaving the hall, the robbers waved aside children playing about the entrance and fired upon Leonard Theno, motorcycle officer. He returned the fire.

Other policemen hastened to the scene. A patrol car was disabled by the bullets of the trio.

1933 AIR RACES WILL BE HELD AT CHICAGO AIRPORT

Tribune Sponsors 4 Day Program of Events.

BY HUGH SEXTON.

Chicago Municipal airport has been chosen as the site of the charity air races to be held here on July 1, 2, 3, and 4, under the sponsorship of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. This was announced yesterday by Capt. M. M. Corpening, president of the Chicago Air Race corporation, which will manage the air event. More than a quarter of a million persons are expected to witness the four day spectacle.

MAJ. R. W. SCHROEDER. [Harris & Ewing Photo.]

Chicago airport was chosen because it is the most accessible of all airports in the vicinity of the city, and offers the best facilities for an outstanding air racing meet, Capt. Corpening said. The selection of this airport will enable Chicagoans to go to the air races on the surface lines for the first time. The airport is at 63d street and Cicero avenue, only nine miles by direct line from the center of the loop.

Races to Be Held Yearly.

Capt. Corpening also announced that the four days of racing have been named officially the American Air Races, and that it is the intention of the Chicago Air Race corporation to conduct the American Air Races in Chicago annually.

"Chicagoans will be able to see high speed air racing this summer at a convenient location because of the excellent coöperation the Chicago Air Race corporation has received from the city council, which has granted a permit for the staging of the air races on the municipal airport by a unanimous vote," Capt. Corpening said.

"Mayor Corr has placed himself behind the project as a decidedly worth while civic undertaking. Commissioner of Public Works Hewitt has assisted by working out details for the use of the municipal field, with the aid of Walter Wright, city director of aviation, and John Casey, manager of the airport. The permit was drawn by Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph Grossman.

Air Lines Coöperating.

"The principal air lines that operate from the airport have expressed their desire to have the air races staged there, so that the many thousands of spectators may see the daily operations of the air transportation service in Chicago.

"Maj. R. W. Schroeder, director of events for the American Air Races, is drafting his program of races and stunts around the schedule of arrivals and departures of air liners, so that there will be no conflict between the two operations. The air liners will have precedence at all times over the racing and stunting program.

"P. G. Johnson, president of United Air lines, and Lester D. Seymour, president of American Airways, have approved of this plan after studying the tentative schedule of events. Maj. Reed G. Landis, chairman of the Illinois aeronautics commission, sees no objection to the holding of the air races on the airport and inspectors of the aeronautics branch of the federal department of commerce have approved the plan."

18,539 Pilots Invited.

Maj. Schroeder announced that the greatest gathering of pilots in history is expected at the American air races.

"We are inviting the 18,539 pilots and 8,403 mechanics who hold active department of commerce licenses to attend the races as guests of the management," he said. "Aviation has reached its present stage through the unselfish coöperation of all pilots and mechanics and we want them to be honored at this first annual meeting of the American air races."

"Free parking will be available to those who drive to the races," Maj. Schroeder added. "Accommodations will be provided for 50,000 to 75,000 spectators on each of the four days. Concessionaires will vend only the finest food and drink products available, at reasonable prices. Tickets will be sold in advance at a lower price than the gate admission charge."

The Chicago Air Race corporation was formed in 1930 by a group of prominent Chicagoans and staged the outstanding air races of that year in Chicago. More than 250,000 persons viewed the ten day spectacle. The company was reorganized the first of this year. John Hertz is vice president and Charles F. Glore is treasurer of the corporation.

WAR VETERAN ENDS LIFE IN 18 STORY LEAP

David N. Kaplan, 32 years old, 3431 Polk street, a war veteran, leaped to his death yesterday morning from a room on the eighteenth floor of the Y. M. C. A. hotel, 826 South Wabash avenue. His body struck the pavement of Wabash avenue, narrowly missing Deputy Sheriff Edward Zerman, 2313 South State street, who was walking to his home.

In the hotel room the police found a farewell letter written by Kaplan to his wife, Mrs. Bertha Kaplan, and twin sons, 21 months old. He said he was discouraged because he could not provide for his family and advised his wife not to speculate with the insurance money she would receive. He asked that he be given a military funeral. He served in France during the war.

Mrs. Kaplan said that when her husband left home Saturday morning he appeared to be depressed.

FIRST NEGRO OF 9 ON TRIAL AGAIN IN FAMOUS CASE

Decatur, Ala., April 2.—(AP)—Heywood Patterson, 19, one of nine Negroes indicted two years ago in the "Scottsboro case," tonight faced a second trial, with his life at stake, on charges of raping a white girl.

As in the Jackson county trials in 1931, when the Negroes were convicted and sentenced to death, Patterson tomorrow will be the first to be retried, in accordance with a decision of the United States Supreme court setting aside the previous verdict.

Although two white girls are named as victims of the alleged attacks, which occurred aboard a North Alabama freight train, the charges against Patterson involve only one of them. The other girl has been missing from her home for some time, and authorities so far have been unable to locate her.

TEACHERS TO ASK ROOSEVELT'S AID IN PAY SITUATION

A delegation of six Chicago teachers, headed by William J. Page, president of the Illinois State Teachers' association, will leave on the Capitol Limited for Washington, D. C., at 1:45 o'clock this afternoon.

The group will ask President Roosevelt to lend his support to a plan to raise funds to pay teachers' salaries. According to Mr. Page, the President will be asked to authorize the rediscounting of school board tax warrants at federal reserve banks. It will also be suggested, he said, that the Reconstruction Finance corporation lend money to a teachers' trust company, with the warrants as collateral.

Telegrams advising of the purpose of the delegation have been sent to President Roosevelt's secretary and to Senators James Hamilton Lewis and William Dieterich and Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes.

TWO INDICTED ON BOMB CHARGE ARE BLAST VICTIMS

Police investigating the dynamite bombing early yesterday of the Michigan Cleaners and Dyers plant at 1339 West 63d street, discovered that Louis Hollman and Louis Williams, the owners, are under indictment, charged with bombing attacks on other cleaning and dyeing plants.

Both the proprietors live at 6029 St. Lawrence avenue. Hollman is ill in bed, but Williams told Lieut. Eugene Barry of the Englewood police that he knew no reason for the attack. The plant and the Checker cleaning shops, which Hollman and Williams also control, have been subjected to a number of attacks by vandals. The bombed cleaning plant employs nonunion labor.

The bomb yesterday tore out a rear door in the plant, smashed machinery inside, and shattered windows in the building and surrounding structures, including a number of panes in cars of the Englewood elevated line, parked at the Loomis street terminal.

Williams and Hollman, with three of their employés and J. O. Flanagan, a reputed gangster who is charged with setting the actual bomb, were indicted last October in connection with the bombing in November, 1931, of the plant of City Dye works, 3010 West Lake street.

The indictments were based on confessions obtained from Morris Cohen and Walter Silver, managers of Checker cleaning shops. They said that Hollman, Williams, and John J. Klein, manager of another Checker shop, had conspired with them to bomb the plant of the rival business, and that they had hired Flanagan to do the work after members of the Saltis and O'Donnell beer gangs had set too high a price.

Cohen and Silver also told prosecutors of hiring boys to break windows of rival cleaning and dyeing shops.

The Michigan company and its subsidiaries, the Checker shops, have also been attacked by bombers and vandals in recent years.

BRITISH FASCISM GROWS; MOSLEY BIDS FOR POWER

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 2.—Fascism in Britain is beginning to feel its muscle, and to wonder how much can be done with it.

Today when around 2,000 Reds struggled into Hyde Park to demonstrate against the Fascist menace it was feared that British blackshirts might start a fracas, but police detailed to watch the marchers were chiefly concerned with handling traffic.

Communists and independent labor partisans mounted half a dozen platforms and spoke in favor of a resolution against strongarm dictatorships. But this was overshadowed by marchers parading insulting cardboard figures of German Nazi leaders. One was depicted as standing up to his ankles in blood and forming a gibbet with an outstretched arm from which drooping figures were suspended.

Every manifestation of the Fascist movement in Italy and Germany can be seen in and around the house at 1 Great George street, London, where Sir Oswald Mosley, millionaire would-be dictator, has based the British Union of Fascists. The building is in sight of Buckingham palace, the London residence of King George.

Physical Training Compulsory.

Through the door young huskies in uniform pass day and night, elevating their arms in the old Roman salute. Inside the atmosphere of a military headquarters prevails.

The waiting room is a small gymnasium with two punching bags, a medicine ball, apparatus for a boxing and wrestling ring, and in a corner a stack of foils and fencing masks. Sir Oswald is the champion swordsman of Britain.

Physical training is compulsory. The Mosley black shirts, who are the beginnings of the British storm troops, are required to box, fence, or wrestle twice weekly.

The black shirts form the nucleus of Mosley's "army." They have an auxiliary in the gray shirts, who can not give as much time to physical training as the black shirts but who have a big place in the strong arm branch of the organization.

Has Staff of Orators.

Mosley's organization includes Fascist orators whom Sir Oswald hopes will talk his movement into power. The "military" end of the union affords them protection, and will provide the punch if and when Mosley decides the time has come for his frankly revolutionary movement to strike.

Mosley, whose wife, Lady Cynthia, is a granddaughter of the late Levi Leiter of Chicago, regards Fascism as a Nordic creed, wholly unsuited to Latin temperament. That it arrived first in Italy he thinks an accident.

Most of the members of the British Union of Fascists are young bloods with jobs. But every effort is made to attract the unemployed, who are constantly surrounded with communist propaganda, and seven members out of work live at the Fasict headquarters, board and lodging free.

"How many members have you?" Mosley was asked by a TRIBUNE correspondent.

Gives No Figures.

"We never give figures," he answered. "We are at war with the communists. Why should we make the tactical blunder of revealing where our weakness is, and where our strength? But I will give you some comparisons. Our membership has doubled every two months. In some cities it has gone up 10 times in the last three months."

"When and how do you expect to come into power?" he was asked. "Are you prepared to use violence in overthrowing the present system of government?"

"We don't think it will be necessary. We don't seek violence and hope to avoid it. But we must beat the others. The use of broken bottles and other weapons by communists at our meetings compels us to defend ourselves. We are ready for it. We hope to reach power by constitutional means. I think we can. But if it comes to an open fight with the Reds, we are ready."

"Old Order Is Dead."

There has been no suggestion of firearms in connection with Fascist activities in Britain, but THE TRIBUNE understands that a dealer in condemned and displaced army equipment has been asked for quotations on 30,000 Sam Brown belts with holsters, reputedly for the British Union of Fascists.

"The old order is dead," Sir Oswald said. "We don't know when the change will come, but I think it will be sooner than any one imagines. We don't know how it will come, but we are prepared in any event.

"British Fascism is organized in two ways—politically, for the fight at the polls, and in a disciplinary way to combat communism."

The Fascists could gain and wield power within the constitution if they obtained what seems now an interminably long distance off—a majority in the house of commons. Mosleyism is monarchist, and would leave the throne intact as a useful instrument of government in Britain. Parliament can, as it did within the last 18 months, grant any government power to rule by decree, and with this power Mosley could do as he liked.

The program which Fascists advocate is one of intense nationalism, and of unbrooked state superiority. Britain would be "insulated" economically from the rest of the world and all things internally would be subservient to the interest of the organization which Mosely calls the "corporate state."

Britain would be "rationalized." Mosley would destroy the house of lords and the house of commons as now known would disappear. Representation would be occupational, and use of the franchise would be confined to electing the apportioned representatives allotted among all interests, trades and professions, according to their national importance.

Thus, miners would vote only for miners, engineers for engineers, and so on. The proportionate representation between miners and engineers would depend upon their relative importance to the state.

Puts O. K. on Trade for Profit.

After parliament had been elected, the government would legislate only by order; parliament as an instrument of public expression would have a voice in but one matter—the right to dismiss governments through votes of censure. Bills would no longer be subject to the approval of a legislative majority.

All interests within the state would be brought into the supreme perspective of their importance to the state. Mosley asserts that trade for profit would remain unmolested, but all trade would be kept rigorously within the bounds of public welfare. Corporations representing various interests would be formed and they in turn would operate through a "national corporation" in harmony with the government, which would supervise all.

Mosley's creed is that the world no longer faces the problem of producing enough to avoid poverty, but must learn to distribute its overabundance of riches. For that reason he would raise wages immediately fascism came to power, absorb as many unemployed into public works as could be profitably started and put the remainder back to work as new manufactures were developed.

Breaking Ground at World's Fair

Consul Speaks

Colorful ceremonies attended the breaking of ground yesterday afternoon for the Belgian village of A Century of Progress. Vice Consul John Vermeron of Belgium was the principal speaker. The village is to be set up on the exposition grounds south of 23d street and will contain replicas of celebrated Belgium structures and typical homes.

The official flag of A Century of Progress will be unfurled for the first time off the exposition grounds on Saturday afternoon. The flag will be raised on the Congress street flagpole in Grant park as the central feature of a city-wide observance of exposition flag day. Acting Mayor F. HOW CALIFORNIA QUAKE 'QUAKED' TOLD BY ITSELF

Device Records 'Pictures' of Earth Shocks.

Washington, D. C., April 2.—(AP)—First actual "pictures" of how fast and how hard the ground shivered during the California earthquake of March 10—the first time in history that an earthquake has "drawn a picture" of itself—were made public today by the United States coast and geodetic survey.

To most people the "pictures" look like nothing but wavy lines such as might be scribbled by a child learning to write, but to scientists they hold the world's first accurate record of how an earthquake "quakes." Out of the records hidden in these wavy lines may come construction knowledge that will reduce greatly tolls of earthquake disasters in the future.

How It Recorded History.

The records actually were "written" by the earthquake itself, for the shaking ground moved a slowly revolving paper strip under a stationary pen that scratched on the paper the actual distance and speed of the earth movements north and south, east and west and up and down.

The pens and paper are the essential parts of "earthquake trap" machines set up about seven months ago and designed so that they would remain motionless for years if necessary, but would go into action at the first tremble of the earth's crust. They were developed by the coast and geodetic survey in cooperation with the bureau of standards and Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

The records of the California quake are considered "almost perfect" by government scientists, who expect that the information about ground movements that they furnish will help architects and engineers to design buildings, dams and bridges able to resist earthquake shocks.

Gives Valuable Information.

Most earthquake damage and casualties result from falling buildings and resulting fires. Heretofore, little has been known about how much shaking a building must resist to be "earthquake proof."

The scribbled earthquake records show that a very rapid and very strong motion of high frequency took place at the beginning of the California shock, followed by shocks of longer period and slower acceleration. Preliminary study indicates the bulk of the damage was caused by the latter shocks. The first shocks may have been so rapid, said the coast survey, that buildings actually did not have time to respond to them and start the swaying that shook down debris during the later shocks.

Railroad Accidents Take Lives of Three in Gary

Three fatal railroad accidents occurred last night in Gary. The victims were Charles Devlin, 48 years old, yardmaster for the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad; Stanley Naviciakio, 37 years old; and an unidentified man about 25 years old. Devlin was crushed to death when struck by a freight car while on duty in the railroad yard of the Illinois Steel company plant. Naviciakio was killed by a Pennsylvania railroad train as he was walking on the tracks near 15th avenue. The unidentified victim was killed by another Pennsylvania train at 21st avenue.

AIMEE HUTTON ARRIVES IN ITALY, THEN 'VANISHES'

NAPLES, Italy, April 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton is believed to be visiting Capri or another nearby resort, her identity concealed. Mrs. Hutton was seen here yesterday accompanied by an unidentified woman representative of a travel agency where she had her baggage.

Since, however, she has not been seen in public here nor has she registered at the American consulate. Officials of the agency said that she appeared to be very healthy yesterday and that she desired to travel incognito.

Her husband said at Los Angeles Saturday that he had received a cablegram saying his wife was seriously ill at Tunis, Algeria. Dispatches from Tunis said she left there for Italy on March 29, and was running a high temperature.

ENDS LIFE IN HOME.

Arthur Maer, 21 years old, of 610 South Western avenue, committed suicide in his home yesterday by shooting himself in the right temple. The body was found by a brother, Theodore.

MAYORALTY LIST OF DEMOCRATS NARROWS TO SIX

Patrick A. Nash Still Is Leading Candidate.

Discussions were begun yesterday among Democratic leaders who within the next few weeks will make a recommendation to the city council on the election of a mayor to serve the balance of the term of the late Anton J. Cermak. Patrick A. Nash, who is county chairman and national committeeman of the Democratic party, returned from the east yesterday and was in telephonic communication with other Democratic leaders, but he declined to be interviewed regarding the possibility of his being the party's choice.

Conferences are to start today in the Democratic headquarters at the Morrison hotel on the mayoralty question as well as on a judicial coalition ticket. The best guess of Democratic leaders was that there would be some sort of a judicial coalition.

Candidates for Mayor.

Democratic leaders also were of the opinion that the mayor will be chosen from among six men. One of the six, it is said, is Nash, who can be mayor if he would accept but it is believed he would do so reluctantly and only in the event of a serious disagreement or deadlock in the party.

Robert M. Sweitzer, county clerk and twice nominated for mayor in Democratic primaries, is said to have Nash's indorsement as well as the good will of most of the leaders. Ross A. Woodhull, trustee of the sanitary district, and Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton have the approval of Gov. Horner, Edward N. Hurley, wartime chairman of the shipping board, is considered the most likely nonpolitical possibility, and Ald. John S. Clark [30th] has some support among the aldermen.

Urge De Young's Reelection.

Former Judge George F. Barrett, a Republican ward committeeman, wrote an open letter yesterday to Chairman Nash of the Democratic organization and Chairman William H. Weber of the Republican county central committee urging an agreement by both parties on Supreme Court Justice Frederick R. De Young for reëlection. Committees of each party are to meet this week and discuss the possibility of coalition of the parties on the twenty circuit judgeships, two superior judgeships, the Supreme court matter, and possibly on a candidate for probate judge to fill the place vacated by Gov. Horner.

The parties will hold their nominating conventions and make nominations next week.

SLAIN IN RUM PRICE QUARREL.

Sioux City, Ia., April 2.—[Special.]—W. D. Shields, 43, died today of gunshot wounds suffered Thursday night in what police said was an argument over liquor price cutting. Police said murder charges probably will be filed against Sam Mirkin, who shot Shields.

Threat of Eviction Leads to Shooting of Farmer

Springfield, Mo., April 2.—[Special.]—Because he was threatened with eviction from the farm where he spent his lifetime, T. E. Custer, 80, shot and critically wounded E. C. Costlow, young farmer living near him. Custer went to his house when Costlow announced that he was "going to put him off the place," got a shotgun and shot Costlow in the abdomen.

THE STORE FOR MEN

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY

The right shoulders of every six out of ten men are lower than their left — so

No More of This!

This is what happens when the man whose right shoulder is lower than his left slips into most regular coats before alteration. Notice how the collar and the lapel fail to fit. Six out of every ten men have this trouble.

Simple, isn't it? No need of alterations. The coat actually has the right shoulder cut low, then built up to appear exactly the same as the left. It's a wonder somebody didn't think of it before, for actual experience over a period of years has proven to us that alterations have to be made on the right shoulders of every six out of ten men's suits.

In making a suit of clothes much time and thought is spent on the joining of the shoulders and the shaping of the collar of the coat. If, after the suit is completed, the shoulder has to be altered, the fine needling and expert shaping is of necessity made over in a comparatively few minutes by a tailor who had nothing whatsoever to do with the original construction of the coat. With this in mind, we have, this season, tailored from the very beginning many of our men's suits with the right shoulder purposely made to fit so that no alterations will be necessary.

Come in today and slip on one of these newly constructed coats. You'll see in a minute what we mean and for the first time in your life you won't feel that the coat has to be ripped entirely apart simply because the right shoulder sags and the collar doesn't fit.

But a Fit Like This!

JEWS WILL GIVE GREAT PAGEANT AT WORLD FAIR

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

A great project of American Jewry took shape yesterday in the Red room of the Hotel La Salle when representatives of all the phases of Jewish life jammed the hall to discuss the program of racial participation in A Century of Progress.

Jewish day will be observed at the fair on July 3. Plans announced at the Hotel La Salle meeting call for the presentation that evening in Soldiers' Field of a pageant, "The Romance of a People," which will portray the story of Israel through the centuries. The pageant will be a production on the order of the mammoth Chanukkah festival held last Dec. 25 at the Chicago Stadium, but of much greater proportions.

The Chanukkah fete, it was emphasized at yesterday's meeting, represented the first successful effort to unite the Jewish community under one banner. It also convinced its promoters of the possibility of uniting, in a still greater project, orthodox, conservative, and reformed Jews, not only of Chicago but of the entire country.

Judge Fisher Is Chairman.

Judge Harry Fisher was made permanent chairman of the gathering. Isaac Van Grove, who won fame as director of the Chanukkah fête, was given an ovation on the announcement of his selection to supervise the pageant at A Century of Progress.

There was a list of imposing names of Jewish leaders from the country at large, whose acceptances have been received to invitations to act on executive committees. The governors of four states are included: Henry Horner of Illinois, Herbert H. Lehman of New York, Julius L. Meier of Oregon, and Arthur Seligman of New Mexico.

Dr. Stephen S. Wise of New York, Dr. Cyrus Adler, president of the American Jewish committee, and Felix Warburg, president of the American section of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, have sent assurances that they will participate actively in the project.

Six Associate Chairmen Named.

Six associate chairmen named to work with Judge Fisher are Rabbi Gerson B. Levi, Rabbi Solomon Goldman, James H. Becker, Pearl Franklin, Elkan Voorsanger, and Jacob Braude. Melvin L. Straus is treasurer, and headquarters are already open at 11 South La Salle street, in the offices of the Chicago Jewish Agency for Palestine. Mr. Braude, president of the Zionist organization, and Meyer W. Weisgal, executive director of the Jewish agency, have been active in preliminary arrangements.

A probable budget of $35,000 will be needed to stage the drama, it was revealed by Judge Fisher. Financing of the project will be on the same plan as that used for the Chanukkah festival—tickets will be sold by various organizations, 50 per cent of the proceeds being devoted to expenses and the remainder being claimed by the organization disposing of the tickets.

"The Romance of a People."

"We have not in mind the propagandizing of any phase of Jewish life," Mr. Van Grove informed the meeting. "We do not intend to try to teach any lesson in this great drama, beyond the possible emotional reaction of the spectacle itself.

"The stage, which is already designed, will be, I think you will concede when you have witnessed the production, the most beautiful that possibly could be built. The lighting will be dramatic in itself, and will be furnished entirely from the stage.

"The cast will have a minimum of 3,000 actors and singers, and will be recruited from all the organizations here represented, or who can produce the required talent. The Chanukkah production had 1,500. Our plans, as far as they have proceeded, make us confident that this is to be the most dramatic, symbolic and historic pageant that has ever been given."

Acceptable as Envoy.

CHARGES FALSE, GERMANS WRITE TO FRIENDS HERE

Many Chicagoans of German birth report the receipt of letters and cablegrams from relatives and friends in Germany in which the current news of anti-Semitic activities in Germany is branded as false. Anti-Hitlerites charge that these messages are being sent on the demand of the government in an effort to counteract foreign indignation over Jewish persecution.

A cablegram, received yesterday by Sigmond J. Rice, 551 Oakdale avenue, from the Jewish congregation of Muehlhausen Oberfranken, Germany, was submitted to THE TRIBUNE as an example, in the opinion of Mr. Rice, of the Nazi government coercing Jewish congregations into helping the spread of counterpropaganda. The cablegram follows:

"All news concerning German atrocities against Jews untrue and lying slander. Everywhere peace and quiet reigns. Please publish this through American newspapers and spread it by word of mouth among your acquaintances and friends."

Mr. Rice, a member of the insurance brokerage firm of Rice & Schweik, 222 West Adams street, has many relatives and friends in Germany.

All's Quiet, Roosevelt Told.

BERLIN, April 2.—(AP)—The Steuben society, an organization of persons interested in America, in a cablegram today to President Roosevelt denied reports of atrocities in Germany and said the country was quiet. The hope was expressed that President Roosevelt use his knowledge of Germany to combat contrary statements.

Jarecki Leaves Hospital; Will Rest for 2 Weeks

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki yesterday returned to his home at 1946 Armitage avenue from St. Elizabeth's hospital where he had been under treatment for several weeks for a severe digestive disturbance. Upon the insistence of the attending physicians, Drs. Leo Hardt and Francis A. Dulak, Judge Jarecki will remain at home for about two weeks, he said.

NAZIS KEEP UP JEW BOYCOTT IN SEVERAL CITIES

Hitlerites Are Ready to Renew Drive.

Jews in an anti-Hitler protest were distributed at the doors of Paris churches today. The tracts said, "The Old and New Testaments should unite to combat these crimes unworthy of our civilization."

Cardinal Verdier asured Grand Rabbi Levi of the Catholics' solidarity. Film producers were reported joining the anti-German boycott.

Five hundred representatives of Jewish organizations last night adopted a protest against the "persecution" of Jews in Germany. Effective at 10 a. m. Saturday, the hour at which an anti-Jewish boycott went into effect in Germany, an anti-German boycott was declared in Paris. It was limited, however, to an appeal to abstain from patronizing Germans. A committee of the International League Against Anti-Semitism organized the movement.

Ex-Kaiser Pleads for Jews.

LONDON, April 2.—It is reported here that former Kaiser Wilhelm has intervened in the anti-Jewish campaign in Germany. He always has been friendly toward the Jews, and made much use of their financial assistance. He has now sent a personal appeal to all members of the Hohenzollern family, urging them not to participate in Jew baiting.

Close Havana Shops Today.

HAVANA, April 2.—(AP)—Jewish shops in Havana wil be closed tomorrow after 3 p. m. in protest against the anti-Jewish boycott in Germany. Representatives of the Jewish organizations in Havana agreed on the protest during a meeting at the Jewish Merchants' association.

Guard Consulates in Spain.

SEVILLE, Spain, April 2.—(AP)—A guard was thrown about the Italian and German consulates today as a result of reports that anti-Fascists planned to stone them.

Hull Talks to U. S. Embassy.

Washington, D. C., April 2.—(AP)—Chiefs of American foreign affairs today put their ears at the heart of troubled Germany in a trans-Atlantic conference with the aid of a special telephone set up.

To get the latest information on the Nazi boycott against the Jews, Secretary of State Hull got the Berlin embassy on the wire, and for several minutes he and his aides talked over the situation with George A. Gordon, counsellor and charge d' affaires.

The special equipment enabled Undersecretary William Phillips, Pierpont Moffett, chief of the western European division, and Walter Foote of the current information division, also to listen in.

Gordon's voice was heard clearly, giving reassuring news and indicating that the economic war against Jews went off as reported in the press.

Gordon said tht this most widely reported anti-Jewish movement of recent years was marked by few incidents of disorder. The American government is expected to follow a careful hands off policy in the hope and belief that the Hitler government, if left alone, will call off its anti-Jewish activity.

WARNS AUTOISTS TO BE CAREFUL WITH NEW BEER

Judge Cites Penalties for Tipsy Driving.

BY HAL FOUST.

With the return of beer only five days away Municipal Judge Thomas A. Green of the Traffic court yesterday issued a warning to motorists.

"Don't drive your automobile if you are going to imbibe excessively of the newly legalized brew," said the judge. "Any increase in intoxicated driver cases will be used by the drys in fighting the liberalization of our prohibition laws."

Decision Up to Court.

The judge was asked if it would be possible to convict any one of being intoxicated as the result of drinking a beverage that congress has declared nonintoxicating.

"The question of whether the driver is intoxicated lies solely with the court," Judge Green replied. "If witnesses testify the defendant talked incoherently, staggered or lacked control of other faculties, there might be a finding of guilty notwithstanding evidence that 3.2 per cent beer was alone responsible.

"The maximum penalty for this offense is six months in jail and a $1,000 fine and the minimum penalty is ten days in jail and a $100 fine. Penalties for reckless driving range from $1 to $200 except when there is a personal injury, in which case the maximum is six months in jail and a $1,000 fine.

"Understand that I'm not saying 3.2 per cent beer is intoxicating. I'm merely warning motorists to be careful."

ROOSEVELT'S 'ACTION' RECORD

Washington, D. C., April 2.—(AP)—President Roosevelt in his inaugural address told the country he favored "putting of first things first" and also that he wanted "action."

Establishment of a firm federal control over the banks of the nation which he found closed completely upon taking the oath.

A slash in federal expenditures of more than $600,000,000 annually through emergency legislation empowering him to cut salaries and veterans' allowances to aid in balancing the budget.

Enactment of legislation authorizing 3.2 per cent beer.

Authorization for creation of a "civilian conservation corps" to put 250,000 men at work in the forests.

Recommendation for federal control over agriculture as a means of improving farm commodity prices.

KERNER CONFERS ON SALES TAX; TO FIGHT INJUNCTION

Attorney General Otto Kerner and his first assistant, M. S. Winning, spent yesterday in conference on the sales tax, making plans for their fight on the temporary injunction obtained in the Madison county Circuit court restraining imposition of the tax. At the same time they discussed issuance of opinions to clarify the law asked for by State Director of Finance Joseph J. Rice.

The attorney general will ask dissolution of the temporary injunction at Edwardsville next Saturday. If this is refused and the injunction is made permanent he plans to appeal to the Supreme court. The April term of the court opens today.

Meanwhile, Director Rice said, no further regulations will be issued on the tax until the objections raised in the injunction suit are settled.

ART OF DRAWING BEER OCCUPIES YOUNG BARKEEPS

Two hundred members of the Bartenders' union, local 278, were given their first lesson in the art of drawing beer at a bar in union headquarters at 227 West Madison street yesterday. The bartenders' school will continue and all new members will be required to attend until they qualify as experts.

Plans for expanding the union, now that legal beer is coming back, were outlined by Thad C. Wittwer, president, and George McLane, business agent.

LAUNCH CAMPAIGN IN U. S. TO RAISE FUNDS FOR GERMAN JEWS

New York, April 2.—[Special.]—A nation-wide campaign for funds to bring relief to the 600,000 Jews of Germany suffering from political persecution and economic discrimination was launched by the American joint distribution committee today. The relief will be conducted on a wide basis and as a humanitarian enterprise devoid of any political character.

Launching of the campaign followed stirring addresses by Jewish leaders. More than 700 members and friends of the committee attended the meeting, which was held in Temple Emanuel.

The relief campaign will be waged in coördination with the solicitation drive now being carried on by the committee as part of its regular work of relief for Jews in central and eastern Europe suffering from the dislocations of the war and prevailing economic crisis.

Auto Thief Is Slain; Companion Surrenders

Frank Banka, 22 years old, 760 Milwaukee avenue, was shot and killed by Policeman Edward Hartigan early yesterday when he and a companion tried to break into an automobile parked at Milwaukee avenue and Division street. Banka's companion, Stanley Syke, 32 years old, 1325 Dickson street, surrendered.

STATES TO SEND MEN TO FOREST CAMPS BY QUOTA

Washington, D. C., April 2.—(AP)—Regulations governing the recruiting of 250,000 men for the nation's biggest forest conservation project will place states on a quota basis under which maximum limits will be set for the number of men each can supply.

This was learned today as four government departments hastened plans for the march on the forests under President Roosevelt's program to aid in relieving unemployment. The establishment of a thousand or more camps housing between 100 and 200 each by July 1, has been set as the goal.

Rules covering the recruiting are being shaped by Secretary Perkins, who hopes to have registration of men under way within a week. Whether state quotas will be fixed on a basis of population or on the number of unemployed estimated for each is one of the first problems for her to settle.

GERMAN OFFICIAL IS ANGERED OVER WOMAN'S BEATING

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, April 2.—The beating of Frau Marie Jankowski by Nazis in Koebenick, Germany, has reached the ears of a "very high personage" in Germany, who expressed deep indignation, according to dispatches received from Berlin today. As Frau Jankowski's son is a soldier serving in the reichswehr [army], it is assumed a report of the case has reached President von Hindenburg.

An account of the case was published in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE yesterday. It was originally published by the London Times, which described it as "a fully authenticated case of political violence in Germany."

The German woman was said to have been taken from her home to a Nazi headquarters and there "stripped and, while one man held her head, four others belabored her with canes." "The process was repeated four or five times," the report said. The woman, a Socialist, attributed the beating to private grudges.

RUSSIA ACCUSES BRITONS OF BEING MILITARY SPIES

Will Be Tried Along with Four Jailed Men.

MOSCOW, April 2.—(AP)—Allan Monkhouse, Moscow director for the Metropolitan-Vickers electrical firm, and a subordinate, Charles Nordwall, have been formally charged with military as well as economic espionage, fostering "wrecking activities," and bribery.

This means that despite liberty on their own recognizance shortly after their arrest with four other British employés three weeks ago, they will be tried along with their four associates who are still imprisoned by the gay pay ou [secret police].

Monkhouse and Nordwell, however, have not been rearrested.

Visits Jailed Britons.

William Strang, charge d'affaires at the British embassy, visited the four imprisoned British subjec. again last night. He was allowed to see each one separately in the presence of Prosecutor Vishinsky and a translator, but was not allowed to discuss the case. He found them in normal health and spirits.

[The four British subjects concerned in the Metropolitan-Vickers case are John Cushny, W. H. MacDonald, W. H. Thornton and a technician named Gregory. When plans were announced last week by soviet authorities for the trial of these men, no mention was made of Monkhouse and Nordwell.]

An evidence reflecting the British government's serious view of the proceedings against its subjects is seen here in the fact that packing is in progress at the British embassy.

Envoy Returns to London.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 2.—British cabinet members and officials of the foreign office conferred with Sir Esmond Ovey, British ambassador to Moscow, upon his return to London today on the arrest in soviet Russia of six British subjects employed by the English electrical concern, Metropolitan-Vickers.

Sir Esmond arrived early this morning. Before he left the train a messenger from the foreign office stepped up to the ambassador's coach and handed him an envelope filled with documents. The ambassador signed the foreign office slip and announced he had nothing to say for publication.

Sir Esmond spent a busy day conferring first with foreign office officials and later with Prime Minister MacDonald, who returned from Chequers, and Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, who cut short his week-end in the country.

Discussions for the day ended after Sir Esmond's conversations with the prime minister and the foreign secretary. The ambassador will meet with the cabinet committee on Russia tomorrow morning. Sir John Simon is expected to make a statement on the situation in the house of commons in the afternoon.

Baltic States Hope for Break.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, April 2.—The strained relations between London and Moscow over the arrest of four British engineers employed by the Metropolitan-Vickers Electrical company on charges of sabotage and economic espionage is being closely followed by the Baltic states. These nations hope that Great Britain will carry out its threat to boycott soviet products.

Finland, Estonia, and Latvia, whose budgets are balanced with their exports of timber, butter, and flax, anticipate larger exports to Britain should a break occur.

The already reduced staff of the soviet trade delegation also is anxiously watching the conflict. An interruption of British-soviet trade relations will result in additional curtailments. Officials already discharged have joined the growing ranks of soviet unemployed.

Local soviet government employés also are discussing a report from Moscow which said Russia is considering declaring a moratorium on payment of credits due Great Britain if Russian exports to Britain are stopped.

POPE RECEIVES THOUSANDS AS HOLY YEAR OPENS

VATICAN CITY, April 2.—(AP)—Pope Pius today had one of the busiest days of his career in the first day of the holy year. He received thousands, including school children and a number of high prelates. He did not take his usual Sunday drive through the Vatican garden.

Meanwhile a throng estimated at 500,000 flocked to St. Peter's to cross the holy door which was consecrated yesterday. The Swiss and Noble guards and gendarmes had a strenuous time controlling the eager crowds. The three central doors of the cathedral were kept open until darkness.

The pope first received in audience this morning Archbishop Borgongini Duca, papal nuncio to Italy, and then Cardinal Schuster of Milan. During the morning he also received hospital workers from Florence, 200 high school pupils from Esernia, and 600 members of the National Welfare Institute of Salerno. During the afternoon he received 500 insurance employés from Trieste. Other delegations included 1,500 rural workers from Treviso and 600 welfare workers from Naples.

BAGDAD, Iraq, April 2.—Persia is planning to prohibit all soviet imports except possibly oil, which Russia exclusively supplies to the northern provinces, it is reported. 300,000 MINE AND QUARRY WORKERS STRIKE IN FRANCE

PARIS, April 2.—(AP)—A nation-wide strike involving possibly 300,000 coal miners and slate quarriers is due to start tomorrow by order of the National Council of Subsoil Workers. The strike will last from one to three days, according to locality.

The demands of the workers include a higher retirement pension, creation of a national coal office, vacations with pay, and speedy application of measures on working hours drawn up at Geneva.

Mine owners in the Lens region counteracted the strike order by decreeing a three-day lockout. Numerous platoons of mobile guards have been concentrated in the north.

AN ILLINOIS BOY FINDS RUSSIA NOT AS ADVERTISED

Elgin Youth Comes Out Penniless and Hungry.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, April 2.—A little more than two years ago, Floyd Barnwell, then 22 years old and a draftsman employed by the General Motors Truck corporation, found a leaflet of the Socialist Labor party outside his door. Barnwell, whose home was at 625 Keep avenue, Elgin, Ill., became interested in radical doctrines. He discovered the program of the labor party was not strong enough for him, so he began to study communist literature.

FLOYD BARNWELL.

His radical talk reached the head office and an official of the company called him for a talk. He told Barnwell that he could discuss socialism all he wanted around the plant, but that if he persisted in advocating communism he would have to leave, since communism advocated sabotage, strikes, and armed revolution.

Goes to Russia to Investigate.

Barnwell said he would resign and suggested that this official put up the money to send him to Moscow to investigate conditions first hand. To his surprise his offer was taken up and he was given $160, which he invested in a round ticket trip to Russia.

After spending two years there Barnwell has arrived in Riga, penniless and half starved. He had been forced to sell his clothes, his books and his instruments for food. During his two year visit he lost 35 pounds and developed stomach trouble and a nasty cough.

Barnwell said that upon his arrival in Moscow he went to work for the Giprovato (state institute for designing autos and tractors) as a draftsman designer at a salary of 300 rubles ($150) per month. He married a girl also employed by the institute.

Food Becomes Scarce.

"Last autumn," Barnwell said, "food conditions in Moscow became critical and I was deprived of my foreign specialist food book. Our combined salaries could not purchase enough food and, as my wife was expecting a baby, we decided to go to Samarkand to live with her mother.

"This 2,000 mile journey lasted six days and nights. Our car was so crowded with people that men were sleeping in the baggage racks. Bedbugs were plentiful. Very little food could be purchased at the stations and a glass of sour milk cost 50 cents.

"Everybody watched his baggage, for the conductors permitted homeless children to ride without tickets and they stole whatever they could lay their hands on. I had not seen many homeless children in Moscow. There the authorities arrest them and they disappear. But we saw many of them in the south.

Find Woman Starving.

"At Samarkand we found my wife's mother occupying three rooms with her son and her mother, who was over 70 and slowly starving to death. We had brought our savings with us from Moscow and they began to melt quickly because of the extremely high cost of food. I obtained a job with the Samarkand branch of the Soviet Transport trust.

"In Samarkand I learned what it felt like to be hungry all the time. All our meals consisted of boiled vegetables and bread. One night the old grandmother, whose cheeks were beginning to puff with starvation, got up and ate the remains of the soup which we were saving for breakfast. I wrote in my diary that I thought my mother-in-law was trying to starve her own mother to death in order to have more food for the family. My wife discovered what I had written and I noticed they began to feed the old woman more.

"Famine became more and more evident. On the outskirts of the town they found a box containing the body of a man which looked as though it had been prepared for food. It had been neatly butchered and carefully packed. The town recalled how a year previously two women had been arrested for selling sausage made of human flesh in the local market.

"The baby arrived and my wife had to have milk. We bought a quart every other day and it cost us $1.50. We saw that our position was hopeless.

"After days of discussion, I decided to go to Moscow and see if I could not find some way to leave Russia. My return trip ticket to America had been either lost or stolen in Moscow. My wife agreed that it would be better for both of us, so in January I returned to Moscow.

Gets Job as Carpenter.

"There I obtained a job as carpenter and began to save money for a ticket to Riga. Seasonal workers in Moscow have few privileges. We were housed in large barracks with no conveniences.

"The Moscow bread ration is larger and I received two pounds each day and also the privilege to purchase one meal daily at the communal restaurant, which consisted of soup with grits, porridge with a teaspoonful of grease and occasionally a fishball. We received meat twice each month in the form of hash.

"Moscow has a number of huge factories which employ from 20,000 to 30,000 men. Although their bread rations were the same as ours their daily meal is much better.

"The workers in these factories know they are receiving special rations and the price they pay for this special treatment is to support the soviet régime. They are drilled regularly by army officers and are expected to assist the special G. P. U. army in case of an uprising.

"The soviet claim that they have no unemployed in Russia is just as untrue as their claim that their workers are not starving. Today there are tens of thousands of unemployed in Russia. They are reducing staffs in all factories and the prevailing belief in Russia is that the government wishes to use the unemployed as a threat against the employed, who know they will lose their bread cards when they lose their jobs."

DEMANDS ITALY FORSAKE TRADE WITH RUSSIANS

Writer Advises Turning to Other Lands.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, April 2.—Italy's commercial accord with Soviet Russia expires within a few weeks and the question is raised here whether the Fascist government should renew or augment its guarantee to Italian manufacturers of 75 per cent on exports to Russia.

Apparently some industrialists want a larger guarantee than 75 per cent because of reports circulating here that the soviet's financial status is worse than last year.

Signor Roberto Farinacci's review, "Vita Italiana," examining trade figures for the years from 1928 to 1932, concludes that it would not be a wise plan for Italy to increase the guarantee on exports to Russia.

Seek Markets Elsewhere.

It demands that the Italian government, "after having taken into consideration the internal situation of the soviet union and its policy toward foreign countries, rendered still more perilous since the advent of the Hitler government in Germany, should turn its attention toward other states of eastern Europe," and notably toward Poland.

The 75 per cent guarantee to Italian exporters was first put into effect in 1930, and while it led to an immediate increase in the volume of trade with Russia, the benefits appear to have been largely on the Russian side.

For 1930 the sum of $10,270,000 was devoted to establishing this insurance export credit; the next year it was raised to $17,972,500. Delays in Russian payments ran from 9 to 36 months.

Balance in Russia's Favor.

According to Italian figures Russian exports to Italy, mainly coal and wheat, in 1928 amounted to $11,451,050; in 1930 they jumped to $28,447,000; declined in 1931 to $26,239,850, and fell back to $13,351,000 in 1932.

On the other hand, Italian exports to Russia, mostly machines and instruments, were but $4,313,400 in 1928; then $5,404,450 in 1930; increased to $1,891,500 in 1931, and dropped to $13,915,850 in 1932.

[All figures are computed according to the current U. S. exchange value of the lira, 5.13½ cents.]

MONTREAL HUNTS INCENDIARIES IN NEW CHURCH FIRE

MONTREAL, April 2.—(AP)—Blazing papers were found this morning in the cellar of St. James basilica. The fire was extinguished without difficulty. A week ago St. Jacques le Mineur, a historic Montreal church, was destroyed by fire believed of incendiary origin.

Last Wednesday, it was learned today, another of Montreal's churches, St. Edouard's, also was menaced by fire. A watchman found a burning bundle of newspapers in a confession box. No damage was done.

A milkman reported to police that early this morning he saw a man jumping from the roof of a low wing of St. James basilica and join another man on the ground. All day members of the arson squad sought unsuccessfully to trace the alleged incendiaries, of whom a description was obtained.

The basilica has been closely watched for a week. The regular night man passed through the cellar ten minutes before the blaze. Guards were placed by the city police on all Roman Catholic churches today.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN DIES.

Hillsboro, Ill., April 2.—[Special.]—Simeon C. St. John, 85, prominent member of the F. D. Hubbell, G. A. R. post of Hillsboro, died here this morning. He served throughout the civil war in the 47th Missouri infantry.

DETECTIVE CHIEF CUTS COMEDY AT POLICE SHOWUP

The detective bureau saw its first silent showup yesterday, with Chief of Detectives Schoemaker in the rôle of a drill sergeant who marshaled 205 suspects, including four women, across the platform before a crowd of about the same number of victims of crime.

Previous showups have taken on at times the aspect of a vaudeville performance, with police and suspects indulging in wise cracks to the amusement of the spectators. Tickets to the showups were eagerly sought by spectators who had not been victims of crimes, but merely wished to attend for the entertainment. The showups usually lasted all afternoon.

Chief Schoemaker started eliminating the entertainment features a month ago, when he barred all spectators except victims of robberies or other crimes. Yesterday, the first time he had been actively in charge of the showup, the parade of suspects was finished in an hour and ten minutes.

He eliminated the reading of prisoners' records, holding that the victims were there merely to make identifications. At his sharp commands the prisoners marched onto the platform in squads, turned slowly about, and then marched off.

Want to Look Young?

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They help bring about the natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c, 60c.

Confer Today on Plot to Force Sales.

cause the gangsters could demand larger and larger commissions under threat to take their customers to a different brewery.

In announcing his determination to eliminate the hoodlum element from the beer industry Mr. Courtney said:

"I am advocating a law requiring the publication each six months of the names of all owners of brewery stock. No men of criminal or shady reputation are to be permitted to have a financial interest in a brewery if we can prevent it. Through the power to license we have the power to control the personnel of those engaging in the beer business."

U. S. Scanning Applications.

E. C. Yellowley, in charge of federal brewery permits, said he is scanning every application and that the application of any one known to have engaged in bootlegging or to have a criminal reputation will be rejected. There are at present only seven breweries in Chicago licensed to make 3.2 beer, he said.

"Applicants for a brewery license must submit to a rigorous investigation, financial as well as character, and they must submit blue prints of their plants together will all posible information regarding their intentions," Mr. Yellowley said." We'll investigate them from top to bottom. So far we have had 55 requests for application blanks but only the five formal applications have been filed. Every one of the seven places now licensed is a reputable concern which has been making near beer."

Plan Frequent Inspections.

Mr. Courtney said he plans to have frequent inspections of every place in the county holding a retail beer license. By such means it can soon be determined, he said, which places are dealing in legal beer and which use an illegal product.

Last week several restaurant owners said they had been visited by Leonard Boltz, who has been one of the beer gangsters of the northwest side. Boltz was said to have represented himself as the agent of a Milwaukee brewery for which he was taking orders by the usual gangster method—intimidation. Mr. Courtney announced last night this phase of the business would bear careful scrutiny—that is, breweries outside the city using threats to get business here.

Prosecutor Courtney said he hopes to have "an understanding" regarding the beer business before the 3.2 brew goes on sale next Friday.

Celebration to Go On.

Meanwhile, developments yesterday indicated that the all-night celebration of the return of legal beer probably will go on as originally planned, despite the proposal of the Chicago Hotel association on Saturday that the breweries deliver no beer before 7 a. m. Friday. The 3.2 beer law becomes effective at 12:01 a. m. Friday.

At a meeting of the Illinois Brewers' association in the offices of the Prima Brewing company the suggestion of the hotel men was discussed and it was decided to leave the matter of midnight beer deliveries to the individual brewers. Most of the breweries, spokesmen declared, will begin making deliveries immediately after 12:01 because of the great volume of orders already received.

Hotel Men to Meet Again.

The Chicago Hotel association will meet today to decide upon a plan of action, in view of the brewers' decision to make midnight deliveries. Several hotel men said yesterday they would be forced to sell beer as soon as it is received if other establishments are selling it.

"I cannot speak for the hotel association until we have our meeting," said John Burke, manager of the Congress hotel and president of the association. "But, speaking for the Congress hotel, I am certain that we will sell beer as soon as we get it if the breweries deliver it that night and the restaurants and night clubs sell it."

Anton Laadt, general manager of the Atlas Brewing company, said his company had already received orders for more than 100,000 cases, to be delivered as soon as possible, and that it would be necessary to start deliveries at 12:01 a. m. Friday to catch up with the orders by Saturday night.

"We don't want to force beer upon anybody," said Mr. Laadt, "and we'd much rather wait until the next day to start deliveries. But the public demands it at once."

Hilmar F. Ernst, head of the Prima Brewing company and president of the Brewers' association, said his company's orders at present total more than 200,000 cases, all calling for immediate delivery—"the first load if possible."

The request of the hotel association was based upon its contention that a riotous reception of beer would give it a black eye.

WATERWAY GETS WISCONSIN TRAFFIC

3 BARGES FROM MILWAUKEE PASS INTO WATERWAY

Three barges of the Edward E. Gillen company of Milwaukee, loaded with marine equipment and in tow of a tug, left the mouth of the Chicago river at 10 a. m. yesterday for Winona, Minn., by way of the newly completed Illinois waterway.

The Milwaukee company has a government contract at Winona and the voyage of its equipment represents the first cargo from the great lakes to the upper Mississippi through the Illinois water artery. That the freight from Milwaukee should make the first voyage is regarded as ironical because that city furnished the leading opponents to the Illinois waterway and diversion of water from Lake Michigan. They contended that the waterway would not be feasible and would not attract freight.

MICHIGAN VOTES TODAY ON REPEAL OF U.S. DRY ACT

Detroit, Mich., April 2.—(AP)—Michigan voters—an estimated 900,000 of them—will mark their ballots tomorrow with the knowledge that they are the first in the nation to render a verdict on retention or repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

GOV. W. A. COMSTOCK.

Voting as they will be on the clear cut issue of whether their respective legislative districts shall be represented at the April 10 convention by delegates pledged to support or oppose the repeal amendment, the electorate will have determined the state's position by Tuesday morning.

On the eve of the election Gov. William A. Comstock said that Michigan's decision would determine the ultimate fate of national prohibition.

Wisconsin Votes Tuesday.

Madison, Wis., April 2.—[Special.]—Wisconsin on Tuesday will elect delegates to attend a convention April 25 to pass on repeal of the prohibition amendment. Dry leaders concede that the state will go for repeal.

STATE TO HOLD O'HARA DESPITE CORONER'S JURY

Prosecution of Ralph O'Hara, organizer for the Motion Picture Operators union, charged with the murder of Fred Ower, rebel member of the union, will proceed regardless of the coroner's jury verdict of "justifiable homicide," Assistant State's Attorney Charles S. Dougherty said yesterday.

O'Hara's case will be called in the Felony court this morning and the question of bail will be brought up. Mr. Dougherty said another case will prevent his acting against O'Hara at once so that a continuance will be asked.

ITALIAN SPIES ON FRENCH FRONTIER EYE NEW FORTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NICE, France, April 2.—While thousands of tons of earth and rock are being displaced along France's eastern frontier by Italian workers in order to safeguard French territory from an eventual invasion, Italian spies are actively trying to obtain all possible information on the new fortifications.

Despite many protests and warnings issued in the Alpes-Maritimes by officials and French idle, contractors as well as military authorities are still employing Italian laborers and foremen because they do the work at half the salary French workers demand.

Paradise for Spies.

This has given an opportunity to the Italian secret service to obtain valuable information from a strategic point of view. While sentries watch strategic roads in the lower Alps and all along the border to keep away too inquisitive tourists, real spies are right on the spot taking notes and figures on points of military interest and smuggle the data through the border.

The building of a chain of concrete redoubts and underground fortresses which began several years ago is being actively pushed through. At Breil, Fontan, Saorge, and Bollene, on top of mountains overlooking strategic roads in the valleys of the Tinée and Vésubie, hundreds of laborers are employed. Three-fourths of them are Italians. The rest are Moroccans or Algerians.

Make Copies Easily.

The plans are being given by the military authorities to the contractor, who turns them over to the foremen. If one of them is a spy he can easily make copies of the documents and smuggle them into Italy. Two masons who were recently arrested at Mont Flaut were found in possession of ten sketches which they intended to smuggle across the frontier.

The exact disposition of these new lines of fortifications based on the principle of large fortified positions like that of Verdun before the war is naturally kept a close secret. This explains the persistent efforts made by foreign agents to obtain information. A serious inquiry is being conducted by the French special police to find the accomplices of the two Italian laborers. The latter have been imprisoned in Nice.

DECIDE DATE OF WORLD ECONOMIC PARLEY TODAY

Davis to Hold Final Talk with MacDonald.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 2.—The date of the world economic conference will be fixed in all probability at a meeting tomorrow between Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large, Prime Minister MacDonald, and other members of the British cabinet. Davis communicated extensively with the American state department yesterday and today.

The ambassador at large sent a report to Washington yesterday which brought a fresh batch of instructions this morning and caused Davis to spend most of the day working.

May Meet Next Month.

It was indicated tonight that the conference would be called to meet in London late in May or early in June. All possibility of the meeting being held in Washington seems to have disappeared. This idea was placed before high authorities in Washington during the last week, but apparently President Roosevelt did not favor the change of venue any more than the British, especially since MacDonald is to preside.

Davis will be busy tomorrow cleaning up before he leaves for Paris Tuesday. He will see the French and German ambassadors and also has an appointment with Arthur Henderson, chairman of the disarmament conference, after his talk with MacDonald. Henderson will be interviewed solely on disarmament matters.

Debts Isolated.

It seems settled that debts are farther removed from the economic parley than ever. They will apparently be dealt with in Washington. This removes the possibility that revisionists might be housed next door to the economic conference delegates.

Ambassador Davis will see the heads of the French cabinet Wednesday. As soon as his business there is completed, he plans to go to Berlin. The Germans have indicated that they are ready to talk disarmament with him. As soon as that visit is concluded he will return to London, probably within a week or ten days.

Appeals to Civic Consciousness.

"Air pollution from smoke is a constant menace to every resident of the city," said Mr. Chambers, "and its smear of grime and dirt upon buildings and elsewhere is a distinct loss to reputation and evidence of ignorance or carelessness and disregard of public welfare and progress. This destructive and costly pall of smoke hanging over our city during the winter months is a handicap to civic development, and the efforts to abate it should receive the coöperation of every one interested in civic welfare."

The violators cited into Chambers' office are given instructions in the proper methods of firing furnaces to avoid the emission of smoke and warned that on a second violation suit will be started in the Municipal court summarily to abate the nuisance.

FILIPINO WOMAN BURIED ALIVE BY SECRET SOCIETY

Martinez, Cal., April 2.—(AP).—The body of a young Filipino woman who, authorities here said, was buried alive by members of a secret society was exhumed today from a grave on Jersey island in the San Joaquin river, 40 miles from here.

Leon Kantinello, 40, Jersey island labor camp foreman, and half a dozen other Filipino men and women were arrested for questioning.

Officers declared they had secured confessions that the young woman, identified as Mrs. Céline Novarro, 26, was pushed into the grave which had been prepared for her the night of Nov. 19 after being accused of unfaithfulness to her sick husband.

Kantinello, authorities said, admitted knowledge of the burial and told them it was he who ordered the grave dug.

"It was justice," he was quoted as declaring.

Deputy sheriffs from Martinez and Stockton were led to the grave last night by Pablo Busbriuante, Filipino.

Busbriuante, the officers said, reported the burial of the young woman following a quarrel with Kantinello.

Among those arrested were Eustaquio Cadog and Espridion Kang, who allegedly prepared the grave.

Cadog was quoted as saying a woman member of the secret society pushed Mrs. Novarro into the grave after a desperate struggle and then threw in the first shovelful of dirt.

Frances Perkins Asks Facts as U. S. Secretary of Labor

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.

Washington, D. C., April 2.—[Special.]—Frances Perkins was about to hold her first Washington press conference. Her representative, telephoning the information to the newspaper offices, added this plea:

"Please don't send a feature writer."

Straightaway news. That's the way the new secretary of labor wants to be treated. Never as a feminine feature. True, she has walked into history as the first woman cabinet officer in the United States; but she hopes her history will say it with facts, not flowers.

Wife of Statistician.

She's keen about statistics, when they are keen. She has no use for sloppy surveys; nor for the "I have a friend who has a cousin whose next door neighbor said" type of calculation. Maybe the reason she's so devoted to scientific statistics is because she's married to a statistician, Prof. Paul Wilson. Or maybe she was attracted to the statistician because—well, it's really none of our business.

Quiz her about wages or unemployment and she'll talk for an hour. Ask her what's her favorite salad and she'll become as Boston as the brown bag she carries.

She is Boston, you know; born there 51 years ago the 10th of this month. Her father taught her Greek; had misgivings about daughter being a sociologist; thought teaching more traditional.

Teacher in Lake Forest.

So "Perk" got her diploma from Mount Holyoke college in 1902 and went off to teach a year at Lake Forest college, in Illinois. The summer vacation found her at Hull house. On to New York and the tragedy that was a turning point. She saw 146 girls burned to death in a factory fire; crusaded for fire prevention laws; became a sociologist. On to a place in New York state's industrial commission; up to the chief's seat; then on to Washington and into history.

That's the story of the woman who stood up before the house labor committee the other day and said to its chairman, "but, sir, I don't believe that; you see, it doesn't make sense."

When she had finished her testimony in defense of the President's reforestation relief bill Senator Louis Murphy, Democrat, lately come from Iowa, turned to me and whispered, "she certainly wound up that ball of yarn nice."

What She Looks Like.

What does she look like? First of all, you notice her eyes; large and brown. What hair you glimpse beneath the now famous black felt tricorne hat is brown and slightly curly. Of medium height and a bit plump, she dresses well, usually in black, with a dab of white in the right places. When she reads she wears horn rimmed glasses. When she talks she twirls the glasses; yes, and drops them every now and then.

She wears no wedding ring, but the circles beneath her astonishingly lovely eyes are due to worry over the recent illness of her husband. "A chivalrous, unselfish" gentleman is the way she describes him. She attributes much of her success to his aid and advice; much of it to daughter Suzannah, now away at school, who "never gave me any trouble."

Socially, she's very simple. The other day the Jouett Shouses asked her to come over to tea and set the date. She said she'd be glad to; thought it was merely a friendly cup of tea in front of the fire. She never read the society columns filled with paragraphs about the party, with the wife of an ambassador to pour, and so on. The morning of the party she went to work in a plain black gown.

Reception Is Surprise.

A friend, resplendent in manicure and marcel, fluttered into the office, pulled out an engraved invitation "in honor of the secretary of labor." Miss Perkins was surprised. She was more surprised when she went to the reception, found that hundreds of Washington's most celebrated stood in line to shake her hand.

And listen to this. On inauguration day the new cabinet was assembled in the Lincoln study at the White House, preparatory to being sworn in.

But they couldn't find the secretary of labor. Dispatches were sent in all directions. Finally they located her, standing patiently, unimportantly, in a long line, waiting to shake hands with Mrs. Roosevelt.

"They told me to stand here," she explained.

Do you know any other secretary of labor who could get the confidence of a day laborer and yet pronounce been as if it were spelled bean?

NEW CENSORSHIP REPLACES OLD ON LITHUANIAN PRESS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KAUNAS, Lithuania, April 2.—Lithuanian editors, who have been fighting for freedom of the press from military censorship ever since 1926, were surprised yesterday by a government announcement that the censorship would be canceled.

After reading the proclamation, however, editors privately expressed the opinion that the government had played an April fool's joke upon them, for the only difference is that hereafter the censorship takes place after instead of before publication.

The decree forbids publishing news harmful to the state and the army, any articles and pictures directed against the state, anything inciting one group of the population against another, anything leading to disrespect of the government orders and anything offending religious feeling, public morals or public officials. Military authorities retain the power to confiscate publications.

Visitors Riot in Prison Yard; Try to Free 90 Reds

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 2.—(AP)—A riot broke out in the Santiago city jail today when friends and relatives who went there to visit ninety imprisoned communists attempted to overpower the guards. A guard was struck as the crowd attempted to liberate their friends. A riot call brought out all the prison guards and the disturbance was quieted with no escapes. One visitor was gravely hurt.

FRAUD CHARGED IN EVANSTON'S MAYORAL FIGHT

ployed, Mr. Dryden said, and his report was taken to Mr. Dyche, who said he would have to see actual evidence, that an affidavit was just an affidavit. Another investigator was employed, and the result was a report, backed by the disputed affidavit and published in the pamphlet circulated by the Penfield forces. The report alleged the existence of between 200 and 300 booze resorts in Evanston.

Then Mr. Dyche told the Penfield supporters, they say, that he would do nothing until after the election, but that if Mayor Bartlett were elected he would lay before him "the facts gathered against Chief Freeman" and ask that the chief's reappointment be withheld pending a thorough investigation.

Penfield Now City Treasurer.

Some of the supporters of Mr. Penfield, who is now city treasurer, including Mr. Dryden, Perkins B. Bass, real estate man; Joseph W. Badenoch, grain dealer and member of the Chicago Board of Trade; Harold H. Anderson, president, and George A. Fry, vice president of the Northwestern Alumni association, and Merle Slane, publisher of the Evanston News-Index, last night explained that they are in full sympathy with Mr. Dyche's position in desiring to wait until after the election to make the investigation. They merely want the people of Evanston "know the facts," it was said, and that is why the circulars were distributed.

The campaign, which closes tonight, is of prime interest to students and alumni of the university. Mayor Bartlett's literature says he was a classmate at Northwestern of Walter Dill Scott, the president of the university. The Penfield forces produced a letter which they declare the mayor wrote to the alumni association three years ago, asking them not to bother him any more, for he owed his allegiance to Cornell, from which he was graduated.

Mrs. Henrietta Nye, 57 years old, died yesterday in her home at 639 West 43d street of injuries received in a fall five weeks ago.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF M. V. L. ON CANDIDATES FOR 5 COUNCIL SEATS

The recommendations of the Municipal Voters' league on candidates for aldermen in tomorrow's run-off election in five wards are as follows:

6. Ald. John F. Healy.
9. Vote for Beck or Lindell.
18. Ald. Walter W. Morris.
41. Oliver W. Holmes.
47. Ald. John J. Hoellen.

In these five wards no candidate received a majority of all the votes cast for alderman, necessitating the run-off elections between the two candidates who received the highest and the next highest number of votes.

CONCLAVE OF ALL CELTIC PEOPLES ALARMS FRENCH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BREST, France, April 2.—The autonomist movement in Brittany—not to mention other Celtic areas—is expected to receive a fresh and vigorous impetus next July when a "Celtic International" will be organized here. French governmental quarters which were disturbed by recent autonomist manifestations view the coming convention with alarm.

Ireland, Wales, the Isle of Man, Scotland, as well as Brittany will send delegates, and the Celts of America have also been invited to attend.

The purpose of the "International" will be to revive Celtic culture, resurrect Celtic ceremonies, legends and folklore, and generally to revivify the Celtic spirit. The official language will be Breton, which, it is said, can be understood by persons who know Gaelic.

PLAN COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE WOMEN'S WAGES

Organization of a movement to investigate stories of insufficient wages paid to working women in Chicago will be effected today at a meeting of representatives of large civic bodies to be held at 2 p. m. in the Council of Social Agencies headquarters, 203 North Wabash avenue. The Chicago agitation is similar in scope and aim to that initiated in the east by Frances Perkins, now secretary of labor.

One preliminary meeting was held recently, it was learned yesterday, at which it was determined to form a committee to take up the matter. The sponsoring group is the Woman's Trade Union League of Chicago, which appointed a committee on wages, and discovered that industrial conditions generally required attention and improvement.

You see knives flash from the magician's hand and plunge into the board, framing the girl so closely that she cannot move.

Here is one way the blindfold knife throw is done: The knife thrower lets the knife go over his shoulder into the wings. The knife that you see quivering beside the girl is another knife. The girl standing against the board presses at the right place and a knife is sprung from behind the board into position.

It's fun to be fooled— ...it's more fun to KNOW

A clever trick employed in cigarette advertising is the illusion that manufacturing processes account for mildness in a cigarette.

EXPLANATION: All popular cigarettes are made in much the same way. Cigarettes vary greatly in mildness because they vary greatly in the quality of tobaccos used. Mildness, as well as character and good taste, depends upon the quality of tobaccos used.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

This is the most important statement ever made in a cigarette advertisement. Weigh its words. Consider what it means. Smoke Camels critically and learn to appreciate what costlier tobaccos can mean to you in mildness, in throat-ease . . . in added pleasure! Other cigarettes, we believe, will taste flat and insipid to you forever after.

ITALY'S 4-POWER PEACE PLAN WINS FAVOR IN PARIS

French Cabinet to Study British Redraft.

PARIS, April 2.—(AP)—The Mussolini four power peace plan was said in official quarters tonight to be gaining ground as it was undergoing modification.

[A new draft of the plan was said to have been delivered yesterday to Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour by Lord William Tyrrell, British ambassador to France. The new draft was said to be based on British views. Paul-Boncour in turn handed the draft to Premier Daladier.]

The French government was still divided on the question, but the premier was understood to be more friendly to the plan as Prime Minister MacDonald of Great Britain and Premier Mussolini contributed concessions to the French views.

[France and her eastern allies of the little entente — Czechoslovakia, Jugo-Slavia, and Rumania—have expressed disfavor of some phases of the plan, particularly as concerns treaty revision.]

Confers with President.

The premier today conferred with President Lebrun on the British redraft in a special Sunday audience. The cabinet will consider the draft tomorrow and, if after further negotiations the plan is adopted, it is believed the premiers will go to Rome to sign the pact with Il Duce.

Foreseeing a possible failure of the disarmament conference, the government spokesman said the British, through Lord Tyrrell, yesterday inserted a general outline for armaments whereby German equality would be granted more slowly than was originally contemplated.

The changes said to have been contained in the British redraft were believed to concern that section of the Mussolini plan which provided that France, Italy and Great Britain, in the event of failure of full disarmament, would pledge a gradual realization of German, Hungarian, Bulgarian and Austrian equality.

Opposed by Little Entente.

MacDonald in his recent disarmament proposal at Geneva suggsted an army of 200,000 men for Germany, and reductions in the French and Italian forces to the same number, with, however, a French overseas force of 200,000 and an Italian overseas force of 50,000. The 200,000 figure for Germany would be twice the maximum number set by the treaty of Versailles.

The little entente, through Nicholas Titulescu, Rumanian foreign minister, has expressed opposition to the plan.

Henry de Jouvenel, French ambassador to Italy, who has come here for conferences with government officials, has been counteracting the little entente view by quoting Mussolini as holding that the pact would give Germany no further rights to treaty revision than it has through the league of nations, within which the pacts would operate.

The little entente, however, contends that advocacy of revision by the big powers, even if they were outvoted, would give Germany moral support that might encourage a resort to arms.

BILL ASKS RIGHT FOR STATE TO SUE U.S. GOVERNMENT

Measure Introduced for West Virginia.

Washington, D. C., April 2.—(AP)—A movement which not only affects the soil which is Illinois, but would also make it possible for that state to sue the federal government at any time, has been launched in congress by Representative Ramsay [Dem., W. Va.].

Ramsay introduced a bill asking permission for his state to sue the United States for approximately $4,000,000.

The measure is based upon an old Virginia grant of land to the federal government back in 1784—the land since becoming Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, and other northwestern states.

The $4,000,000, the bill sets forth, represents money due West Virginia under the terms of a deed to the Northwest territory.

Deed Provisions Cited.

The deed, Ramsay said, provided that the territory, exclusive of a part equal in value to the debt of Virginia assumed by the federal government and of lands given as bounties to revolutionary soldiers, "shall be considered as a common fund for the use and benefit" of the states then belonging to the confederation, "according to their usual respective proportions."

"Whereas after accepting said deed with the conditions as aforesaid," his bill sets forth, "the said congress of the United States donated many of these lands and much of the proceeds thereof to purely local purposes not contemplated by the deed of cession, but actually contrary to its terms, and that by reason of such conveyance there has become due to the state of West Virginia more than four millions of dollars."

Land Valued at 80 Million.

Ramsay said that the appraisal of the land by the government at the time it was given away was $80,000,000. Virginia's share of this, he said, was computed at $13,000,000. Land in Illinois sold at $2 an acre, he said.

The $4,000,000 figure claimed for West Virginia, he continued, was in proportion to the percentage of the bonded indebtedness of Virginia prior to the civil war for which West Virginia was held liable in a Supreme court decision in the Virginia debt case.

Under the present law, Ramsay said, no state may sue the federal government in such a matter. This law, however, would set up a precedent.

Better Times Awaited by Circus.

Lancaster, Mo., April 2.—(AP)—Lancaster's idle include 29 elephants, a hyena, a jaguar, a cougar, a black bear, 11 camels, an elk, a bow-legged midget mule, and some ponies.

They are housed in gray barns in and around which are gaudily colored circus wagons, three "big tops," candy stands, trapeze guys, silk and velvet costumes of crimson and yellow, amply provided with gold braid.

The collection is retained by Hall's son, Billy Jr., in hopes that better days are just ahead for the tent show business.

Far from cheering throngs, S. F. Huntley, trainer, busies himself with such jobs as teaching a baby elephant and a pony to dance.

An unusual observation in a motor car age is made by Diamond Billy's widow, Mrs. William Preston Hall, in commenting that the family planned later to go into the horse business exclusively.

"The demand for horses is increasing," she said. "Thousands of people are going back to ten acre tracts. They will need horses."

Diamond Billy began buying stock before he was 20. He took a personal pride in large deals. Given an order to provide 300 horses for a cavalry charge in a Boer war scene at the St. Louis World's fair in 1904, he not only took the stock there, but helped train the horses.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

COUNCIL DEMOCRATS HAVE THE SAY.

Republicans in the Illinois legislature yielded to reason, to considerations of public security, and to their own sense of the general welfare in Chicago when they finally permitted the Democrats to have their emergency act giving the council the authority to elect a mayor for the unexpired term of Anton J. Cermak. They could have stood out upon the pretense, or it might even have been said the conviction, that they were protecting the people of Chicago from the dictatorship of organized politics and were giving them unimpaired their right to elect a mayor by their own ballots. They yielded to arguments which went above partisan politics and contributed the votes which make the council's authority effective now.

The responsibility at once turns to the other side of the fence. It had been upon the Republicans not to obstruct what was generally regarded as the only way out of the city's political emergency. It is now upon the Democrats to make good in the duty which is at their door. They control the city council. It need not, but it probably does, follow that the new mayor will be a Democrat. That is no limitation upon the character and ability of the man to be found. The council Democrats can find a high grade man, and the Republicans, by retiring from the popular position they held, have put the spotlight on their political opponents to prove that the fears of a rotten outcome were unjustified.

It is not an unwise grant of authority if the action taken by virtue of it is wise and honorable. If it isn't, if it isn't such action as can be justified by its outcome, temporary political advantages growing out of trickery or betrayal of the city's interests will be swamped by the condemnation speedily to follow. It's a reasonable conjecture that the Democratic leaders have all this in mind.

PROTECTING THE INVESTOR.

The bill to safeguard investors, recently introduced in congress, is, in the main, acceptable, at least as regards securities to be issued in future. The bill may be criticized, perhaps, as an invasion of the rights of states to regulate the sale of securities within their borders, but it must be conceded by those who take that position that state regulation has not been wholly or even nearly satisfactory, and, further, that nothing in the bill prevents a state from imposing any additional regulations that it desires. If the bill constitutes an unwarranted extension of the powers of the federal government there is, at any rate, a good deal more justification for this extension of the meaning of the interstate commerce clause than for a good many other laws which find their validity in the same provision of the constitution.

The bill, if enacted, will not do away with all forms of frenzied finance and fraud. No law can do that. Many crooks will continue to be crooks even when the penalties are increased. There never was a law which could not be evaded by sharp practice and sharp lawyers, and this one, copper-riveted though it appears to be, will prove no exception. The proposed law can serve, however, to prevent many of the grosser impositions on those investors whose cupidity is matched only by their simple faith. It may also teach some investment bankers a few of the neglected fundamentals of their business, such as the desirability of investigating the credit records of borrowers and the physical security behind stocks and bonds.

It is assumed, of course, that the administration of the law will be reasonably competent and honest. This is a large assumption not warranted by the experience of the state governments in security regulation and not warranted by a knowledge of the workings of the federal government. The federal government which has just repudiated the gold clause of its own interest-bearing notes can hardly hold itself up as the arbiter of rectitude in investment matters. The congress which until a few days ago showed itself unwilling to balance its own budget is scarcely the perfect instrument for devising protections for the citizen against wildcat financiering.

One provision of the bill is particularly disturbing in this connection. Securities of domestic and foreign corporations and of foreign governments are to be subjected to the provisions of the bill, but the securities of the United States government and of the governments of the states and their subdivisions are immune. Perhaps these exemptions are imposed by constitutional restraints upon the activities of the federal government, but from the viewpoint of the investor who expects to be safeguarded by the new securities law the provision is unfortunate. With more and more of the savings of the country being placed in just these governmental securities, the importance of protecting the investor in them increases.

Surely the investor deserves as much protection from repudiating states as he does from repudiating private corporations. Surely the investor in the bonds of the sanitary district, the west park board, or a depopulated Florida town is no less a loser when these governments default than is the investor in any other defaulted issue. The same bankers who thrust expensive loans upon the banana and mosquito republics did not overlook the opportunity to make commissions on municipal bonds issued to extend sewers and pavements far beyond the probable limits of growth of American cities.

If the exemption of national, state, and municipal bonds is allowed to stand it is possible that the shady bankers and brokers will concentrate in this field. That would be a curious result indeed of a law devised to protect the investor.

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR SENATOR LEWIS.

President Roosevelt has intimated that any rivers and harbors projects included in his public works program will have to pay for themselves. If the government spends any money to improve a waterway tolls will be charged with a view to repaying the treasury and the taxpayers for the outlay.

The principle announced is a sound one because it will prevent the squandering of public money on a lot of useless works. It is to be hoped that the new doctrine will be applied first of all to the most conspicuous of the government's present building projects, Boulder dam, and then to the even more costly St. Lawrence seaway provided for in the pending treaty with Canada. It is too late to prevent all the waste on behalf of southern California, but fortunately no work has yet been done on the St. Lawrence seaway.

Few observers ever believed that Boulder dam would pay for itself in spite of the provision that contracts for the sale of power had to be signed before the work on the dam was started. The dam, it becomes more apparent every day, is being built by the federal government in order to provide southern California towns with a domestic water supply at federal expense. The appropriation was a payment for political support in California and it didn't even succeed in being that because California refused to stay bought.

The St. Lawrence project is not quite so patently out of the pork barrel. Some people sincerely think that the country will be repaid for the outlay, though what basis they may have for so believing it is not easy to discover. No adequate study of the economic aspects of the seaway was ever made by public authorities and such studies as were made have been rendered obsolete by the economic trend of the last few years. A seaway devised primarily to carry our wheat into foreign markets can hardly be expected to pay when foreign nations raise prohibitive restrictions against our wheat. A seaway planned to serve world trade becomes a poor investment when almost every nation in the world is engaged in an attempt to stifle imports.

The formula for public works laid down by the President offers a superb opportunity to Senator Lewis to display his oratorical talents on behalf of his party's policy. He should be able to command the attention of his colleagues in congress and convince them of the folly of appropriating for a public work without an adequate preliminary study of the economic justification for the expenditure. If Mr. Lewis will set himself this task he will once again earn the gratitude of his state and of all taxpayers.

SCANDAL SUITS.

The first breach of promise suit has arrived in the Municipal court. The event is not a landmark in public justice. It suggests the prospect of an extension of enterprise in this dubious field of litigation which the community could better afford to be without. Meanwhile a suit for alienation of affection involving conspicuous figures in the world of Hollywood is attaining the inevitable publicity in the American press. The plaintiff is a man, an engineer, presumably capable of self-support, but he wants money from a popular movie star on the theory that the latter had deprived him of the affections of a former wife. In spite of the laceration for which he wants a cash poultice, the plaintiff has married again.

Without suggestion of any opinion upon the legal merits of the suits mentioned or the balance of equities involved, we hope bar leadership will some day take up the whole subject of suits in aid of extortion, blackmail, and scandal and present to the legislature appropriate laws for their limitation, restraint, or abolition. There is an element of the legal profession which will oppose this much needed reform, but it should not and need not prevail. Most of these forms of action are contrary to public policy and are in the great majority of instances an abuse of justice as well as a public scandal. Even those which provide a remedy required by equity and public policy should be better safeguarded from misuse.

The subject should be restudied in the light of experience and in the light of contemporaneous social standards and conditions.

Editorial of the Day

TEST IS TO COME.

[Decatur Herald.]

Even the observers most friendly to the administration, including correspondents like Paul Y. Anderson of the St. Louis Post Dispatch and Norman Hapgood, magazine editor, admit that the Roosevelt "honeymoon" is about over. This means that the President must expect from congress more opposition than he has encountered in his first month in the White House.

The speed with which the banking, beer and economy measures were put through, it was generally realized, could not be maintained. The President's reforestation bill was, in fact, rewritten and a number of changes will be made in his farm relief measure.

Mr. Roosevelt is said to be under no illusions. He knows that that tremendous surge of popular approval which had a great effect on congress will not last indefinitely and he is prepared to accept compromises.

As yet there is no open rebellion against the Roosevelt policies. Indeed, Representative John Q. Tilson, former Republican leader of the house, told a political meeting in Brooklyn last Saturday that Republicans could best display their patriotism by criticizing the administration as little as possible. "We honestly and earnestly hope it will succeed," said Mr. Tilson.

The Connecticut congressman's philosophy, however, is opposed to that of Mr. Roosevelt. "If the government," he said, "stops interfering as soon as it can and lets business alone, recovery will be accelerated." This is the Adam Smith doctrine of the eighteenth century. It ought to be perfectly plain to Mr. Tilson that a government which is trying to save private industry must continue to interfere.

The test of Mr. Roosevelt will come when he begins to develop his ideas with a planned society and encounters the full force of the traditionalists, who, like Mr. Tilson, want business to be let alone even though the logical result of that policy is another collapse.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

COURAGE, MEN! This is the third day of the month. If you've kept any track of the calendar at all you have not failed to notice that when the third day comes around the seventh day invariably follows four days later. At least it always has done so, and we have every reason to believe that in due time the 7th of April will come. Sit tight, hold everything—and wait!

MR. G. BERNARD SHAW'S long promised visit to America does not seem to have attracted very much attention. Time was, and probably time will be, when a visit of G. Bernard to our uncultured shores would have created tremendous excitement, but Mr. Shaw was so unwise as to arrive at the time when Mr. Franklin Delano Roosevelt was just getting into full swing down in Washington. And, mercy sakes, we hardly knew that Mr. Shaw was here—we didn't even look.

SONNET IN APRIL.

Cold creeping stealthily into the night—
Clear night of promise and wakening spring—
Blustering braggart in a mischievous blight,
Leaving a scar and a hurt and a sting;
Leaving a hushed birth that no one will know.
Blossoms too eager, too willing to bloom
Stretching impatient arms out of the snow,
Breathing, bewildered, their premature doom.
What of that soft wind, persuasive and kind,
Whispering of love and of warmth that was near?
Sweet, careless culprit, loitering behind,
Singing a new song that they will not hear.
Buds grown sophisticate, scornful and strong—

JUDY SHEA.

THE BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS was appalled to learn that a million and a half American tourists last year went to France, one million to Switzerland, and only two hundred and seventy-six thousand to England. Some of the British statesmen thought it was because the likker rules in English hotels were too drastic. No, that isn't it. We don't mind telling the house of commons, the king, Ramsay MacDonald or anybody else that wants to listen in. It's because an American tourist, if he goes to England, has got to put his cunning little dog in a hound jail for six months. In France and Switzerland they wecome each and every pooch and ask if he wants a special room and would he like to eat at the table, and does he wish chicken liver at mealtime or sirloin steak. The tide of American travel will never swing from its present course into England until they take down the bars and let our hounds come galloping in. And if the king wants to get sore because we've told him the truth, all right, we can't help it, we have spoken.

YES, BUT WE'VE GOT TO START ALL OVER AGAIN.

Sir: As Mr. Dooley might say, "I see b' the papers" that much joy and hilarity is in prospect in your town on April 6; it requires a very strong imagination, or else an entire lack of one, to envision very much hilarity in front of a soda fountain or sitting down to a table in a room filled with youthful couples drinking beer. Going back a few years, to about the '80s, there were some few places where might be met good cheer, good liquor, good men. There rises in memory Jim McGarry, on Dearborn street; another, Schimpferman, on Madison (Doc used to be in there), for German wines; Jansen, on Washington street; oop by der nordt seidt oudt vas Fehn's, Clark and Erie, and many others.

The men who visited these places were in most instances good company; they were not then looking for a high building to jump from, neither were they trying to get a passport before a U. S. marshal got them. We all worked, did not get high blood pressure on account of high salaries, and we didn't have to kid ourselves that we were having a grand time. And so on. ESS JAY BEE.

"A TEMPLE OF TRANSPORTATION" was opened here today."—Cincinnati news item. And just as we have become gradually accustomed to realtors, movie cathedrals, morticians, and catte shoppes now we've got to call 'em "temples of transportation." Heigho ho! Do you remember the good old days when we just went down to the depot?

AFTER READING the news from Germany we feel mortally insulted if somebody carelessly tells us we belong to the human race. If we were to apply for a passport right now, when we got to the place where it says "Give nationality" we would write Ring Tailed Monkey, Wire Haired Terrier, or Common Hoot Owl. Or we would even be willing to be classed as an Abyssinian Wart Hog, socially repulsive as those animals are. Anyhow, an Abyssinian Wart Hog seems to have it all over humans in some respects, anyhow.

THE SINGER.

The world gave him a sneer
And scorned his foolish dream,
But, dauntless as sincere,
He followed still the gleam;
No place could he adorn
Among the great and strong;
The world gave him its scorn,
He gave the world—a song.

But trouble came to earth
And made all mortals sad;
It stilled the house of mirth,
No spirit then was glad;
Through all that bitter night
Was one whose heart was strong:
They brought him forth with might,

THOMAS CURTIS CLARK.

YES, INDEED, OF COURSE here is the last line as usual. Sorry, but it will cost you three cents extra; sales tax, you know. Thank you. And do not slam the door as you go out! R. H. L.

THE SUNSHINE SPECIAL.

THE United States weather bureau supplies us with some valuable information as to the number of hours of sunshine in the average year in different parts of the world.

Phoenix leads the cities of the United States. It has 3,752 hours of sunshine yearly. This is more than ten hours of sunlight for each day in the year if the sun were to distribute its light evenly among the days. Since the sun is above the horizon less than twelve hours daily for one-half the year the record shows that but little cloud and fog obscure it in any daily travel from eastern to western horizon.

San Diego follows second with 3,049 hours. Tampa has a record of 2,948; Denver, 2,946; San Francisco, 2,878; Bismarck, 2,700; Chicago, 2,632; Washington, 2,598; New York, 2,557; New Orleans, 2,579; Spokane, 2,492; Seattle, 2,022; Honolulu, 2,840; Colon, 2,413; Ancon, 2,155; Toronto, 2,048.

One can readily understand certain places when they rise to complain of being omitted from the list. Such regions as Imperial valley and cities such as Tucson, El Paso, Albuquerque, and Salt Lake City claim a very low annual rainfall, no fogs, few clouds, and perpetual sunshine, and they show figures to prove their claims.

A more general statement, and one that is in accordance with the facts, is that the region of maximum sunshine is the southwest, including southern California (especially east of the coast mountains), Arizona, New Mexico, and western Texas. The region of minimum sunshine is the extreme northwest and especially the coast region.

As a rule, American cities surpass those of Europe in the number of hours of sunshine yearly. Sunshine kills most of the bacteria, yeasts, molds, and fungi exposed to it. In areas of maximum sunshine, other things being equal, the air and the dust come nearer being free from germs than is the case elsewhere.

Another factor is the blanketing effect of clouds. An experience in an industrial valley in Europe proved that clouds can hold polluted air in place until it becomes poisonous. This is especially true of air polluted by chemical fumes, but it is true in some measure of that polluted by microbes.

However, our major interest is in the amount and quality of sunshine in those periods of the year when the supply is least, when the needs are greatest, and when the temperature and wind movement permit men to avail themselves of it.

For several months of the year there is apt to be more sunlight than man needs for purposes other than general sanitation. Suppose we eliminate the five months between May and November. What is the record for hours of sunshine in the remaining seven? Or, is it more to the point that we know the comparative records for the four months—December, January, February, and March—and, besides that, how comfortable was the climate during that period? Was the temperature high enough and the wind slow enough to make life in the open air comfortable? Almost any one anywhere can stay out enough to get sufficient sunshine in November, April, and May.

TANTRUMS.

Mrs. P. writes:

1. I read your reply to Mrs. M. E. G. I know of a similar case where the mother treated her child's temper tantrums as tired tantrums and, acting on that theory, worked a cure in a short time.

2. Is holding the breath dangerous?

REPLY.

1. Fatigue is the cause of tantrums occasionally. In fact, fatigue may cause many and diverse manifestations.

2. It is in a very few cases. However, we must be guided by the rule. If the rare exceptions determine actions, things become illogical and innumerable snarls result.

NERVES.

P. A. M. writes:

1. What kind of shots are put into a person's arm to quiet the nerves? Does the injection carry any drug with it?

2. Is this a good way to quiet the nerves?

REPLY.

1. While many medicines are given hypodermically there is a pretty good chance that morphine is one of the ingredients of the mixture you are asking about.

2. It is not. What is called nerves is a state of mind. The condition which calls for medicine to quiet the nerves is a state of mind. The best procedure for this is to take control of the emotions that are running the machine on the rocks. There are times when physicians are justified in giving mild sedatives to bring the emotions under control. But I doubt if there is ever a time when there is justification for using morphine for that purpose. Certainly they are infrequent.

WAGE ASSIGNMENT.

Chicago, March 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Has a wife the right to sign a wage assignment against her husband's salary without his consent? 2. Can they keep all his wages on a garnishment due to such assignment? W. K.

1. No.

2. There would be no right to do so. We assume that he has not expressly or impliedly authorized or ratified the signature. If the debt was for a family expense then they could take judgment against the husband on this theory and could follow it up with garnishment on his salary in excess of $20 per week. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SMOKE NUISANCE.

Chicago, March 29.—[Friend of the People.]—The smoke from the building next to us on Marquette avenue is a nuisance. Smoke comes into our windows. This could be corrected if a proper smokestack was put up. This has been annoying us for some time, but we have been unable to get it corrected. Can't something be done to make the owner put up a stack? M. W. G.

This complaint has been assigned for immediate investigation and the department will follow up the matter until the smoke nuisance has been entirely abated.

FRANK A. CHAMBERS,
Deputy Smoke Inspector.

GARNISHMENT.

Chicago, March 30.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A, a minor, signs a guarantee on a loan of $100 for B, his brother. When A signed the note the loan company did not ask about his age. B lost his job and defaulted on his payments. 1. Can the loan company garnishee A's wages? 2. Can the loan company take any steps against A when he does become of age? N. J. S.

1. Garnishment is not authorized until after a judgment has been secured against the debtor, and the minority defense, if properly presented, should prevent the securing of such a judgment.

2. Of course they can try, but see 1. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

APRIL 3, 1917.

WASHINGTON.—Amid demonstrations of tumultuous enthusiasm such as seldom have been seen at the national capitol, President Wilson asked congress last night to declare the existence of a state of war with Germany, brought about by the acts of the Berlin government. Immediately after the President left the capitol the senate and house reconvened and an identic joint resolution—drawn by the President—was introduced in both houses, declaring the existence of a state of war and directing the President to employ all the resources of the country to carry on war against the imperial German government and "bring the conflict to a successful conclusion." In the address the President delivered a scathing indictment of the German government, not only for responsibility for the ruthless submarine warfare to which 250 American lives have been sacrificed, but for the plots and other acts of hostility against the United States. Disclaiming any intention of warring upon the German people, for whom he said the United States will continue to manifest its warm regard, the executive appealed to the country to join the entente allies in crushing the autocratic imperial German government, characterized by the President as the implacable foe of democracy. Prompt action by congress is expected, indications being that congress will adopt the resolution by an overwhelming majority.

WASHINGTON.—President Wilson's address to congress told what the war program of the United States will be. On this Mr. Wilson said: "It will involve the utmost practicable cooperation in counsel and action with the governments now at war with Germany and, as incident to that, the extension to those governments of the most liberal credit, in order that our resources may be added to theirs. It will involve the organization and mobilization of all the material resources of the country to supply the materials of war and serve the incidental needs of the nation in the most abundant and yet the most economical and efficient way possible. It will involve the immediate full equipment of the navy in all respects, but particularly in supplying it with the best means of dealing with the enemy's submarines. It will involve the immediate addition to the armed forces of the United States already provided for in case of war at least 500,000 men, who should, in my opinion, be chosen upon the principle of universal liability to service, and also the authorization of subsequent additional increment of equal force so soon as they may be needed and can be handled in training. It will involve the granting of adequate credits to the government, sustained, I hope, so far as they can equitably be sustained by the present generation, by well conceived taxation. It seems to me that it would be most unwise to have the credits which will now be necessary entered on borrowed money. We should interfere as little as possible with the duty—for it will be a very practical duty—of supplying the nations already at war with Germany with the material which they can obtain only from us."

CHICAGO.—Thousands of telegrams from pacifists in the west and middle west have been sent to senators and congressmen in Washington during the last few days. Many were from Chicago. The others were relayed through Chicago. All were against a declaration of war. Some blamed the war crisis on Wall street. One was signed by 500 names. Many had from five to 200 signatures.

A CITIZEN ENCOUNTERS JUSTICE.

Chicago, March 30.—The people may be interested in knowing of my experience in one of our local night courts; therefore I am submitting this:

Last week I was given notice to appear in the License court, Room 1128 city hall, at 8 p. m. March 29, for failure to have a license to operate a business. Two days after receiving this notice I went to the city hall and secured my license, but was told that I would have to appear in court and show that I had my license.

My working hours are from 6 a. m. until 6 p. m., and so that I would get home early I appeared in court at 7:30 p. m., a half hour before the appointed time, in order to have my case heard as early as possible.

At 7:45 p. m. the clerk announced that the judge had phoned that he would not be in court until 9:30 p. m. The judge did not appear at 9:30, and I was there until 11 p. m. and he did not phone or come to court at all.

There were about 60 people in court, who were there in answer to summonses, and they were forced to give up an entire evening and then most of them were told by the clerk to return at a later date.

After witnessing this disgusting procedure I can readily understand why the court calendars are so crowded. Does the judge get paid for the time he is not on the job or is it a case of where the king can do no wrong? DAVE VERTEL.

ANOTHER CITIZEN AND ANOTHER JUDGE.

Chicago, March 29.—Last Saturday I was required to put up $5 cash bond for not coming to a full stop at a stop street and had to go to court this morning. Judge Green finally arrived at 10:45, held court until 12:05, told every one to come back at 2. At 3:15 the honorable judge had not shown up, so the clerk of the court fined me $2 and told me to go down to the city hall "tomorrow after 11 o'clock" for the $3 refund.

I guess there isn't much one can do but try to catch up with the judges on election day. JOHN E. GOODSPEED.

REGARDING THE NEW ENGLAND CHURCH.

Chicago, March 31.—A news item in your columns has led to such wide misunderstanding that I beg the privilege of defining more accurately the place of New England church in the maelstrom of life known as the near north side.

Our neighbors of the Dill Pickle club have for many years cultivated a reputation of original if sometimes bizarre leadership for many young people of this city. To say that this church "frowns upon" its reopening is both inadequate and misleading.

This church is not, nor will it ever become, a censor or police agent in the community. While challenging every agency destructive of human value, our function is first and foremost one of human friendship and our doors are wide open to all the currents of life that flow freely and turbulently in this area. Our tradition is, happily, one of fearless and progressive searching for truth. Our supreme goal is the enrichment of life in its many forms by sharing, even with those who differ from us, the noblest ideals and highest insights of the life of the spirit. Our loyalty is to One who refused to be labeled by the current standards and conventions of his day.

THEODORE C. HUME.

REPLY TO MR. GREEN.

Chicago, March 26.—I note with regret that Mr. Green, the American Federation of Labor head, is against the Roosevelt 250,000 reforestation program for the unemployed. Mr. Green is eating regularly and he does not seem to worry or lose much sleep over the fact that the average unemployed person would be only too glad to work for Uncle Sam for a dollar a day, including sleeping quarters and clothing.

Perhaps Mr. Green would like to organize a union among this unemployed army and then he probably would be for this program providing the dues were large enough.

CHARLES GLOVER.

KILLDEERS.

Chicago, March 28.—The birds Mrs. C. E. Brooks saw on March 23 were undoubtedly killdeers, the largest of the ringed plovers, forming the genus aegialitis.

Incidentally, let me remark that it would be of greater benefit to those of us who are involuntarily idle to spend our leisure time studying the beauties and mysteries of nature rather than the ephemerall/ interesting jigsaw puzzles. An observing man can gain more of the wisdom of living from the great out of doors than from his own mechanical contrivances. RAZIL BILDER.

Michigan Farmer Shoots Self in Woods.

Grand Haven, Mich., April 2.—(AP)—Sought for the slaying of his wife and son late last night, Louis Paul, 55, shot and killed himself in the woods near his farm home this morning at the approach of a posse of officers and farmers.

The dead, beside Paul, were his wife, Mary, 45, and a son, Tony, 25, who were slain, officers said, as the tragic climax of a family quarrel that had raged for several weeks.

Woman Slain on Porch.

Mrs. Paul was found dead in bed, of a shotgun wound. Officers said Paul apparently killed her on the porch of their home, then carried her body to the bedroom.

As authorities reconstructed later developments, Paul then waited on the porch for the return of Tony and a younger brother, William, who had been to Muskegon. Tony was killed as he neared the porch.

William, who had approached the house from the rear, heard the shot and said that by the time he reached the front of the house his father was running down the road. When he called to him to return, William said, his father told him not to follow or he would be killed also.

Son Spreads Alarm.

William spread the alarm and Ottawa and Muskegon county sheriffs' officers, state police, and civilian possemen began a search of the woods that ended with the self-inflicted death of the fugitive.

A neighbor, Joseph Joham, told officers that Paul had discussed his family troubles with him Saturday noon, saying his wife had refused to let him into the house; that Tony had caused his arrest on a minor charge, and that he was trying to get an injunction to restrain Tony from living at home.

SIAMESE RULER FORCES RADICAL CABINET TO QUIT

Conservatives Take Over State Council.

BANGKOK, Siam, April 2.—(AP)—The first change in the Siamese government since its conversion in last year's coup d'état from one of the world's few remaining absolute monarchies to a democracy was effected peacefully and without bloodshed today.

By the change the young idealists led by Luan Pradit, instigator of the coup last June, whose tendencies have been more towards the extreme left forces, were replaced by older men who are regarded as liberals, but not Socialists or communists.

The crisis arose when Luan Pradit presented an economic plan which the older and more conservative elements in the government regarded as a compromise between democracy and communism.

King Raps State Council.

King Prajadhipok from his seaside resort at Huahin issued a decree which said that present members of the state council have communistic convictions "which cannot possibly harmonize with the policy of any nation not wholly communistic."

The manifesto further declared that "a situation now exists which would force any government and any country to take extraordinary measures."

In conformance with the royal decree a new state council was organized, headed by Phya Manopakarana and other ministers of the old cabinet whose tendencies are conservative.

Armed Forces on Guard.

The crisis—and today's change—were accompanied by no military display, although armed forces were placed discreetly in the throne hall district.

Any possibility of a counter movement by Pradit was considered slight, for he is known as a patriot interested only in restoring the former prosperity of the farmers, developing health education, and similar matters.

Manopakarana's actual title has not been changed, but Pradit almost immediately moved from the palaces and his place taken by Manopakarana and his aides.

SOLDIERS KILL CHIEF.

A constitutional monarchy was set up in Siam on June 24, 1932, when the army and navy of that picturesque land unexpectedly rebelled. Nearly all members of the royal family were immediately taken into custody.

The coup was almost bloodless, although the army chief of staff was reported shot to death by his own men when he refused to accede to their demand to surrender. The mass of the people took no part in the movement.

The capital was taken by surprise when soldiers poured into the city. The army and navy officials said they wanted to deliver the country from "the government of princes."

The following day revolutionary leaders, in a proclamation, invited King Prajadhipok to continue on the throne, which the Chakri dynasty has occupied for 150 years, but declared that the king's powers must be limited under a constitution.

Underlying the revolutionary movement was dissatisfaction with the country's financial condition.

JAP PLANES AND WARSHIPS BOMB CHINESE TOWNS

Extend Invasion South of Great Wall.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, April 3 [Monday].—The Chinese newspaper Tawenpao last night reported that sea planes took off from a Japanese aircraft carrier off Chinwangtao and began a systematic bombing of Chinese towns and villages along the Great Wall to the west. The Japanese occupied Shihmenchai, south of the Wall, Saturday.

Simultaneously Japanese warships, the report said, anchored close to shore and began a furious bombardment of Chinese positions along the Tashiho, a river between Chinwangtao and Shanhaikwan. [Shanhaikwan was taken by Japanese troops in January.]

The Japanese Rengo news agency states that fighting at Shihmenchai resulted in fourteen Japanese casualties.

The Fifteenth Japanese naval squadron has arrived at Chefoo, a port in Shantung province, and large numbers of sailors and marines have been given shore leave ostensibly for sightseeing purposes. Chefoo is the port where the United States navy usually holds summer maneuvers but it is doubtful whether the exercises will be held there this summer.

Fear Further Jap Invasion.

TIENTSIN, China, April 2.—(AP)—Japanese occupation of the city of Shihmenchai, ten miles south of the Great Wall in North China proper, has resulted in renewed fears here that the action is a prelude to Japanese occupation of a wide area south of the Wall.

A Japanese detachment was reported to have occupied Shihmenchai Saturday after a stiff battle lasting seven hours. The city is northwest of Shanhaikwan, Chinese coastal city.

Japanese dispatches quoted the commander of the Japanese troops at Shihmenchai as saying that if the Chinese continued to resist the fighting must go on and the sword must be unsheathed until the resistance is crushed.

Tientsin Endangered.

If the hostilities continue along the eastern extremity of the Great Wall it is believed the Japanese likely will occupy the region between Shanhaikwan and Lanchow on the south bank of the Luan river half way to Tientsin.

Fears have been expressed on several occasions by Chinese officials that Japanese and Manchukuoan forces which have taken Jehol province will extend their operations south of the Great Wall toward the two cities of Tientsin and Peiping. Spokesmen for Japanese army headquarters have said that whether any extensive drive southward will be made by the invaders depends upon the actions of Chinese commanders.

GET READY to entertain! You're going to have guests—a great many of them this summer. The World's Fair spirit is in the air—millions of visitors will be here for "A Century of Progress". Are you prepared? The time that remains is short—the World's Fair opens June 1.

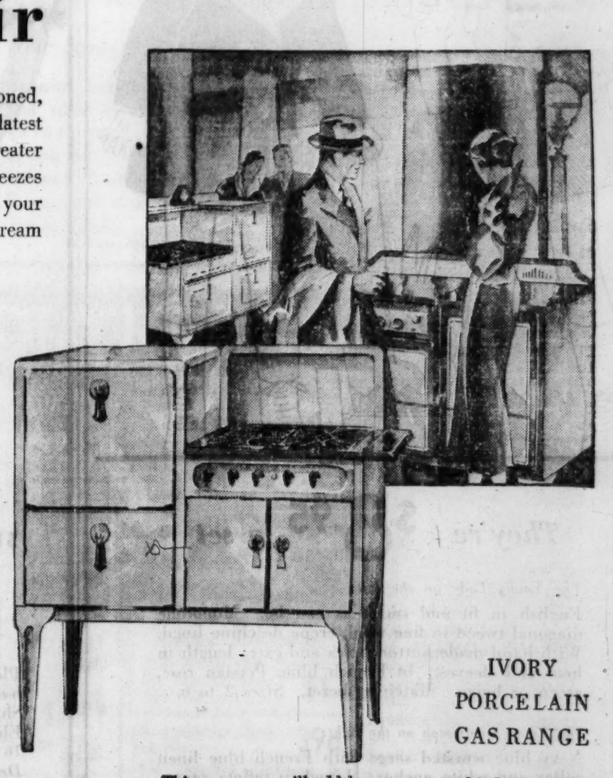
Prepare for the Fair

When friends and relatives enter your kitchen will they see an old-fashioned, antiquated stove—or a beautiful, glistening, modern gas range, with all the latest conveniences to save time and work—to make for better baking and greater economy? . Will they find an up-to-date Electrolux Refrigerator that freezes ice cubes with a tiny gas flame? . . . When they turn on the "hot" faucets in your home will they be disappointed—or will they be greeted by a luxurious stream that's always steaming hot?

Of course, your preparations should not be confined to gas appliances alone. You'll want to make other preparations, too, around the home, yard, car, store, shop or office. Cleaning, painting, repairing, remodeling, refurnishing. Get ready now—give employment—buy needed equipment. With everyone preparing, business in Chicago is certain to increase—then you, we, everyone will benefit.

Start your World's Fair preparations by selecting a new gas range, gas refrigerator and automatic water heater. They give such great service at so little cost! You'll find them at dealers throughout the city—or at our 12 display rooms.

Gas gives greater comfort and convenience at less cost than any other item of home expense. The cheapest part of a meal is the gas used for cooking. For an average family of 5 an entire oven dinner including a 4-pound leg of lamb, a half-dozen medium-sized potatoes, a casserole of parsnips and a 2-pound can of fig pudding can be cooked with gas for 3 cents, or less than 1 cent per meal per person.



IVORY PORCELAIN GAS RANGE

This gas range will add beauty to your kitchen and better meals to your dining table. Beautiful full porcelain enamel finish. Has the new gas-saving Magic Chef burners—easier to clean. Oven top and door, and broiler door, are insulated. Top-lighter. Double-door utensil compartment. One of the extraordinary values at our Spring Style Show - - - $42.75

CHILEAN RELIEF GRAFT REVEALED; BUREAU OUSTED

Idle Total Decreases, but Cost Increases.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 2.—The curious tendency of relief expenditures to increase as unemployment decreased led to the dissolution today of Chile's federal organization for the care of the idle. Dissolution was by order of President Arturo Alessandri, who acted upon a report on the matter submitted by an investigation commission.

The president decreed that hereafter the administration of relief would be left entirely in the hands of provincial authorities working with private organizations. Eleven government officials in Santiago and five relief directors in the provinces have been arrested, charged with misuse of public funds.

Official Bares Abuses.

Rumors of skullduggery in connection with relief funds had persisted for some time. Matters finally came to a head when one official who happened to have a conscience protested against abuses he discovered and was dismissed. He raised such an outcry that the appointment of the investigation commission followed.

The commission had little difficulty in tracing the source of the evil odor which hung about the relief department. Preliminary estimates revealed a cash shortage of $500,000. Falsification of ration costs, payment of illegal commissions on contracts to feed the idle, and retention of doles came to light.

As the number of idle became smaller and smaller, thanks to the government's public works plan, the relief pay roll became larger and larger.

Buy Rotten Meat.

In Antofagasta, records of the relief officials showed they were giving financial help to 42,000 persons. The population of Antofagasta, according to the 1932 census, was 37,000. Rotten meat was bought at exorbitant prices and the profits shared between sellers and officials. Mouldy beans were purchased and resold to be bought again.

In Valparaiso a voluntary group was administering aid satisfactorily to 40,000 idle. Then the state intervened, whereupon the investigation commission found that the cost of relief administration had tripled. At the same time the number of idle declined 50 per cent.

"There is no doubt," the commission asserted in its report, "that a serious bureaucratic effort is being made to build up a government department in the nation whose main aim is to make unemployment a permanent state problem, thus providing permanent jobs for a host of officials. It is no exaggeration to say that the department of relief devotes as much effort to increasing unemployment as to relieving it."

Devise Pensions Scheme.

The commission submitted proof that in one case the department had drawn up a pensions scheme, so convinced was the director, one of those now in prison, that he had a lifetime occupation.

The commission computed that the graft has been averaging about $750,000 a month. The head relief office is reported $2,000,000 in debt to contractors.

Meanwhile the number of Chilean idle has decreased, it is calculated, to 100,000 out of a total population of 4,000,000.

Gloria Terrill, New Suspect in Townsend Murder Case, Escapes Injury, Must Explain Actions.

SPRINGFIELD, April 3—While police under the direction of Jim Hanvey, famous detective, and Al Sheppard, chief inspector of the local force, grilled guests at the Townsend debutante dance regarding the murder there of John Prosser about 1 A. M., a second tragedy was narrowly averted. An automobile, attempting to leave the grounds against police orders, crashed into a tree, and the lone occupant was knocked unconscious. She proved to be Gloria Terrill, 21, who had been a guest at the party but had reputedly been taken home by George Blake, another guest, prior to the supposed time of the murder. Miss Terrill has not yet explained when and why she returned or the reasons for her attempted escape.

Why was Gloria Terrill attempting to escape?

Throngs View Garden Club Show at Pier

BY PAUL POTTER.

Hundreds of out of town visitors yesterday joined the throngs of spectators from the metropolitan area to admire the spectacle of two and one-third acres of gardens and floral displays on Navy pier.

They helped to swell the attendance of the seventh annual garden and flower show, sponsored by the Federated Garden Clubs of Illinois, in progress on Chicago's lake front daily until next Saturday night.

Limousines, buses, surface cars, and autos formed a constant line at the entrance to the pier, as the floral exhibition drew an attendance estimated at 25,000. The largest show of its kind in the United States, the garden club exposition yesterday added material support to claims of the midwest for horticultural supremacy.

Indicative of the rising popularity of gardening in the Chicago area were the exhibits of junior garden clubs. More clubs to study floriculture and nature are flourishing in Illinois than in any other state, according to Mrs. George J. Arbeiter of Joliet, pioneer in the boys' and girls' garden club movement.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read. Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

THE MURDERER'S MISTAKE.

Prof. Fordney watched the deft fingers of the police surgeon's assistant as he unbuttoned the man's vest and stripped him to the waist. In another moment the body was ready for Dr. Lyman's examination. The man had been brought into the morgue with his face battered beyond recognition. There was a deep knife wound in the heart, below it, in the pit of the stomach, through the right shoulder from the back and still another directly between the shoulder blades. The iron gray hair was matted with blood. The label had been torn from the brown suit, but in spite of the two slashes in the back of the coat and blood stains there was no mistaking the excellent quality and tailoring.

No weapon was found near the scene of the crime. The underbrush was trampled and the dried leaves were spattered with blood.

One stab through the left breast pocket of the vest had cut a business card in two. Though blood stained, the name Stanley Thorndale, attorney, was plainly discernible. The other had struck a button before entering the body.

Robbery appeared to be the motive as Fordney discovered nothing else in the pockets but a cheap Ingersoll watch and a railroad hat check.

"Well, Kelley," he remarked after the clothing had been identified as that of Thorndale, who had recently taken out a $50,000 life insurance with double indemnity clause, "looks as if some one had tried to plant a body on us."

Perhaps you have a story or problem you would like to submit to Prof Fordney. If so send it to him care of this paper. He will be delighted to receive it.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

It was 7 o'clock in the morning and she was 12 years old. To get to school on time she had to "step on it," but when her mother looked into her room at quarter past she saw no signs of progress.

"Your breakfast will be ready in ten minutes, Mary," she said. Mary looked disgruntled.

"O, I don't care if I don't have any breakfast," she said. "I've got that old stomach ache again."

Her mother sighed to herself. She tried smoothing things down, but they wouldn't smooth. She was just about to get cross when she thought, "I'll try something different today. I'll just let the child alone."

And she knew she should stay after school to get help in some arithmetic that she'd missed when she was sick—and she didn't want to. She wanted to be outdoors.

All the time Mary's mother was ruminating, Mary was letting off steam.

Pretty soon, "This is an awful delicious breakfast, mom," she said. "Look at Kitty—isn't she funny? She's acting like a Hallowe'en witch's cat." And on she chatted in her usual friendly fashion.

What's the moral? Yes, I see all your possible objections to Mary and her mother's treatment. But let's just see what the moral might be. To me it is this—that there are times when a child is fretted, and physically out of sorts, and "mad" at things she can't change. And that sometimes the wholesome things for a parent to do is merely to lie low and give her a chance to let off steam.

The New Hats Are High Ones This Season

Straws Given Appearance of Fabric Models.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The life of a hat collector these days is a dizzy one . . . for all the newest models are zooming up in the air, making the entire female population appear from four to seven inches higher.

But height is not the only eye-straining trick these high hats possess . . . some very brilliant designers have sent some intriguingly different affairs to startle the shopper. For instance, all or very nearly all of the new straws are like fabrics . . . they will show you chiffon straws that are as soft and flexible as the material they have copied. You'll see stunning tricornes of black and colored chiffon straw with long mystery veils of the exact shade of the tricorne.

These veils and the three cornered hat they cling to are the most flattering models for the shopper who sniffs disdainfully over skittish, flapper styles that careen tipsily on the top of the very young head.

Veiled high tricornes come in delectable shades of blue, crimson, and green, as well as black and brown, and while they are extremely simple and in most models unadorned, they are without a doubt the most patrician models of the spring season.

Another unusual chapeau that sponsors a new silky straw is one of lovebird green . . . the straw looks exactly like very heavy corded silk . . . it, too, is a high hat, that fits smoothly over the head and reaches a high peak with the straw pulled together like a ruffled rosette . . . and snugly in the center of this rosette are the heads of two affectionate love birds.

Royal purple straw, so shiny and smooth as to look like satin, fashions another hat that will start a riot . . . it, too, goes into the clouds, and is nothing more nor less than an extremely tall crown skillfully folded twice and then decorated with a small bunch of violets that seem to grow quite calmly in the center of the tip top section of the hat.

An amusing Scotch duet of small cocky hat and neck scarf, fashioned of red and blue and green and white plaid silky fabric, is a most fashionable and effective combine for either dark or light suits and frocks and you can bring in your own materials and have this same pair duplicated for your own particular enjoyment.

New flowered hats are being made with wide flattering brims of straw and with the crowns covered with flowers. Lilies of the valley, small pale rose buds, moderately sized gardenias and white or colored violets are used with some eye-filling results.

A good idea for a garden party hat would be to have the crown of a black or wheat colored straw covered with poppies, cornflowers and daisies and green leaves. These flowered hats are alluring contrast for all the frilled and ruffled summer afternoon and dinner dresses of chiffon and organdy.

Moderns Hold Their Concert; a Smart Event

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Laughter and cheers greeted the performance of Jacques Ibert's symphonic suite, "Paris," the final number on the program of the International Society for Contemporary Music at the Blackstone theater yesterday afternoon, and this is so unusual at music of any kind, contemporary or otherwise, that the fact is worth noting.

The reason is not hard to find. Ibert wrote a good discourse on light music. As the program stated in a somewhat dubious tone, these sketches are "supposed to entertain," and they really do. They are amusing not only by virtue of whistles and sirens but because the melodies have a humorous turn. Wherefore there is reason to acclaim M. Ibert.

These annual concerts of the society are smart events. A chamber orchestra conducted by Rudolph Ganz and assisted by Grace Nelson and Rudolph Reuter, pianists, and Mrs. Mary Ann Kaufman Brown, soprano, presented a full length program of what the composers of today are trying to do in music, and there is nothing else in Chicago of the same sort. If all the items did not come up to expectations, on the other hand there were some quite brilliant examples of interesting music.

One finds, it is true, that certain composers in their efforts to shake off the formulas of their ancestors, adopt formulas of their own that may be different, but have little other call on the attention. Scales played in sevenths, for example, are in the opinion of at least one hearer no improvement on scales played in sixths. Nor does a dissonantal setting of "Three Blind Mice" make the tune any better than it was before. For that matter, an original melody, if it is commonplace, is not converted into good music by dressing up its accompaniment.

But on the other hand the orchestra presented Paul Hindemith's "Erste Kammermusik," as well as the Ibert number just mentioned, and they were real events. Mrs. Brown sang Igor Stravinsky's "Pribaoutki" songs, insolent, highly colored bits of humor, though humor needing translations and footnotes for its full effect. Incidentally, Mr. Ganz provided the translations, as he had previously for songs by Arthur Honegger. For a second flight, one may select Pedro Sanjuan's "Castillian Sounds," one or two of the three songs by Eugene Goossens, and the dance from Aaron Copland's "Music for the Theater."

Some day some of the contemporary musicians will discover in their researches that there is still some music left in the diatonic scale. So far Ibert seems to have the unshared secret. It will not be easy; but, then, no good music is easy.

While the contemporary composers were having their turn Alvena Reckzeh and Kathryn Anderson were playing music for two pianos of various periods from Bach to Castelnuovo-Tedesco at Kimball hall. They have applied themselves diligently to this manner, and generally, if not invariably, have worked out an excellent ensemble. Two Chicago musicians were represented on the program, Louis Victor Saar in his setting of a minuet by Mozart, and Ruth Klauber in two original works. The audience was large and cordial.

Good Morning!

"Sailor's Luck" is, really, just a two reel slapstick comedy with a very long tail. That is, two reels could easily present all the worthwhile meat and laughter the story contains.

The film, which deals with the shore life of a sailor, has its exceedingly droll moments. The skill and personality of the two leads, Sally Eilers and James Dunn—he's getting fat—the nutty cavortings of Sammy Cohen, who is funny when he's not indulging in effeminate impersonations, and the capable playing of minor rôle holders keep the piece from boring you. Of originality, however, gags, situations and patter seldom show a flicker. Of course Bilge, the hardest boiled of them all, finding his dearest recreation in playing Chopin—or was it Beethoven?—on the piano, and reading the Mercury in bed, IS something different.

The title? Well, I gather that while a sailor's luck may appear at times to be bad, fortune usually relents and bestows a broad smile on a son of the sea.

See you tomorrow!

Milstein Concert a High Point of Happy Season at Arts Club

Society Also Attends Program Sponsored by Backers of Contemporary Music.

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE most successful of the many successful Sunday night parties at the Arts club is the way most of those at last night's buffet supper for Nathan Milstein will describe it in telling about it today. And tell about it they will, undoubtedly, for it really was one of the outstanding events of the season. Sharing the limelight with the brilliant young Russian violinist before he started the program he gave after supper—no one could distract the audience's attention after the music started—was the glamorous Lily Pons, who is to sing tonight at the Auditorium.

As exotic as an orchid, Miss Pons was a picture last night in a vivid red gown the bodice of which was hidden by a long sleeved white jacket open at the neck to show an ascot scarf of the red, fastened with large and handsome clips of brilliants. She is unbelievably tiny and as lovely looking as the most enthusiastic press agent has heralded her to be. Last night she was a guest of Mrs. C. Barney Goodspeed, president of the club, at whose table Mr. Milstein sat also. Mrs. Goodspeed was as charming looking as she always is, in a gown of white satin with cartridge plaits at the shoulders to give the fashionable wide shoulder effect. One of her guests, Mrs. Robert Maynard Hutchins, also had wider shoulders last night than she has normally, for the jacket of white and black matelassé which she wore over a plum color crêpe grown was made with plaited sleeves to give the new effect.

Another celebrity in Mrs. Goodspeed's party was Thornton Wilder, who was kept busy last night being welcomed back by his many friends here. Among the others with Mr. and Mrs. Goodspeed were Mr. and Mrs. Alfred M. Wolfe, Prince and Princess Rostislav, Prince Michael Cantacuzene, Col. George Voevodsky, Miss Alice Roullier, Leeds Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan C. Spalding and Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose C. Cramer.

Mme. Pons found the smoke too much for her throat at the end of the first half of the program, so she left, but every one else in the audience which filled the large gallery stayed to hear the last notes of the encores Mr. Milstein generously played. Some of those who were there were Miss Janet Fairbank, who was with Arthur Meeker Jr., Dr. and Mrs. James H. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Paepcke and the Thomas Fishers, Mr. and Mrs. Shreve Badger, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Shaw and Mrs. John H. Winterbotham [Mrs. Winterbotham is Mrs. Badger's and Mrs. Shaw's mother], Miss Lydia Swift, Mr. and Mrs. Morris L. Johnston, the James Ward Thornes, Mrs. John L. Cochran Jr. and Walter Frazier, Miss Dorothy Schmidt and Shepard Vogelgesang, Mr. and Mrs. Laird Bell and their lovely daughter, Helen, who was like the personification of spring last night in a print gown of green, yellow and pale rose, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Nelson Morris, Mrs. Americus F. Callahan, Mrs. Townsend McKeever, Mrs. Jacob Baur, Emil Wetten, Miss Harriet Monroe, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. Edward A. Leight, Mrs. Wilhelm L. Baum and Robert Hall McCormick.

Hear Program of Modern Music.

Another musical treat that society enjoyed yesterday was the concert in the afternoon at the Blackstone theater given by the International Society for Contemporary Music. It was a very fashionable and sophisticated audience for a concert given by this society always is the "highbrow" musical affair of the season, and every one who makes any pretense of being "in the know" in things musical is there.

Many of those who were at the Arts club later were in the Blackstone in the afternoon; Mrs. Goodspeed, Mrs. Callahan, Miss Roullier, Miss Fairbank, Mrs. Leight, Mrs. Spaulding and others. Also there were the Arthur Bissells, their lovely young daughter-in-law, Mrs. Arthur D. Bissell, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Nitze, the Graham Aldises, the Noel Flints, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stock, Mrs. Arthur B. Slade, the Charles H. Swifts, Mr. and Mrs. W. Prescott Hunt, Miss Marie Rozet, the Charles H. Worcesters, the Charles H. Hamills, Mrs. Otho F. Ball and her son, Peter Ball, the Cyrus Hall McCormicks, Lord and Lady Hastings, Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell, and Dr. and Mrs. Wesley La Violette.

Pons Concert To Be Tonight.

The Changeling Bride

By Martha Ostenso

SYNOPSIS.

The Hendersons—Meryl and Margaret, sisters; Flint, their older brother, and Andrew, the father—have lived for twelve years in poverty in a fishing settlement on the shores of Lake Superior after losing their fortune in Chicago. Andrew went to pieces after the death of his wife. Great Aunt Letitia, formerly dean of a girls' school in Ohio, is the liaison between the Hendersons and a cultured past. Flint and his friend, Ned Bremner, hope to build up a great export business. Ned is in love with Meryl, but she dreams of a better future. A forest fire brings Blake Lawrence, injured and lost, to the Henderson cottage. There were two great names in nearby Agate Bay and its environs—Lawrence and Greer. Blake is in love with Greer's wife, Christine. Blake's broken ankle keeps him two weeks with the Hendersons. Meryl falls in love with Blake. Though still enamored of Christine, Blake becomes engaged to Meryl and sends for his sister, Theresa, to meet her. Meryl leaves for Agate Bay with Blake and Theresa, where the wedding takes place. Blake leaves immediately after the ceremony for one of his mines where a strike is on. Lucia, a snobbish cousin of the Lawrences, pays them a visit. She has some of her friends in for dinner. Lucia becomes jealous of the attentions one of her male guests forces on Meryl.

INSTALLMENT XIX.

CRUEL MOCKERY.

"Well!" Lucia said. "The changeling bride! You work fast, Chester, I must say. Waxing poetic, eh?"

Her eyes flashed in tawny green rage at Chester. He turned and looked at her, swaying a little uncertainly as he did so.

"It's Lucia," he observed, "and she's going to be angry with little Chester—for no reason at all."

"You've made a spectacle of yourself," Lucia went on. "It was bad enough when you were with the crowd. But to follow that up with coming in here——"

"I think I might be able to explain," Meryl ventured.

"It is quite unnecessary," Lucia retorted. "Chester is drunk. But you—I should think you would have shown better taste than to carry on a flirtation with one of my guests. Out of respect for our family, if for no other reason——"

"Lucia!" Meryl interrupted.

It was small consolation to Meryl to realize she was listening to a woman who was obviously beside herself with jealousy, and who had, moreover, not

"You are quite right, my dear," Lucia said quietly, her eyes blazing with the fury she strove suddenly to control. "It is utterly silly of me to take offense at anything you do. A little affair between you and Chester would make Christine happy at least. Her conscience won't be so likely to bother her when she and Blake get together again."

Meryl was staggered. "What do you mean, Lucia?" she asked.

"You're not quite the little fool you would like us to think," Lucia retorted. "You know, of course, what I mean, my dear."

Without attempting to reply, Meryl fled in a daze from the library and upstairs.

She closed the door of her room and leaned against it, faintness sweeping over her. Christine—Christine! The name hammered like pitiless fists at her brain. Her intuition yesterday, then, had been a true one. It was the dark eyed, exotic Christine whom Blake really loved—and could not marry. She, Meryl, had been brought here to take her place—the changeling bride, indeed!

There was nothing for her to do, she thought dully, but go back home. Nothing to do but leave this house into which she had been brought to fill a rôle which was a cruel mockery. Nothing but to forget that she had ever set eyes on the dark, brooding face of Blake Lawrence.

With an uncontrollable trembling in her limbs, she went to the clothes closet and took down the garments she had brought from home. They looked unspeakably homely and ludicrous now in that cedar lined closet. Bedraggled and hurt, like something human. And from the shelf where it had been thrust out of sight she took down the bright brown suitcase. Its simple lock sprang open with sprightly promptness at her nervous touch.

Meryl had her few belongings packed. The clothes Theresa had bought her were left on their hangers in the closet. While she drew her old fawn colored, hybrid hat well down over her eyes she pressed her lips together fiercely to check the sob that rose in her throat.

There was a quick tap on her door and she swung around nervously. It was Theresa, she knew.

"Come in," she said wearily.

Theresa opened the door and stood for a moment looking at her. "Meryl, child—what are you doing?" she asked in a plaintive voice.

"I'm going home," Meryl said abruptly.

Theresa closed the door behind her and looked from Meryl to the spuriously bright suitcase that lay across the arms of a chair.

"Let me talk to you—just a little," she pleaded.

"What's the use of talking!" Meryl retorted.

Theresa seated herself on the edge of the bed and looked up at Meryl with a troubled frown. "My dear," she said persuasively, "please sit down for a moment. I want to know what happened down there—with Lucia."

Meryl sat stiffly down on a chair.

"It's my own stupidity—and vanity," she said, and did her best to keep her voice from shaking. "I might have known that—that Blake wasn't really in love with me!"

Theresa opened her cigaret case. "Did she say that?" she demanded.

"I'm not so dumb that I have to be told in so many words!" Meryl cried, letting all control fly to the winds. "She said enough. She looks upon me as an impostor—you all do! And you're right. I am! I have no right to be here. I'm going!"

Theresa inhaled deeply and blew a cloud of smoke from her lips. "You are angry, my dear," she said quietly. "And I don't blame you. I could commit murder right now—cheerfully. But you can't go home tonight."

Meryl turned upon her. "I have a couple of dollars in my purse," she said. "I can get some one in town to drive me home."

Theresa got up and put her arms impulsively about Meryl. "Darling—don't do this," she begged.

Theresa held her for a moment and looked over Meryl's shoulder at the chaste, silver gray wall. "Sh-h, darling," she said, and patted Meryl's shoulder softly. She drew her gently to the chaise longue and sat down. "Please, dear—try to listen to me."

She could do nothing, she realized, until she got the girl quieted. Of course it had been a rotten trick, she thought angrily, but it would all have been explained quietly if it hadn't been for that——

"Listen, Meryl," she persisted. "I want to tell you the whole truth. I owe you that much at least. We all do. But I think you ought to be fair to Blake and listen."

Meryl sat upright and looked straight before her. "I'll listen," she said. "You've been very sweet to me, Theresa. But I don't see how any one can say anything that will make any difference. I saw enough yesterday afternoon—when Christine Greer drove up in her car—but I wouldn't admit it to myself then."

"Blake has never thought as much of any one in his life as he does of you," Theresa told her. "He has been infatuated with Christine—nothing more. You see, dear, Julius Greer was a bachelor until he married Christine about a year ago and brought her up here in the spring. She is the kind of woman you have never known—and will, perhaps, never understand. She is much younger than Julius—but a couple of years older than Blake at that, I imagine. She married Julius for his money, nothing more."

"But Blake——" Meryl began.

BY MARY MEADE.

"One chocolate malted in a hurry!" That, to the most of us, is about all there is to say about malted milk. We've ordered it in drug stores and seen it churned up with fresh milk and ice cream. But it's news, and good news for many, to discover that the interesting, characteristic malted flavor can be brought into the kitchen and used to add tang and food value not only to home made beverages, but to cakes, icings, custards, quick breads, frozen desserts and a host of other home grown delicacies.

But so it is. Which leads one to check up on the facts. Just what is malted milk, how is it made, and for what can it be used? First, the malted milk we buy at the grocers is made by combining whole milk with a liquid which has been separated from a mash of ground barley, malt, and wheat flour. This mixture then has its liquid evaporated until only the nutritious flavor and "solids" are left. Next the powder is sealed and marketed.

Once upon a time the main users were infants, convalescents, and the aged. Now the market has spread to everyone who enjoys malt flavor and has a weakness for adventure in new recipes with a guaranteed family appeal.

To quench six full grown thirsts with a delicious home version of a "chocolate malted," use the following ingredients:

FROSTED CHOCOLATE MALTED BILK.

4 heaping tablespoons chocolate malted milk powder

Combine the milk and powdered malted milk and then add the ice cream by spoonfuls. Shake vigorously in a bottle beverage shaker, or beat with an egg beater or some all purpose kitchen mixed until frothy and well mixed.

Or if you lean not toward chocolate, use the plain powdered malted milk with vanilla, strawberry, maple or other ice cream. Add flavoring or fruit as the fancy strikes you.

Cakes and cookies also take on an interesting flavor when they join forces with one of the malted milk powders.

MALTED CRUNCHES.

1 cup medium brown sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 level tablespoons malted milk powder
1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon

Cream the butter and the brown sugar until soft and fluffy. Add the egg and vanilla and then the remaining ingredients which have been sifted together. The mixture will be quite stiff and the last of the dry mixture must be worked in gradually. Finally, form into a roll and wrap in waxed paper to stand for a day in the refrigerator. When ready to bake, unwrap, cut off thin slices, and arrange on a floured cookie sheet. Brush lightly with egg white and sprinkle with finely ground nut meats. Bake in a moderately hot oven [375 degrees F.] for 8 minutes.

Soups are likewise enhanced by the tangy malted flavor. Tomato soup, potato soup, celery soup or clam chowder will, any or all of them, thank you for ¼ cup of malted milk powder blended with the flour in their making. A little onion juice and minced parsley help bring out the blend of flavors.

Muffins become malted in this way. Take your best recipe for simple one egg muffins. Add one more egg and 4 level tablespoons of malted milk powder. Bake as usual.

Bread puddings of the simple bread milk, and sugar kind may become a bit of a bore, no matter how they are dressed up with nutmeg and sauces. If you feel that way, too, prepare your next pudding as usual, then add one square of melted chocolate and two level tablespoons of malted milk powder. Bake in custard cups.

Icings, fudge, frozen desserts, cocoa, custards—even waffles and pancakes are often favorites which seem to become just that much more enjoyable and nutritious when malted milk powder—from two to four tablespoons—depending on tastes, is added to their make-up.

Paris Revives Shoulders of the Gibson Girl

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Playing up the shoulders of women has been a pet game of the Paris dressmakers for some years. Madame Schiaparelli started it with her famous wooden soldier coat. This year it is a big feature of fashions, and in giving the shoulder line prominence some of the dressmakers have revived the famous Gibson girl shoulders of the 1900 epoch.

There's lots of this epoch in styles all along the line, and therefore the Gibson shirtwaist shoulder line is brought back at a timely moment.

Mother will remember when she wore shirtwaists with wide, stiffened tucks over the shoulders, which made her waistline look smaller and smaller. That is what Lyolene is doing to jacket shoulders, as you can see by consulting the accompanying sketch. This suit is made of a coarse, natural linen crash, and the hip length jacket actually isn't much fitted, but the way in which it juts way out over the shoulders, à la Gibson, makes its waistline appear tiny. This line is held by a twisted band of crash. The skirt is also Gibson, being cut in six slightly flared gores.

The blouse of this suit, shown in the background, is made of bright green, grege and black plaid silk taffeta. It is a hip length jumper blouse with short, loose sleeves and a knotted scarf collar. The belt is knitted out of black elastic and slips on over the head.

In the interest of thousands of the city's physically and financially handicapped, the demure, lovely Lily Pons is to take the great stage and sing a concert of Verdi and Rimsky-Korsakoff, Saint Saëns and Donizetti.

The performance is a benefit sponsored by the Woman's Faculty club of the Northwestern university medical school. The club supports the medical school clinic, which cares for 135,000 patients annually. All the boxes have been sold for tonight's concert and the main floor and the galleries are expected to be filled.

Miss Pons arrived at the Drake hotel Saturday morning with her pet jaguar, Ita, who never misses a trip with his famous mistress. But during her three days here she has made only one social engagement. That was the Milstein concert.

Traveling never agrees with Miss Pons, so if possible her itinerary is arranged for her to reach a city several days before her appearance and these days are spent in rest.

Today it is likely her recreation will be a visit to the Lincoln park zoo, since she enjoys nothing as much as animals, any variety. This is the reason she has Ita. Traveling in South America last summer one of her friends presented the leopard-like cat to her as a gift. Now her pet is seven months old. And the pet is a pet as far as Miss Pons is concerned, though she shies when any callers pay her undue attention. And here's a secret about Ita. At night she retires in Miss Pons' washbowl.

Mrs. Loyal Davis, president of the Woman's Faculty club, will be one of the boxholders tonight. And so will Mrs. Goodspeed, Miss Kate Buckingham, Mrs. Edward H. Fahrney, Mrs. Maurice Rothschild, Mrs. George K. Spoor, Dr. and Mrs. H. M. Richter, George Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Clark, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Woodruff, Dr. and Mrs. William H. Holmes, Mrs. Alden B. Swift, and Dr. and Mrs. Philip H. Kreuscher.

On the main floor there will be among others Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mrs. Joseph E. Otis, Mrs. Henry Bartholomay, Mrs. Wilhelm Ludwig Baum, Mrs. Bowman C. Lingle, Mrs. Morris Leidy Johnston, Mrs. Moisant Griffiths, Mrs. H. Newton Hudson, Mrs. Edward C. Crossett, and Mrs. Archibald Freer.

Miss Hoffman Lectures Today.

Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mrs. Charles Wesley Dempster, Mrs. Chauncey B. Borland, Mrs. John Paul Welling, and Mrs. Paul Shorey will pour tea this afternoon for the distinguished group that is coming to the Arts club to meet Malvina Hoffman and hear her tell "A Sculptor's Impressions of the Orient."

Receiving guests at the door for this party, which is sponsored by the American Friends of China, will be Miss Lucy Driscoll, Miss Harriet Borland, Miss Beatrice Borland, and Miss Carolyn Erminger.

Miss Hoffman, who with her husband, Samuel B. Grimson, is the guest of the Charles Garfield Kings during her brief stay in Chicago, is to illustrate her lecture both with motion pictures and phonograph records that she recorded among the natives of Bali. It wasn't so many months ago that Miss Hoffman returned from Honolulu, Japan, China, Bali, Java, Singapore, Penang, the Malay peninsula, Calcutta, Delhi, Jaipur, and Colombo, where she modeled heads and life-size figures of the inhabitants in characteristic poses.

She also cast the hands of natives of the orient, taking a piece of bread, for instance, or wielding a paint brush. And it is these pieces that are of considerable scientific value, since the use of the hands among the orientals differs considerably from that of the occidentals.

Because so much interest has been expressed in Miss Hoffman's visit to Chicago, Col. George T. Langhorne, president of the American Friends of China, who is to introduce the speaker this afternoon, has opened the meeting to the public.

Japanese Official to Explain Policy.

Many of the north shore residents who are coming to this party are planning to make a day of it in town since they will lunch beforehand with the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations at the Palmer house. Yosuke Matsuoka who led the Japanese delegation in its recent withdrawal from the league of nations is to speak.

In the absence of Graham Aldis, vacationing in the south, Quincy Wright will introduce Mr. Matsuoka for the address on "Japan's Foreign Policy." It will be no effort for his audience to understand him since he was educated in the United States and speaks excellent English. His talk will be one of three addresses he is making on this visit to the United States, the others in New York and Oregon.

With Mr. Matsuoka and Mr. Wright at the speaker's table today will be the Japanese Consul General Yoshio Muto and Mrs. Muto, Mrs. Wright, Charles H. Chandler, president of the Japan-American society; Mr. and Mrs. Allen D. Albert, George Fairweather, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew R. Sherriff, Mrs. Mitchell D. Follansbee, John F. McKeon, and Tsunao Sasaki and Tsunei Kusunose, members of the Japanese commission to A Century of Progress.

This evening Mr. Matsuoka is to be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Muto at dinner at the Drake hotel.

Interesting news yesterday in the announcement that the Committee of One Hundred is to hold its northern meeting this year in Chicago. On Oct. 3 this distinguished group of sports men who congregate every winter at the Bath club at Miami Beach will gather for the annual fall reunion.

There will be a dinner the evening of the third at the Drake hotel preceded by a luncheon at noon at society's fashionable World's Fair rendezvous, the Century club. For this affair Fred A. Poor, president of the Bath club this season, will be the host. The following day, Oct. 4, the "committe" will have a second visit to the exposition when Rufus C. Dawes entertains at luncheon at the Administration building.

Though titled the Committee of One Hundred, there will probably be some 200 or 300 men from all parts of the country in Chicago for the luncheons and dinner. Since the committee was formed five or six years ago its membership has increased, although the rules of admission have remained strict. Last year Joseph E. Widener, the famous turfman and collector of Rembrandts and Raphaels, Reynoldses and Titians, was host at his Philadelphia home, Lynnewood hall. The year before Gaar Wood had the members in Detroit, and still the year before that "Jack" Bowman was host in New York City.

Among the Chicagoans who will help provide two days of royal entertainment here are Warren Wright, Charles McCulloch, John Hertz, and Albert Lasker as well as Mr. Poor.

Yesterday Mr. Poor left again for Miami by way of New York. He will be away until Easter, when he will return to Chicago with Mrs. Poor, who has kept their Florida house open all season.

Leave Today for Dry Reform Meeting.

This morning Mrs. Leslie Wheeler and Mrs. William H. Mitchell are leaving for Washington to attend the meetings of the Woman's Organization for National Prohibition Reform. Mrs. John N. Stearns Jr., the former Mrs. Alice Cudahy McCormick, will join them from New York. Before Mrs. Wheeler returns to Chicago she will go to New York and on to Boston to see her mother, Mrs. Henry Patten, who is in a hospital there.

Miss Ruth Holloway, daughter of the Harry C. Holloways of Glencoe, and Miss Judith Walsh, daughter of Mrs. Richard W. Walsh of Hubbard Woods, are leaving today or tomorrow on a motor trip which will take them to New York, Washington, Baltimore and Virginia to visit friends. In Virginia, however, they plan to take some extra time and see all the lovely gardens which are open to the public for the week commencing April 24. Soon after this "horticultural treat" they will return to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold C. Smith with their daughter, Miss Anne Smith, are leaving tomorrow or the next day for Phoenix, Ariz. They will be away three weeks or a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank O. Lowden will arrive Thursday from six weeks in Chandler, Ariz. They will not stop in Chicago, however, but will go directly from the train down to their Sinnissippi farm at Oregon.

The Malcolm F. Hendersons will be back in Chicago the end of this week, for they have already sailed home from their honeymoon abroad. Mrs. Henderson is the former Paula Wilms.

Mrs. William McCormick Blair arrived home last week from a short visit with her mother, Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen, in Phoenix. Mrs. Bowen is expected home a week from Wednesday, but Mrs. Louise de Koven Phelps [also Mrs. Bowen's daughter] will remain west longer to be with her son who is in school there.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Cudahy are expected back very shortly from a few weeks spent in their Palm Beach home.

Invitations from Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cecil Fitzmorris and Miss Grace Fitzmorris for an "at home" on Easter Sunday will be in the mail this morning. The Fitzmorrises are asking their guests to come between 4 and 7 o'clock to meet Mr. and Mrs. George F. Getz Jr. Mrs. Getz was before her marriage Miss Olive Atwater.

Mrs. Bertram Welton Sippy is opening her house at 5615 Woodlawn avenue this afternoon for a tea and auction in the interests of the Friendly Aid society. Mrs. Robert M. Jeffries is to read some poems of other days from "Grandmother's Commonplace Book" before the auction of articles contributed by the members.

The last of the lectures in the Lenten series sponsored annually by the Chapel Guild of the Cenacle will be given at 2:30 this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Stuyvesant Peabody, 1525 North State parkway. The Rev. Frederic Siedenburg, executive dean of the University of Detroit, formerly dean of Loyola university, is to discuss the timely subject, "The Church and the Present Crisis."

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Need Hot Water Radiators.

"Dear Miss Brown: Your request for a furnace for the boys' club brought an answer from a gentleman who has a boiler in good condition which he will donate to us, but in order to use it we will need seven hot water radiators of medium size. Do you think your readers will help us out once more? J. H. W."

Maintain Vigor at High Level by Exercising

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Walter Camp used to say: "It's what lies under the ribs rather than what lies over them that is of value. The real essential is the engine, the part under the hood—lungs, heart and trunk. The engine should be kept oiled if it is to run smoothly and climb the hill. And the right kind of exercise is the lubricant."

There are a number of signs by which you may know if what's going on under your ribs isn't leaving you fit for any kind of present hill-climbing, much less future effort in whatever direction you wish to go. Stiffness and sagging are two noted symptoms. Tiring easily is another. Too much fat over the ribs, or not enough tissue there are other signs, as is not being able to get your work done with despatch due to slowed down coördination of mind and muscle.

The man or woman in good condition should be supple, quick and easy of movement, with strong heart and lungs and swift coördination. Vigor is maintained at the highest possible level.

Much of this vigor, as you know, is governed by the condition of the trunk muscles. Keeping the trunk supple, together with correct habits of muscles supple, together with correct habits of posture, will positively guarantee you youth away beyond the usual allotted span. Also, and of interest to a large majority of us sedentary workers, it prevents the evils of too great confinement in a sitting position. This includes school children, men and women in business, those who spend much time driving cars or being driven in them, and so on.

So, we come today in this series based on West Point physical training to correcting abdominal and back faults. No need to remind women of what correction in this regard will mean to their silhouettes. Men, too, are fully aware of youth's defeat, with the paunchy stomach, the middle-aged waistline and the ageing back.

Child Can Often Heal Wounds of Lost Romance

BY DORIS BLAKE.

He was unhappily married when she met him. They met at a social affair. It was one of those immediate attractions that neither science nor sense can explain. The girl did not want to get mixed up with a married man, even though he was unhappy. A homewrecker was neither her act nor intention.

But, somehow, they were presently admitting to each other they were head over heels in love. The man started divorce proceedings. His mother became ill at this point and made her son promise that he would not go through with the divorce. To complicate matters further, his wife announced she was going to have a baby.

As the girl saw it, the quickest and surest way to withdraw from the scene was to accept the suitor who'd been waiting. She married him a few weeks after the heart-breaking parting with the married love.

Two years have gone by now. The girl's husband is a dear in every way. "But I sometimes wonder if he is happy," she muses. "I try so hard to replace with kindness and favors the love I cannot give him. We get along very well—but nobody ever will know what hell I live through. The other man is before me every minute of the day. I become desperate at times and try to muster up courage to tell my husband that I do not love him and must leave. But I can't hurt him when it comes to doing it.

"I am afraid it's been one of my failings that I can't hurt any one. Tell me, Miss Blake, was it a wrong move on the checker board of life I made? ENID."

It's strength of character, not weakness, to consider other people's feelings. The pursuit of one's own happiness at all costs to others is a regrettable cult of the day. This, more than anything else, has brought marriage to its present chaotic state.

But, having renounced the married one, "Enid," and having deliberately thrown in your lot with another man, why undermine that better self in you by indulging in regrets?

"Enid," there is a way to make you forget that forbidden love. Have a child of your own. When you look into its dear young eyes you'll find there the inspiration to be true to your better self and to him.

Betty Furness Home; Silent on Romance

Merely Smiles at Rumor of Marriage.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., April 2.—[Special.]—Betty Furness is back from her mysterious trip to New York and she still won't discuss rumors of romance. Betty broke her journey on the way back to take dinner with a young man in Chicago whose name she won't tell. "I knew him since I was a little girl and have been writing to him for years," she says.

To her mother, who did not accompany the 18 year old ingenue eastward, she said only that she had a "big surprise to tell you." Her friends asked if the "surprise" would be an announcement that she had gotten married, but Betty merely gives a knowing smile. She starts work with Bill Boyd and Bill Gargan in "Emergency Call" at Radio this week.

Both of the John Gilberts are now retired from movies, although how long John and Virginia will stay retired probably won't be known until their liner, the Santa Paula, reaches New York late this month. They sailed yesterday. Gilbert may go on the stage.

Mae West recently received a letter from a woman in Elkhart, Ind., who asked advice about some trouble with her husband. Included in the advice Mae wrote her in return was this: "And I advise you to show him this letter." Last week Mae received another letter from the same correspondent. "I showed him your letter and now I have two black eyes," the Elkhart lady wrote. "What will I do next?"

PIRATE HOMER IN TENTH INNING BEATS CUBS, 8 TO 7

FIVE RUNS IN 9TH SEND GAME INTO OVERTIME

Then Suhr Breaks Up Battle.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., April 2.—The Cubs this afternoon put on one of those August 1932 ninth inning specials to score five runs and tie the score with the Pittsburgh Pirates. But sad to relate, the dramatic rally, of which a homer by Frank Demaree was the high spot, went for naught. The Cubs relied on Bud Tinning to carry on and Gus Suhr, first up in the last of the tenth, knocked a homer to return the Pirates victors, 8 to 7.

The heavy work in the ninth would not have been necessary for a tie had the first eight innings been played on a perfect fielding basis. Two errors by Capt. Woody English branded as unearned the Pirates' last five runs prior to Suhr's decisive wallop. The score should have been 2 to 2, when the Cubs started their dynamiting.

Win Their Share.

It scarcely is necessary to second guess the Pirates' unearned runs, however, to make a favorable comparison between the Cubs and Pirates. The teams played eight exhibition games and the Cubs won five of them.

During their stay in California the Cubs won three and lost three to the New York Giants; won five and lost three to the Pirates, and split a two game series with the Chicago White Sox. Against Coast league competition, they won six and lost two, the losses being at the hands of Los Angeles and the San Francisco Missions.

Warneke Scores First Run.

The Cubs were the first to score. Warneke opened the third inning with a single to left, but Bill Herman fanned. English drew his second pass and Demaree doubled to right, scoring Warneke and putting English on third. Then Babe Herman fanned the second time and Stephenson was called out on strikes.

In their half of the third the Pirates took the lead. L. Waner singled with one down and trotted home ahead of Lindstrom when Freddy drove one into the right field bleachers. P. Waner followed with a single to left, but the inning ended when Traynor hit into a double play.

The Pirates got ever an unearned run in the sixth. Suhr walked with one down. Vaughan bunted and although he had it beaten out, English elected to try a toss to Hendrick. The ball went far past first, letting Suhr score and Vaughan reached second. Piet and Finney were easy outs

Babe Herman Knocks One.

Babe Herman hit his homer in the eighth. It was a drive over the left field wall. Four unearned runs came across in the Pirate eighth. With one down English fumbled Traynor's grounder. Suhr then singled to center. The runners advanced on Vaughan's out and then Piet walked, filling the bases. Finney tripled to center, clearing the bases, and scored himself on Swift's single to right. Yerkes was pitching at the time, Warneke having left for a pinch hitter in the seventh.

Jurges fanned to start the big ninth, but Koenig, batting for Yerkes, singled to left. Bill Herman singled to center. English was called out on strikes. Demaree then drove the ball over the left field wall, scoring Koenig and Bill Herman ahead of him. Babe Herman doubled to center and scored on Stephenson's double to right. Hendrick singled to center, scoring Stevie with the tying run. Hendrick was caught trying to steal second.

Kiki Cuyler, whose right leg was broken last Wednesday, accompanied his team on the trip east tonight. He will continue on to Chicago where he will make plans for hastening his recovery, in the hope he will be able to resume play by June 15.

STARTING NO. 20

Ted Lyons to Pitch Today, Saturday and Opening Day

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Pasadena, Cal., April 2.—Ted Lyons, the Louisiana bachelor, will be assigned to pitch tomorrow when the White Sox, on their journey homeward from camp, make a stop at Tucson, Ariz., to play the Pittsburgh Pirates, prospective National league champions, in the first of a four game transcontinental series.

TED LYONS.

Manager Lew Fonseca gave Lyons the nomination today and while the Pirate opener is of no importance except as a matter of league prestige, the assignment has significance. It means that Ted is in line to pitch the first of the two games against the Cubs this week-end in Chicago and also that he will be chosen to open the season April 12 at St. Louis. Tomorrow Lyons will be permitted to pitch until he decides to quit.

Appling Must Do.

Arranging for his prospective starting pitchers for the city series and the regular campaign was nothing compared to Fonseca's fretting about the shortshop job, which suddenly developed into a problem when Luke Appling reverted to his former wabbly self afield.

Today when the Sox, in their last bit of exercise at their local training post, defeated the Merchants' team, 6 to 2, Red Kress was a shortstop. But it isn't likely that the experiment will be carried over another day. Kress might prove satisfactory if given the chance, but for various reasons Fonseca believes it advisable to shove Appling back into the infield and hope for the best.

The main reason for the switch is that Appling, if kept out too long, might become so discouraged as to ruin him permanently. He is that kind of chap mentally. He lacks confidence in his own natural ability of which he has plenty. For this reason, when he makes an every day error he slips into a state of worry and subsequent mental lethargy, and then neglects to cover second base when he should. Sometimes he even throws the ball to the wrong spot.

Lew Encourages Luke.

Fonseca hopes to get Appling believing himself to be as good a shortstop as there is in the league. This also involves mechanics of play. Appling has the bad habit of standing back and waiting until a ball reaches him. For a time this spring he was tearing in and judging the bounces properly, but all of a sudden he forgot it. All this can be corrected.

It has been figured right along, and it may work yet, that Dykes, an old head at the game, would be of great help to Appling. Dykes not only can relieve Appling of a lot of the ground he tried to cover to his right last season, but can instruct him what to do while plays are on. The trouble is that if Appling makes an error he goes into the dumps and doesn't hear what is being yelled at him. He might get over that, too.

The Sox lost no time defeating the Merchants after a local youth hit a home run off old Red Faber with a man on in the second inning to give the Merchants a 2 to 1 lead. Dykes and Berry hit home runs. Kress performed well at short and besides uncorked three line singles.

Runyan's 280 Wins Title in Cavalier Meet

Virginia Beach, Va., April 2.—(AP)—Paul Runyan, diminutive professional from White Plains, N. Y., today won the Cavalier open golf tournament with a lead of four strokes on the field. His medal score of 280 brought him $300 in prize money and boosted his season's winnings to $4,336.

Denny Shute, Philadelphia, took second place with 284 and Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., was third with 285. Shute received $250 and Wood $200.

It was Tony Manero of New York, however, who stole the show, burning up the fairways to set a new course record of 66, two under par. The record performance gave him fourth place and $150.

Mehlhorn's score placed him in fifth place and gave him $100. Others finishing in the money were Bobby Cruickshank, Richmond, and Horton Smith, Chicago, with 292; Johnny Farrell, Quaker Ridge, N. J., and Joe Kirkwood, New York, with 295; Charles Guest, Deal, N. J., with 297; Johnny Revolta, New York, Dick Metz, Deal, and Archie Hambrick, Zanesville, O., with 300, and Joe Ezar, St. Louis, with 302.

RANGERS DEFEAT DETROIT, 4 TO 3; REACH FINALS

New York Team Qualifies for Cup Matches.

Detroit, Mich., April 2.—(AP)—The New York Rangers took advantage of a frantic Detroit offense tonight to win their way into the Stanley cup matches of the National Hockey league, defeating Detroit, 4 to 3, and maintaining a six to three goal lead in their two game total goal semi-final series.

The Wings, trailing by two goals because of their 2 to 0 defeat in New York Thursday night, set a terrific pace from the start, but the Rangers turned the offense to their own advantage.

Rangers Are Wary.

Twice, when the New York team was shy one man because of penalties, the Wings sent in five forwards. The Rangers scored each time on sneak plays that gave Goalie Roach of Detroit no chance to save.

Ott Heller, Ranger defense man, got the first Ranger goal after Johnny Sorrell had scored early in the game for Detroit. Heller hooked Cecil Dillon's pass to beat Roach, while Earl Seibert was in the penalty box. Again in the first period Dillon came through for a lone handed goal while Seibert served his second penalty.

Seibert Scores.

Sorrell figured in all of Detroit's goals. Late in the second period he assisted Doug Young, Detroit defense man. In the third period he scored on Young's assist. A sell-out crowd of 14,500 saw the match.

BRUINS PLAY LEAFS.

TORONTO, Ont., April 2.—(AP)—All square in their five game series for the National Hockey league championship, the Toronto Maple Leafs and Boston Bruins meet again tomorrow to settle their title claims and to decide which will enter the final playoff series for the Stanley cup, emblem of the world's professional hockey championship.

The schedule calls for the Bruins and Leafs to complete their series tomorrow and the winner to meet the Rangers at New York Tuesday in the opening contest of the Stanley cup finals.

Joe Primeau, injured center, is expected to return for the final game and bring the Toronto squad up to full strength. The Bruins have not suffered any injuries in the four games played.

MISSISSIPPI AND MEXICO TO PLAY GRID GAME HERE

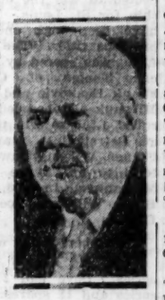
MEXICO CITY, April 2.—(AP)—The University of Mexico football team will play Mississippi college of Clinton, Miss., at Chicago Sept. 16, Leopoldo Noriega, university football manager, announced today. The game will be a feature of "Mississippi day" at the Century of Progress exposition.

Noriega also announced that Allan Converse, former Yale star, will coach the Mexico team this year. He is expected to come to Mexico in late July or early August. Converse will be the fourth Yale player to coach the university squad.

Turf Association Meets Today; Winn to Retain Job

BY FRENCH LANE.

Stockholders in the American Turf association—owners of the Washington Park and Lincoln Fields race tracks in Chicago and Churchill Downs and Latonia in Kentucky—were holding numerous conferences last night making ready to reëlect Col. Matt J. Winn as the president of the organization at their annual meeting in the Congress bank building this morning.



COL. M. J. WINN.

Ten days ago holders of considerable American Turf association stock were clamoring for Col. Winn's head and also the heads of the members of his friendly board of directors. They charged, among other things, "mismanagement, waste of funds, and extravagance."

Ouster Plans Balked.

They threatened a complete overthrow of the Winn administrative cabinet and said they would place a new boss on the job by the time the Kentucky Derby was renewed on May 6.

Held as collateral in the Bank of Kentucky at Louisville were 85,966 shares of stock in the association. It represented the balance of power. Persons friendly to Winn, who had confidence in his management, bought this stock at $8 a share from the receiver of this bank. So they have gathered in Chicago to elect the Winn ticket at today's election.

Col. Winn did not take part in the conferences and powwows held yesterday and last night. He will be here in time to preside at the meeting, reporters were told.

Maurice Galvin of Covington, Ky., one of the large stockholders in the American Turf association and for a number of years Winn's closest adviser, was among the early arrivals.

"We don't know what will happen at the stockholders' meeting," Mr. Galvin said. "We do know that about 75 per cent of the stock will be represented, and from the outlook Col. Winn will be reëlected and so will most of the members of the present board of directors."

Denies Chicagoans Fought Winn.

"Nobody in particular," he said. "The stock tied up in the Bank of Kentucky brought about most of the commotion." Galvin said there was no truth in the report that a group of Chicagoans had attempted to get control of the four valuable tracks in Illinois and Kentucky.

Col. Winn has been president of the American Turf association since it was formed in 1928 after the stock in the Kentucky Jockey club, the Lincoln Fields Jockey club and the Washington Park Jockey club had been merged. He previously had been at the head of all three organizations.

Quoted at $2.

Soon after the stock was put on the market it sold around $30 a share. It had dropped to around $8 two years ago, the figure at which Winn's friends purchased the stock which put the control in their hands. The stock has been quoted lately as low as $3 a share.

Stuyvesant Peabody, John T. Connery, Charles W. Bidwill and other Chicagoans are among the holders of blocks of the stock. Peabody and Connery are members of the board of directors.

QUINIELAS.

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., April 2.—The Wake predicts that Chicago turf patrons will become acquainted with quinielas—also spelled quinellas—during the coming racing season. Moreover, it is likely the punters and $2 players will take to them as they have to the daily doubles, an innovation of recent years. Quiniela wagering was offered in two races of the Tropical Park horse meeting at Coral Gables. Constantly increasing play for this feature proved its popularity.

Quinielas, in reality, is merely an adaptation of the old combination ticket prevalent and popular with some bettors thirty and forty years ago when most tracks maintained so-called "foreign" books where wagers could be laid on races at distant courses. These combinations were extremely flexible. The layer would quote prices to the player on a combination of winners or place winners at any track and usually did not limit the number of horses which might be included. He quoted in advance the odds he was willing to pay on these combinations going through. Quinielas and daily doubles returns are determined by the betting public through the pari-mutuels just as are odds against the straight, place and show winners.

A winning quinielas is the naming of the two horses which finish first and second in a race. It is not necessary to name the horses one-two, but simply to name the horses. They may finish one-two or two-one, and still the combination is a winner.

Despite repeated questions, we have not learned to our entire satisfaction the meaning of the word quinielas. One track owner to whom we appealed said he didn't know exactly, but it was something about a double bet. That sounded reasonable. A cynic said it meant one in 500 chances, and that this just about represented your chance to cash one. That pessimism, however, is not mathematically true.

At the dog tracks, where eight greyhounds contest in each race, twenty eight quinielas comprise all possible combinations. Thus, to be sure of cashing, a player could buy 28 quinielas for $56. This would not be a profitable investment over a long period. While quinielas pay from as low as $10 or $12 to sums in the hundreds, the average is around $50.

Just a few nights ago, such a ticket paid $708. The financial return, of course, was a come-on for future players. Only one such combination had been sold on the race. Yet every night there are two or three quinielas at the dog tracks paying handsome returns.

The lure of the quinielas primarily is the big returns. Our reason for believing it would be popular in horse racing, already proved at Tropical track, is that same appeal to punters of much for little. There is another factor, however, where it would be more useful in horse than in dog betting. That is in races where the favorite is odds-on, not infrequent at horse tracks, but rare at dog tracks.

There are many persons at race tracks—$2 bettors like The Wake—who will not play an odds-on choice because the return for $2 is so small. Yet they think the favorite will win and that's a waste of their money to try to beat him. Hence they play another horse for place or "stay off" the race, more often the latter. To this class, the quinielas would offer opportunity to pick the favorite which they think will win, and couple it with another horse, which would increase the prize if the combination were successful. Each quinielas, however, would not pay a high price.

In horse racing, some fields might be so small that quinielas would not be justified. In large fields successful selection of the first two horses would be a veritable gold mine.

There is another feature of quinielas which race tracks might consider. That's the promotional value. Any speculation or investment which returns large sums for a small initial outlay attracts newspaper publicity. Such publicity stimulates others to try the same thing. So that's one more reason why The Wake thinks Chicago turf goers will be talking about quinielas this summer.

AGUA CALIENTE, Cal., April 2.—[Special.]—Coming from behind with record breaking speed, Gallant Sir won the $25,000 Agua Caliente handicap today, beating Waylayer by a length in a fairly close but decisive finish.

Lemon Hills finished third, two and one-half lengths behind Waylayer and six lengths ahead of the rest of the field, which included Loversall, Bahamas, Wirt G. Bowman, Satin Spar, The Nut, and Whizz James, in that order.

Gallant Sir, carrying top weight of 124 pounds and given a smart ride by Georgie Woolf, covered the mile and one-quarter in 2:02 3-5, breaking by one-fifth of a second the track record, set last year in the same race by Phar Lap.

Woolf Takes Own Time.

Woolf took his own time with Gallant Sir. Breaking seventh in the nine horse field, he moved his mount up to first position at the quarter, third at the half, second at the three-quarter post, and moved into the lead in the stretch to win convincingly, though vigorously ridden.

The field was the smallest in the 14 years' history of the race. It went to the post promptly at 5 p. m. and was off to a good start three minutes later.

Whizz James, stablemate of the winner, was first away from the barrier and established a fast early pace. Bahamas was right on his heels and had the lead at the half. The California colt covered the mile in 1:36 4-5 and had only a head lead over Gallant Sir at that point. It was here that the son of the imported Sir Gallahad III. and Sun Spot made his move, Woolf urging him to top position.

Waylayer, which had lain close to the pace all the way, moved up strongly and challenged the leader, but didn't have enough to force Gallant Sir to his limit. Bahamas tired badly in the stretch and Lemon Hills charged fast at the finish to easily outdistance the rest of the field.

Gallant Sir Pays $3.60.

Gallant Sir, outstanding favorite in the future book, went to the post a 1 to 5 favorite in the books and rewarded his backers at 4 to 5 in the mutuels. His mutuel price was $3.60, $4.00, and $2.60. Waylayer paying $4.20 and $3.40, while Lemon Hills paid $5.20 to show.

A crowd of about 10,000 persons witnessed the fifteenth renewal of the Coffroth-Agua Caliente classic.

Gallant Sir, sired by the same horse as Gallant Fox, was bought at the Saratoga sales as a yearling by Norman W. Church of Los Angeles for $24,000. He won $24,200 today, bringing his total earnings to $76,220.

Bert Baroni bought Waylayer for $8,500 in Chicago last summer, and received $2,500 for second money today, Lemon Hills accounting for $1,250 and Lovers All for $750.

Tea Trader Wins.

J. D. Davis, who won the stake last year with the great Phar Lap, decided against sending this year's challenger, Pillow Fight, to the post, but scored with the latter's stablemate, Tea Trader, in the Baja California handicap, beating Sun Dot by a nose for his second victory for the meeting in a six furlong affair.

The handicap closed a 78 day meeting which had not been a screaming financial success. The heavy betting in the future book on Gallant Sir did not help the track's balance sheet. The handicap, in boon times, was worth $100,000, but was sliced to $50,000 last year and was cut in half again this year.

Boy's Home Run Sends Two Men to N. Y. Hospital

New York, April 2.—(AP)—When an aspiring Babe Ruth hit the ball in a boys' baseball game in Brooklyn today he made a home run, but two men went to a hospital in a serious condition.

The ball struck a horse attached to a peddler's wagon. The horse bolted. The driver was thrown to the street on his head. Several blocks away a patrolman tried to halt the runaway horse and was dragged through heavy traffic and thrown against a fence. Both men suffered concussion of the brain.

8,500 SEE YANKS WHIP CHICKS AT MEMPHIS, 6 TO 0

Gomez Allows Only Six Hits in 7 Innings.

Memphis, Tenn., Apr. 2.—[Special.]—The New York Yankees defeated Memphis of the Southern association, 6 to 0, before 8,500, the largest crowd of the exhibition season, today. It was the Yankees' first shutout triumph of the year.

VERNON GOMEZ.

Lefty Vernon Gomez's pitching and shoddy playing by the Chicks combined to produce the triumph, notwithstanding the fact that the Yankees made only six hits, four of which were scratches.

Gomez pitched seven innings and yielded six hits, only two of which were bunched. Don Brennan pitched the last two innings, and was nicked for two hits in the ninth.

INDIANS WIN TWO.

New Orleans, La., April 2.—(AP)—Clint Brown and Willis Hudlin pitched 15 consecutive innings of shutout baseball today as the Cleveland Indians won a double header from the New Orleans Pelicans, 10 to 2 and 7 to 0.

Hudlin gave two runs in the first inning of the opening seven inning contest, in which both teams were composed largely of rookies. He then clamped down for the remainder of the game. Brown went the entire route in the nine inning contest between teams made up largely of regulars, and allowed only four scattered hits. Scores:

The American leaguers won the abbreviated contest, 3 to 1, scoring once off Walter Beck in the first frame and twice off Rosy Bill Ryan in the fourth. They had the bases filled in the sixth with only one out, when rain stopped the game.

Hal Schumacher was victimized for five runs, three of which came on Gehringer's homer. Adolfo Luque, who replaced Schumacher in the eighth, suffered a similar fate when Webb walked, Fox singled and Reiber hit a home run. A moment later Harry Davis also hit a homer.

RED SOX SHUT OUT SKEETERS.

Jersey City, N. J., April 2.—(AP)—The Boston Red Sox, with Bob Weiland and Ivy Paul Andrews pitching masterful ball, defeated the Jersey City Skeeters at West Side Park today, 12 to 0. The Skeeters could get to the Red Sox hurlers for only one hit, that a double by Frank Packard in the second inning, with Weiland on the mound.

PHILLIES, 3; NEWARK, 0.

Newark, N. J., April 2.—(AP)—The Philadelphia National league club defeated the Newark Bears, International champions, 3 to 0, today in an exhibition game. The Bears were limited to four singles. They reached here last night from their spring training quarters in Florida.

Espinosa and Dawson Beat Sweet, Novotny

The Cog Hill Golf club opened its season yesterday with an exhibition match in which Abe Espinosa and Warren Dawson defeated Art Sweet and Gus Novotny, 2 up. Espinosa, who is the club professional, had a medal score of 36—34—70, which established a course record. His partner, who holds the state amateur championship, had a card of 40—40—80. Sweet shot 40—36—76, and Novotny, 38—25—75.

ST. CYR DEFEATS DAMEN, 25-24, TO WIN K. OF C. TITLE

St. Cyr of the North Division won the Knights of Columbus Basketball league championship yesterday by defeating Damen of the West Division, 25 to 24, at the 132d Regiment armory.

It was the first triumph for the North Division since 1927, and marked the second year in a row in which Damen has been beaten for the title by one point.

Rudy Benisch, a substitute, and Bob Gruenig combined to bring the title to St. Cyr. Benisch, entering the contest at the start of the second half with his team trailing, 11 to 10, sank three long baskets and followed with another later in the period to tie up the score. Gruenig scored in the last few minutes, sinking two follow-up shots under the basket to give St. Cyr a 25 to 22 lead. St. Cyr maintained this advantage until the finish despite a midfloor shot by Red Barak, which pulled Damen within a point.

Setters of the West Division won second place by defeating Quigley, South End Division, 18 to 16. Two baskets by Petrolaitus, who scored 13 of his team's points, turned the tide in the last minute.

RED SOX TRAIN WRECKED; TEAM ESCAPES INJURY

Dover, Del., April 2.—(AP)—Members of the Boston Red Sox baseball club escaped injury early today in a Pennsylvania railroad wreck which officials said was caused by a tampered switch and which killed the engineer and firemen.

Three sleepers occupied by the Red Sox were derailed. Seven passengers in other cars were hurt, none seriously. The train was the night express from Norfolk to New York and the accident occurred at Wyoming, at 3:10 a. m.

The engineer was C. A. Burkhead of Wilmington, Del., and the fireman, E. L. Poulson of Delmar, Del.

The ball players and other members of their party were shaken up, but they proceeded in a special train after several hours' delay to Jersey City, where they were scheduled for an exhibition game today.

JENNINGS SIGNS FOR BOUT WITH STECHER FRIDAY

Lou Sun Jennings, a full blooded Black Foot Indian, was engaged yesterday to meet Joe Stecher in one of the supporting bouts on the Jim Londos-Joe Savoldi wrestling match at the Stadium Friday.

This makes two original Americans who will appear on the card. The other is Tom Marvin, the Canadian red man, who will wrestle Gino Garibaldi. Jennings was signed when it was learned that Ernie Dusek, originally scheduled to meet Stecher, was unable to cancel a previous engagement.

With this change the Stadium card is complete. In addition to the feature match and the Stecher-Jennings bout the other matches will be between Jim McMillen and George Zaharias, Gino Garibaldi and Tom Marvin, and John Katon and Abie Coleman.

POWERS, 3 TIMES U. S. TRAPSHOOT CHAMPION, DIES

Decatur, Ill., April 2.—[Special.]—Chauncey M. Powers, three times national amateur trapshooting champion and one of the country's outstanding marksmen for several decades, died today. He was 69 years old. Powers won the national championship in 1907, 1909, and 1910.

In 1919 he was a member of the squad which won the Grand American championship in Chicago, and the following year he was a member of the American team which won the Olympic championship at Antwerp. Powers' last competitive activity was in 1926, when he tied for first place in the national tournament.

Columbus, O., April 2.—[Special.]—Forrest Beye and Dave Knapp of St. Louis crashed through with a sensational 1,356 total—only 24 pins shy of the all time A. B. C. record—to take the lead in the doubles division of the American Bowling congress tournament this afternoon. They displaced Frank Muza and Johnny Kintgen of Chicago.

The St. Louis men, members of the Wooster Lambert team, rolled games of 444, 413, and 499. Beye, a veteran of 15 national tournaments, registered games of 221, 223, and 245, to total 689. Knapp, a ten year man, scored 223, 190, and 254, for 667.

Riepel Takes Singles Lead.

Rudy Riepel, Milwaukee, took the lead in the singles tonight with a 722 total, one pin better than the mark established in the afternoon by Andy Tomasek of Cleveland. Riepel rolled gomes of 221, 237 and 264. Tomasek's games were 245, 278 and 198.

Beye and Knapp's 1,356 total is expected to win the doubles championship for St. Louis. The score would have been high enough to win 28 previous titles. The all time record, 1,380, was scored by Harry and Clarence Thoma of Chicago in 1924. Frank Benkovic and Charley Daw of Milwaukee, scheduled here tomorrow, rolled 1,358 to win the championship at Detroit last year. Paired with Finnes Wilson, Daw shot the same total to annex the title in 1923 at Milwaukee. In 1928, at Kansas City, Hank Will and Joe Hradek scored 1,363.

Lambert Team on Rampage.

Beye and Knapp rolled sparkling series. Beye had 20 strikes in the series and 11 spares. Knapp, rolling in anchor position, had 20 strikes, 8 spares, 2 splits, and 1 error.

Lambert had a 678 series and his partner, Rudy Meyers, cannected with 610. Their 1,288 total was good for fifth place.

Germans Beat Swedes, 5-2; Take Trophy

BY OFFSIDE.

The German All Stars won the Mayor's trophy yesterday by defeating the Swedish All Stars, 5 to 2, at De Paul field.

The Germans took the lead when Kramer took a pass from Kuehl and drove the ball past Johnson, the Swedish goal keeper. Ten minutes later Calender scored for the Swedes, but the Germans came right back with goals by Sack and Kroeckel to pile up a 3 to 1 advantage. In the second half Erickson scored for the Swedes and Bumkman made two goals for the Germans.

In two National league games played yesterday Sparta beat the Ravenswood Scots, 4 to 0, and the Maccabee All-Stars beat the Jugo-Slavs, 10-2.

Trout Fishers Test Nymph Pattern Fad

BY BOB BECKER.

While fishermen who do most of their angling with short bait casting rods are having a lot of fun getting acquainted with the new, lightweight, tubular steel rods which are making their debut this spring, trout fishermen have found a new slant in their sport in the growing use of nymph flies.

Many an early May trout fisherman is either puttering around in his workshop tying these funny looking imitations of fresh water nymphs or else buying a few nymph patterns. Although Michigan trout fishermen seem to be leading the procession in this fad, if you talk to Illinois fly rod enthusiasts you'll find it spreading here.

Lesson in Natural History.

In the first place the trout fisherman holds to the theory that trout, especially early in the season, feed upon aquatic insects which are undergoing a metamorphosis from the egg stage to the adult flying insect. For example, a stone fly lays its eggs in the water. These eggs develop into crawling insects known as nymphs. They live under water, have flattened bodies, two tiny tails, gills, and claws. They may vary from a half-inch to two inches in length. With but very few exceptions these nymphs, which must stay in this form for about a year before developing into adult stone flies, live on swift water, small brooks, or around rapids and waterfalls.

Stay Where Food Is.

It is thus easy to see why brook trout will stay in spots where they can watch patches of fast water for this form of insect life. Besides the nymphs of stoneflies, our streams have in them this aquatic form of mayflies, dragon flies, damsel flies, and other insects, as well as

GRAIN TRADERS DISCERN WORLD RISE IN PRICES

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Belief that the United States, and a good part of the world, is in for a long period of inflation in commodities, particularly grain, provisions, live stock, real estate, and general merchandise, is rapidly spreading. Expectations are, as viewed by the grain trade, that wheat and corn will be the leaders, and that other grains, also coffee, cotton, and sugar, and manufacturing lines, particularly steel, are to become more active.

Within the last week leading operators, who were inclined to go slow on the buying side, are understood to have taken hold of the wheat market and secured fair sized lines. Eastern interests, who have been trading in and out of the market, also have been good buyers, and the result is seen in an advance in prices, with the close around the best of the week. May wheat was 54¼ to 54⅜ cents; July, 54⅞ to 55 cents, and September, 55⅝ to 55¾ cents.

Prices Up 1 to 2⅜ Cents.

Net gains in May wheat were 1⅜ cents; July, 2 cents, and September, 2⅜ cents. The latter month is the favorite of new investors because the market will be more affected by unfavorable crop reports and other factors than are likely to develop in the next few months.

Fred Uhlmann, head of the Uhlmann Grain company, one of the oldest and largest exporters and domestic handlers, says it is difficult to judge the present situation.

"Even after having gone through the various wars and war scares, corners and manipulations, everything is now entirely different," he says, "because we have changed from an international market to a domestic one, as far as wheat is concerned, and all calculations must for the present be made accordingly."

As the United States is now on a domestic basis, foreign news and conditions may have little influence as a price maker, although the trade has been accustomed to foreign news of all kinds too long to disregard it.

Analyze Farm Board Report.

Wheat traders were given the farm board's statement of holdings of futures late on Saturday, which were slightly in excess of many estimates, being 11,941,000 bushels, or about 18,000,000 bushels less than a month ago. It is believed by trade leaders that with an expanding buying movement, farm board holdings will have comparatively little effect of a bearish character, unless sales are unusually heavy on bulges and exceed the ability of buyers to absorb.

Crop news on winter wheat is the most bullish the trade has had in years, especially from the southwest, where the big surplus is raised. Private crop estimates from Chicago statisticians are to be issued today. Expectations are for 355,000,000 to 382,000,000 bushels. This is a wide range and suggests one of the smallest crops on record, with possibilities of further deterioration in the next two months, unless the southwest has had an abundance of rain. The government report las April suggested 458,000,000 bushels and the harvest was 462,000,000. It is possible that should wheat prices advance materially, spring wheat farmers will put in as large an acreage as possible. The main unsettling factor is that in addition to the poor crops there is uncertainty as to what congress will do with the farm bill, which is unsatisfactory to grain and live stock interests.

Millers Have Fair Trade.

Millers absorbed more than 10,000,000 bushels of wheat in the last thirty days and are having a fair trade in flour. The Red Cross has absorbed most of the 85,000,000 bushels of farm board wheat given it by congress and has orders out for the 2,500,000 bushels remaining. The Red Cross will have handled around 9,800,000 barrels

Steel Trade Sees Modest April Upturn

Cleveland, O., April 2.—April points to a moderate upturn in iron and steel demand, following the restricted conditions of March, with impetus expected mainly from the automotive industry, a quickening in seasonal requirements, and expansion in beer manufacture and distribution, states the magazine Steel in its weekly review. This improvement, however, is likely to develop without extensive railroad and public construction work, normally active at this period.

Railroad buying is in almost complete suspension, pending determination of what the Washington administration is planning for the carriers. New federal building projects await revision of the emergency construction program; state legislatures are debating road and bridge building policies.

Steel ingot production in the last week was lifted 1½ points to 15½ per cent, with greater gains in finishing mill operations than indicated by this rate. Improvement in finished steel output was due largely to automotive requirements and also to fuller specifications on first quarter contracts, owing to apprehension that any change in prices will be upward.

Pig Iron Output Declines.

Preliminary estimates of March pig iron production indicate a daily average of 17,450 gross tons, compared with 19,752 tons in February. In output, March apparently did not break through the record low of last August, but the number of stacks reported active at the close of the month, 39, was two less than for August.

Chevrolet, preparing to make 35,000 cars in April, has released substantial steel orders. The Ford program contemplates 50,000 cars; some inquiries have been issued and purchasing is expected to develop this week. Sheet mills in districts tributary to Detroit have stepped up to 30 per cent.

The brewing industry is figuring more prominently in the market for steel products, ranging from strip for box hinges to structural shapes. Sheets and parts have been placed for brewery trucks. A Milwaukee fabricator is planning mass production of stainless steel barrels. New brewery structures are being figured at St. Louis, Columbus, O., and Manville, N. J.

Higher Prices Not Feared.

Steel consumers manifest less apprehension regarding prices for second quarter than they did when a general inflation appeared imminent; nevertheless, they continue to cover farther ahead than has been their practice since the beginning of the depression, seeking protection in some instances through the remainder of the year. Steel pipe prices have been reduced $7 to $14 a ton, and some revision is contemplated in wrought iron pipe.

Despite the dearth in new federal and state projects, structural steel awards for the week show a moderate gain, to 21,594 tons, including 2,839 tons for the Columbus, O., postoffice. Action on more than 35 federal projects, principally postoffices, on which bids were opened in the last two weeks, has been suspended.

Pig iron shipments are improving and sales continue fairly active, featured by 5,000 tons of gray forge in eastern Pennsylvania, with another order for 5,000 tons of foundry iron pending; prices there have advanced again, 50 cents to $1 a ton.

Scrap Quiet and Firmer.

Scrap is quieter, though 25 cents higher at Pittsburgh and Detroit. The Southern railway is understood to be planning to scrap 15,000 freight cars and 100 locomotives, to yield 200,000 tons.

Great Lakes iron ore vessels are starting out two months earlier than last year, mainly to move stockpiles before May 1 taxes become operative.

For the third consecutive week, Steel's scrap composite has advanced, to $6.58. The finished steel composite is off 70 cents, to $44.90, and the iron and steel composite down 23 cents, principally on reductions in line pipe.

Lay Plans to Reorganize Assd. Telephone Utilities

In connection with the appointment of a receiver on Saturday for the Associated Telephone Utilities company, announcement is made of the formation of a committee for the purpose of formulating a plan of reorganization. R. G. Page, vice president of the Bankers' Trust company, New York, is chairman of the committee, which was formed at the request of the management and with the approval of the security houses which distributed the securities of the company.

N. Y. RESERVE'S EFFORT IN BANK CRISIS IS TOLD

Forced to Aid Large Part of Nation.

New York, April 2.—(AP)—Effective dealing with the banking emergency brought a complete reversal of conditions in the banking situation generally, says the monthly review of the Federal Reserve bank of New York.

The review reported a slackening of general business activity in the first half of March, but said the "output of cotton goods appears to have been maintained near the February level. Toward the end of March a gradual recovery of activity was reported in the automobile and steel industries."

The survey depicts graphically the severe strain placed upon the banking structure in the days leading up to the banking holiday, particularly as it affected the New York money market, the nation's chief reservoir of liquid funds.

Money Circulation Jumps.

Money in circulation for the country at large jumped $240,000,000 on March 2 and on the last day of general banking activity shot up $455,000,000. Between Feb. 8 and March 3 withdrawals of currency from the reserve banks by member banks reached the huge total of $1,700,000,000, or an amount equal to roughly a third of the total amount of currency in circulation in the boom year of 1929.

Out of town banks, says the review, withdrew nearly $800,000,000 from their balances with New York banks in order to meet the demands on them and banks throughout the country found it necessary to draw more and more heavily upon the Federal Reserve banks for additional credit.

The reserve position of the Federal Reserve banks was affected not only by the loss of reserves, the report shows, but also by a large increase in reserve requirements against federal reserve notes outstanding. As a result the excess gold reserves of the Federal Reserve banks declined to a little over $400,000,000, as compared with a high point of nearly $1,500,000,000 in January.

Burden on New York.

The report says the burden fell most heavily upon the New York reserve bank, which was called upon to meet not alone the demands from its own district but large demands from other districts as well. To maintain its reserve position this bank found it necessary to rediscount a substantial amount of its paper with other reserve banks and sell them in addition some of its government securities.

With the reopening of banks on March 13, 14, and 15, however, there was a rapid return flow of currency, particularly of gold and gold currency, reflecting in part the government's request for lists of hoarders.

This return, by March 29, the report says, "aggregated over $600,000,000. This return flow of gold, together with a reduction in the amount of gold reserve required against federal reserve notes outstanding [due to return of notes] caused a rapid rise in the excess gold reserves of the federal reserve system to $1,172,000,000 on March 29.

"The total return flow of currency of all kinds in the three weeks ending March 29 was $1,185,000,000."

Average Daily Closing Prices of 50 Leading Stocks on the New York Stock Exchange

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 2.—Earnings of the Eastman Kodak company from Dec. 26, 1931, to Dec. 31, 1932, amounted to $6,058,748 after United States and foreign income taxes and after depreciation on the usual basis. This compares with $13,408,785 in the year ended Dec. 26, 1931. The 1932 profit was equivalent to $2.52 a share on the common stock outstanding, against $5.78 a share in the preceding year.

"The operating results for 1932," says the report, "were of course very considerably affected by disturbed economic conditions prevailing throughout the world. These conditions, although bad in 1931, were worse in 1932. As a consequence the total volume of business of all operating companies declined about 20 per cent. Other factors contributing to the reduced profits were price reductions, depreciated currency in countries where compensating price increases could not practicably be made, and inventory adjustments."

The company announces that while "no one can forecast accurately the results of operations in 1933," the directors are of the opinion that "unless the volume of business further declines to a substantial extent, the economies already effected and still to be made should enable the company to maintain the present annual rate of dividend of $3 a year on the common stock."

ARGENTINE BANK OF ISSUE URGED BY O. NIEMEYER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, April 2.—Sir Otto Niemeyer, British financial expert, reported today findings resulting from a two months' study of the Argentine situation. He recommended the formation of a central bank of issue, provided a balanced budget is established, and general reform of the nation's banking system.

Sir Otto expressed the opinion that government departments in the future should not contract loans independently and also that provincial and municipal loans should be subject to federal approval. He strongly condemned real or disguised inflation and declared that stabilization of the peso should await a more favorable opportunity.

CURTISS-WRIGHT IN 1932 REDUCES LOSS TO $607,182

New York, April 2.—(AP)—Curtiss-Wright corporation in its report for the calendar year 1932, shows a loss of $607,182, not including an outlay of $145,265 for idle properties. This compares with a loss of $4,126,059 for 1931. Gross sales fell from $21,651,585 in 1931 to $12,406,720 last year.

The balance sheet as of Dec. 31, 1932, carried plant properties and airport operating facilities at $13,452,333. Excess manufacturing and airport facilities at "estimated ultimately realizable values, as approved by board of directors," stood at $9,622,907.

"During the year 1932 bank loans amounting to $1,737,000 and other notes payable, amounting to $75,000, or a total of $1,812,000, were paid off in full," explained Thomas A. Morgan, president, in his remarks to stockholders. "Other payables, including mortgages, were reduced $809,822. After paying off these obligations, the cash balance at the end of 1932 amounted to $1,362,550."

U.G.I. REPORTS NET INCOME FOR 1932 TOTALS $35,384,300

Philadelphia, Pa., April 2.—(AP)—The annual report of the United Gas Improvement company for 1932 shows a combined net income of $35,384,300, which amounted to $1.36 a share earned on the outstanding common stock. This compares with $37,722,744, or $1.46 a share earned in 1931.

Operating revenues of utility subsidiaries were $100,351,962, a decrease of $5,735,939. Operating income after expense, depreciation, and taxes amounted to $44,641,821, compared with $45,854,500 on a comparable basis.

The report shows the principal source of income is from dividends from subsidiaries. The Philadelphia Electric company constitutes the company's major investment, the amount received from that utility being $18,100,000. The principal dividend from companies other than subsidiaries was $6,725,000 from the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey.

Three Bloomington Banks, Now Closed, to Be Merged

Bloomington, Ill., April 2.—Bloomington's three closed banks, the First National, American State, and Liberty State, will merge. A permit was granted to the State Bank of Normal, Ill., to reopen.

TRADE IN CHICAGO SPURRED BY ADVENT OF STATE SALES TAX

A decided impetus to wholesale and retail trade through sales of spring merchandise and the amassing of purchases before the effective date of the sales tax, a slight rise in percentage of operating capacity in the steel industry, an increase over the preceding month in employment in the local area, a sharp pickup in automobile sales, and again in electric power output, characterized the last week in Chicago, according to trade observers of the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Gains in wholesale and retail were largely seasonal, due to the increase in buyers seeking spring apparel and household items. In some cases, officials reported that the higher priced items were selling better than at any other time this year. Resumption of buying on a larger scale by retail furniture stores was reflected chiefly by an increased number of buyers in the Chicago market. On Friday alone more than 200 buyers visited the exhibit spaces, coming from cities throughout the middle west.

Chicago steel output increased fractionally. Special sales, rather than a general increase in business, were the cause of this slight rise. But the tone of the market, as a whole, was decidedly stronger, despite the absence of active demand.

Jobs have increased in the local area through an effort on the part of manufacturers to diversify their products and to meet changed conditions. Employment, as of the middle of last month, advanced over the preceding month in about the same amount as in the like period of 1932.

The sharp pickup in the sales of automobiles in Cook county was said by officials to be due to purchases by persons desiring to escape the Illinois sales tax.

Rayon Yarn Production Cut to 70 Pct. of Capacity

Production of rayon yarns in March was curtailed to about 70 per cent of capacity, says the monthly publication of Tubize Chatillon corporation. The average rate for the first quarter was about 90 per cent. Stocks on hand at the end of March probably amounted to five or six weeks' supply, whereas those available at the end of 1932 represented less than three weeks' supply.

BANK DEPOSITS SOAR SOON AFTER TAX DEADLINE

Chicago bank deposits are expected to gain an aggregate of something between $100,000,000 and $200,000,000 during the next few days, according to estimates made yesterday by loop bank statisticians on the basis of experience in past years.

This represents money which depositors have withdrawn in order to escape personal property tax assessment, which is made as of April 1. Some of this money was withdrawn during the last week or so. The rest of it was taken out before the banking holiday and simply not returned when the banks reopened, the depositors waiting until after the April 1 deadline to return it.

Both corporations and individuals withdraw funds to avoid personal property taxes. Some transfer their money to other states for a few days and then bring it back. Others buy short term government notes and return the money to the bank when the notes mature.

An Insull Stays in Utilities; With a Record of Economy.

The report of the Southwestern Light and Power company, a unit of the Middle West Utilities system, issued by the parent company receivers, is signed by Fred W. Insull, president, the only Insull still in the organization.

The surviving Insull is a nephew of Samuel Insull. He has always been primarily an operating man and never shared in the management of the parent company. He is described by his fellow executives as "one of the most capable operating executives in the organization."

Unlike his uncle, he has won himself a reputation for economy. He is reputed to scrutinize the expense accounts of all the company's employés. A story is told that when he was looking at the account of a subordinate he came across an item listed "Breakfast, 50 cents."

"There isn't a place in Oklahoma where a man can spend more than a quarter for breakfast," he declared and wrote the item down to 25 cents.

Taxes and Fees Cost Buyer More than Middle West Utilities Stock.

It costs more in commission, fees, and tax to buy 10 shares of Middle West Utilities common stock than the price the stock is quoted for in the open market.

At the current market price of 12½ cents a share, 10 shares are nominally worth $1.25. The buyer, however, must pay $1 to the Middle West Stock Transfer company for transfer charge, in addition to which he must pay 4 cents a share United States tax.

The $1 transfer cost applies to all transfers, regardless of the number of shares involved. Thus the cost before reckoning brokers' commission amounts to $1.40 on stock valued at $1.25.

The broker's commission is decided on by mutual agreement between the buyer and the broker and the charge varies. The broker may make no charge for a regular customer. In round lot transactions of 50 shares or more the seller pays the government tax, but in odd lot trading the tax is passed on by the broker to the buyer.

ACTION IN WALL STREET IS SLOW; SALES DECLINE

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 2.—With some of its most powerful interests on the griddle for congressional investigation; with business still lagging for want of any sustained incentive and with some of the new administration's most important policies still as darkly beclouded in doubt as ever, Wall street has practically suspended speculative activity pending further developments in the immediate perspective.

Only 3,693,104 shares changed hands on the New York stock exchange in the whole six trading sessions of last week, considerably less than an average day's showing a short while back. The biggest day's turnover of the six was just 639,669.

A Professional Affair.

The market has degenerated into an out-and-out professional affair, with price movements generally meaningless and unimportant. Developments which ordinarily influence trading, such as first bracket dividend declarations, earnings reports, carloadings figures, power output and the like, are passed up as of no account in the great uncertainties that beset the larger picture.

Thus the Missouri Pacific receivership, with its implication of a similar fate in store for other big carriers now in financial difficulty, caused no more than a passing flurry in the rail group and the bankruptcy of the great Liggett drug store chain had no discernible repercussion whatever on other merchandise shares.

Old rules no longer hold. The market, like some of the country's time-honored institutions, appears to many to be undergoing a more or less revolutionary change. Its control seems to be passing, gradually though it may be, to other hands. Washington rather than Wall street looms more and more as the probable arbiter of its destiny.

What Will Farmers Get?

Thus the big questions of the moment in speculative circles are not concerned at all with the welfare or outlook of this or that "pivotal" corporation, that or the other "key" industry or even with horoscopes on business in general. What traders primarily concerned with the market want to know chiefest of all is what the new administration is going to do for the farmers, for instance, and what will be the bill and how paid? What is to be the ultimate solution of the major railroad problem and

The Three Year Six Per Cent. Secured Gold Notes of United States Rubber Company outstanding in principal amount of $8,513,000 (original issue $15,000,000) secured by the Company's First and Refunding Mortgage Six Per Cent. Gold Bonds, Series "B", due January 1, 1947, to 133⅓% of the principal amount of the Notes, mature June 1, 1933.

Because of the unprecedented business and market conditions which have prevailed, and their adverse effect upon the operations of the Company, the maturing Notes cannot be refunded by the sale of new securities in the usual manner.

The Company offers to holders of the maturing Notes 30% of their principal amount in cash and 70% of such principal amount in new Three Year Secured 6% Gold Notes of the Company as follows:

(a) Payment in cash of 10% of the principal amount of each Note on presentation on or after March 31, 1933, and prior to May 1, 1933, for endorsement of payment and acceptance of the plan. This advance payment of 10% is offered for prompt assent and will not be made except on Notes presented prior to May 1, 1933. In addition, the Company will pay at the time of presentation as aforesaid if before May 1, 1933, the full amount of the coupon maturing June 1, 1933.

(b) Payment in cash, on June 1, 1933, or earlier at the option of the Company, of an additional 20% of the principal amount of each Note upon its surrender (or 30% of such principal amount, together with the amount of the coupon due June 1, 1933, of Notes upon which no advance payments have been made as above provided).

(c) Delivery on June 1, 1933, or earlier at the option of the Company, of new Three Year Secured 6% Gold Notes of the Company in principal amount equal to the remaining 70% of the principal amount of each maturing Note upon its surrender, said new Notes to be dated June 1, 1933, to mature June 1, 1936, and to be secured by the pledge of the Company's First and Refunding Mortgage Six Per Cent. Gold Bonds, Series "B", due January 1, 1947, to a principal amount equal to not less than 250% of the principal amount of such new Notes.

The Company's offer to make the payment and delivery described in the foregoing paragraphs (b) and (c) is subject to the consummation of the plan and such payment and delivery will not be made until after the plan in the discretion of the Company is declared operative. In order to declare the plan operative it is essential that the offer be accepted by the holders of substantially all of the Notes. Noteholders are therefore urged to present their Notes promptly to

Notes so presented will be stamped with a suitable legend and forthwith returned to the Noteholders, together with the 10% payment and the interest to which they are entitled as above. The offer to make such advance cash payments expires April 30, 1933.

The New Three Year Secured 6% Gold Notes to be issued under the plan will be issued under an indenture, in form substantially like that under which the present notes were issued, which will provide that the new Notes will be redeemable at the option of the Company in whole or in part on at least thirty days' previous notice on any interest date at their principal amount (and accrued interest) plus a premium of ¼% for each six months between the redemption date and the date of maturity. They will be issued in denominations of $100, $500 and $1,000 each in bearer coupon form, with the privilege of registration as to principal. A copy of the report of the Company for the year ended December 31, 1932, may be obtained by application to the Company.

DOUBTS FARM MEASURE WILL BOOST PRICES

George Rasmussen Urges Aid to Debtors.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Mr. Rasmussen was interviewed at his well-groomed farm near Deerfield, where an entire herd has been built with his son's aid, from the progeny of two top-notch animals of the most populous dairy breed.

King Bessie Ormsby Pieterje, twice "all-American" of his breed, and whose mother, Queen Bessie Pieterje Ormsby, is the American champion butterfat producer for five lactations, is father of many prominent herd sires and "all-Americans" of the black and white breed. Animals were shipped into many states and to Europe, Mexico and South America from this farm in recent months.

Urges Tax Revision.

"There are several definite things the government can do for agriculture," he said, "and until this industry is revived we cannot expect commerce and industry to return to normal. In Denmark, all producers of food have been exempt from taxes. This has served in part to curb government expense." The added taxes for others would result by this means in any other governmental action aiding farmers."

Mr. Rasmussen holds that the mortgage indebtedness of the nation must be refinanced, not alone for agriculture, but for insurance companies. Either insurance companies or the government itself will need to create an insurance against losses in bank deposits, he said, an operation which can be made self-supporting.

Confident of Recovery.

Confidence that business and the nation will survive its present predicament was voiced by this farmer-capitalist. He pointed out that his company was now expanding and that it had opened several new stores this month.

While his firm assumed the risk of feeding unemployed for the state in Cook county during the bank moratorium, he declared that some means of occupation must be found for them. He favors a colonizing of those adapted to farming on small, self-supporting areas, and the creating of factory or "made work" occupations for others.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, April 2.—Pan American Airways corporation reports for 1932 a consolidated net profit after all charges and reserves, of $698,527, equal to $1.36 a share on the 512,581 shares of capital stock outstanding. This compares with a net profit of $105,452, or 21 cents a share in 1931. Surplus account amounted to $188,328 at the close of 1932, comparing with a deficit of $535,884 at the begining of the year.

The balance sheet as of Dec. 31 shows current assets of $1,763,475, including cash of $552,044, and current liabilities of $396,682, compared with current assets of $2,575,123, cash of $479,496 and current liabilities of $378,646 at the close of 1931. Total assets were $18,924,748, against $16,601,459.

Northwestern Public Serv. Has Less Income for 1932

The Northwestern Public Service company, subsidiary of Middle West Utilities operating in Nebraska and South Dakota, yesterday reported 1932 gross revenues of $2,493,000, against $2,752,000 in 1931, a decrease of $258,951. Operating expenses were reduced, but heavier fixed charges resulted in cutting net income available for dividends to $359,590, against $629,079 in 1931. Surplus charges of $219,021 were made to cover investment reserve, additional federal taxes, and additional depreciation.

N. Y. BOND MART LOSES GROUND; U. S. LIENS FIRM

Decline in German Group Hits Foreign Issues.

New York, April 2.—(AP)—Confused by economic and political uncertainties, both at home and abroad, the bond market lost ground steadily during the last week and only United States government securities were able to maintain a firm position.

The collapse of the German group greatly depressed the foreign section, while liquidation of domestic railway liens put a damper on the corporate departments which had been showing only feeble resistance at the best. The Associated Press-Standard Statistics average for 60 domestic corporate bonds sagged to within a point of its low of the year.

Unloading from London.

Heavy "unloading" from London on Friday weakened the German bonds severely, although a number of these maturities came back substantially later. Weakness of this list was attributed largely to fears that the reich, due to growing political disturbances and a consequent drop in trade balances, might have to reduce its foreign debt service. German loans, however, were not the only foreign victims. Obligations of Colombia fell precipitately following the declaration of a moratorium on the republic's external debt service. British and Canadian loans were relatively steady, but French bonds were quite nervous at times.

Notwithstanding efforts of the Washington administration to find a solution for the country's transportation problems, carrier liens were subjected to the most pressure of domestic divisions. In addition to uncertainties concerning new legislation, the rails were compelled to digest other difficulties.

Scurry to Cover.

Filing of a petition by the Missouri Pacific for reorganization under the recently amended bankruptcy law, together with defaults of interest by the Wabash, Wisconsin Central and Ann Arbor roads, caused holders of secondary issues to scurry to cover. Losses in low priced issues were especially pronounced.

The utilities and industrials did not do so badly, under the circumstances, although there were some noticeably soft spots in these groups. Various power and light company bonds continued to ease. United Drug 5s dropped sharply upon the filing of a bankruptcy petition by its subsidiary, the Liggett Drug company.

Wants to Sell House.

TO THE EDITOR: My mother and I own an eight room house which we wish to sell. If we can't get a low cash price, then, if possible, we'll have to sell it by contract, and, not knowing just how to proceed, I'm writing this in the hope that you'll be able to give us some pertinent information. The house is clear of all incumbrances and if sold by contract we'll ask $7,000 for it.

1. Shall we try to get a mortgage on the property? Can you give us the names of any reliable firms, not racketeers, who are placing mortgages at this time?

2. We think a $2,000 down payment would be correct. Possibly that is a higher percentage of the price than is being asked these days, but we figure that a buyer who puts that amount in the property will try to keep up the payments. How about it?

3. What percentage of the balance after the mortgage and down payment have been subtracted from the price should be paid each month? What rate of interest on the unpaid balance?

4. Are there printed contracts on sale, and where? F. E. W.

ANSWER: 1. You can try to get a mortgage, but you'll probably not succeed. The building and loan associations, we understand, are as tight as everybody else.

2. You should get as big a down payment as possible. To ask $2,000 down for a house being bought on contract for $7,000 is very reasonable. One well informed real estate man suggests you ask $3,000. There are people, he said, who would be willing to make a substantial down payment to get a house in these depressed times.

3. Assuming that $2,000 has been asked as down payment and that $5,000 remains to be paid on contract (no mortgage having been obtained) this real estate man thinks 10 per cent a year on the balance (the $5,000) could be paid, or $500 annually, equivalent to $41.67 a month. The rate of interest on unpaid balance varies with the risk. If the transaction carries a great enough risk you might ask 6 per cent. If there is less risk you could ask, say, 5 per cent.

4. Yes, in practically every loop stationery store.

EASTER SEASON GIVING BOOST TO RETAIL TRADE

Car Loadings, Electricity Reports Brighten.

New York, April 2.—(AP)—Business statistics of the past week began impressively to reflect the rebound from the low levels reached coincident to the banking crisis early in March.

While many lines were still under the best levels of February, business has entered April with the approach of Easter and the spring shopping season giving a real boost to wholesale and retail trade, and with statistics for such important barometers as electric power production and freight car loadings showing substantial improvement over the levels of the first half of March.

Rail Traffic Gains.

The railroad traffic report of last week—which covers the movement for the week ending March 25—showed car loadings amounting to 475,850, an increase of 26,138 over the previous week. While the total represented a decrease of 15 per cent below the corresponding week of 1932, it is significant that in the preceding week the reduction from last year stood at 23 per cent.

Miscellaneous freight, considered a measure of goods going into consumers' hands, showed a gain of 12,591 cars during the seven day period.

A like trend was indicated by electric power output. Although such production last week was 6.9 per cent below the corresponding week of 1932, the previous week's figures revealed a drop of 10.6 per cent.

Aid from Beer.

With the emotional froth blown away from congress' 3.2 per cent beer, the business community is making a dispassionate survey of the facts. The F. W. Dodge corporation estimates a $65,000,000 outlay for the next four months to modernize old brewing plants and construct new ones. Many manufacturers have already felt the spur of increased expenditures, notably makers of containers, retail fixtures, and trucks. The railroads naturally expect an improvement in traffic. Printer's Ink estimates that beer advertising will total $13,000,000 for the first year.

Aided by more favorable weather conditions, the curve of retail trade during the last week rose more sharply than usual just before the Easter season. A movement toward the conversion of hoarded or other cash into merchandise also contributed to this development.

LETTERS

March 29, 1933.

Financial Editor: I read with interest your references to the action being taken by various groups to safeguard investors in the future by requiring that all reports be certified to by independent auditors. Also you referred to the fact that a loophole has been left unless the requirement is added that the reports are clear and reveal a true picture.

But I beg to differ with you, for there are a few more loopholes left that must be closed in order to protect all investors 100 per cent. The first loophole is the requirement that the auditors be C. P. A.'s. This is because the man in the street still believes that when a man can place these three letters after his name he is the criterion for the accounting profession, when in reality a good many investments that failed were certified to by C. P. A.'s who knew the investments were bad.

The title of C. P. A. is obtained in the same manner as a M. D. Yet the state will not allow a graduate M. D. to practice unless he has two years of internship and passes the state examination. The accounting student obtains his C. P. A. by passing an examination which is prepared with the odds against you. No other requirements are required before he can sign his name to statements which may place in jeopardy the future of firms and investors, and all this without his ever working on a practical set of books or ever making an actual audit under his own knowledge. The state has required three years of practice with a public accounting firm, but the law has no teeth in it and the enforcement is very lax. Men have and are slipping under the wires who have no business in the accounting profession.

Another loophole is the misfits that are getting work because they are willing to work for a fee that a self-respecting accountant couldn't look in the face. The inevitable result will be a lowered standard for accounting work and making investments riskier than ever. But all this can be stopped by making accountants furnish past references to show that they are sufficiently experienced.

It is my belief that the accounting profession can be placed on the same standard as the medical and legal professions, and when this is done all investments will be 100 per cent. And only publications like yours can tear aside the misconception of accountwork. EDWARD J. ROHTER,

Chicago.

March 29, 1933.

Financial Editor: Permit me to congratulate you upon your article in today's issue of the CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE regarding the ban on policy loans with all insurance companies at the present time.

Bankers, as well as the public in general, seem to be interested in working out the moratorium with banks and bankers, but the moratorium placed on insurance companies regarding loans on their policies, which people entered into with good faith, seems to be dragging along without any interest of the insurance company or the officials handling these affairs.

People who have abundant funds with insurance companies to pay these taxes are powerless to get the insurance company to make good their contract with them.

SOLUTION TO THE MURDERER'S MISTAKE

While the body had a knife wound in the heart, below the heart and in the pit of the stomach, there were only two cuts in the front of the vest. This proved the man had been dressed after being murdered. It later developed that Thorndale had murdered the victim, cut his own clothes and dressed the body in them, hoping that it would be accepted as his corpse, thereby enabling him to collect his own insurance. His mistake was in failing to put the third cut in the front of the vest. SHOW YOU SWEET CAESAR'S WOUNDS!
